RAILROAD CONSOLIDATION.

New York Central Will Acquire Boston and Albany System.

[A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.]

NEW YORK, June 26.—The Times says that the New York Central is about to acquire, under lease, the Boston and Albany Railroad system. Under the terms of the deal, as agreed upon, Boston and Albany shareholders will be guaranteed 8 per cent. dividend for ninety-nine years. Eight per cent. is the dividend they now receive regularly, though earnings running beyond such rate have provided extra cash disbursements more than once.

The Boston and Albany deal is the personal accomplishment of William K. Vanderbilt. It is not unlikely that the absorption of the Boston and Albany will be followed by that of the New York, New Haven and Hartford system, now controlled by J. Pierpont Morgan and the Messrs. Rockefeller.

THIRTY THOUSAND WANTED.

Major-General Thinks That Number Enough.

Feeling in Washington Favors a Greater Increase.

TREASON ENCOURAGES THEM.

Mass of People Terrorized by Insurgent Troops—Welcome the Americans Gladly—Repeated Calls for Latter's Assistance.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, June 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Sun's Washington special says two dispatches relating to the situation in the Philippines were received by the War Department today, and in one of them Gen. Otis reiterated his opinion that 30,000 troops would be sufficient to put down the insurrection. The dispatch containing this statement was not made public.

In the other dispatch, which Adjt.-Gen. Corbin gave to the press, Gen. Otis made a statement which will probably be construed as inconsistent with his estimates of 30,000 men as sufficient for all purposes. In this second communication he said that 12 per cent. of his command was sick; that repeated calls for American troops in islands other than Luzon were being received, and that the troops have worked to the limit of indurance.

Inquiries as to whether these statements were not taken by military authorities to mean that Gen. Otis was hinting that he needed reinforcements resulted in disclosing the fact that the other dispatch, in which he had adhered to his original estimate of 30,000 men, had been received. The message which was made public was sent by Gen. Otis in response to instructions to cable a resumé of the situation.

It cannot be said tonight with any definiteness whether any more troops will be sent to Gen. Otis. There is apparently a difference of opinion among officials as to the advisability of reinforcing the army in the Philippines. It is probable that despite Gen. Otis's assurances, some of the President's advisers will urge that volunteers be enlisted.

There is a growing feeling in military circles that the wisest policy to pursue is to muster in a large force of volunteers, to be held in the United States for transportation to the Philippines, in the event of any emergency requiring more troops there. Taken as a whole, however, the review of the situation submitted by Gen. Otis is encouraging.

The War Department officials say that they consider the most important statement in the dispatch is that relating to the encouragement that the Filipinos have received from the United States. Much indignation is expressed here over the manner in which the anti-expansionists in this country have sought to revive hope among Aguinaldo and his followers, and there is a strong feeling that something should be done by the department to punish men responsible for having produced this condition of affairs.

So marked is this feeling among officials prominent in the administration that it is likely that President McKinley will be urged to take measures to put a stop to this form of treason. The opinion is growing that the government has been too lenient with the anti-expansionists, who have been active in attempting to cause dissension among the troops in the Philippines, and to induce the insurgents to believe that the expansion policy of the administration would be repudiated at the next general elections, and that the independence of the Filipinos would then be recognized.

REPORT VERY SATISFACTORY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, June 26.—Gen. Otis's detailed report of the condition existing in the Philippines is considered very satisfactory at the War Department. It is taken to mean that Gen. Otis will not now prosecute a campaign on account of the rainy season, except where the insurgents make it necessary to defend the territory now in possession of the United States.

That portion of the dispatch telling of the belief among the Filipinos that the present policy of the United States will not be upheld is regarded as of great significance. It is believed that when the Filipinos see there is no hope of their recognition by the United States they will give up the fight. The absence of any suggestions as to more troops being needed is taken to mean that Gen. Otis does not believe they could be used to advantage at present.

GEN. OTIS'S REPORT.

Full and Straightforward Statement of Present Conditions.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, June 26.—Gen. Otis, in a reply to a cable to the War Department asking for information regarding the situation and conditions in the Philippines, today cabled a long reply as follows:

"MANILA, June 26.—Adjutant-General, Washington: Rainy season. Little in land campaigning possible in Luzon. We occupy large portion of Tagalog country, lines stretching from Imus, south, to San Fernando, north, nearly sixty miles, and to eastward into Laguna province. Insurgent armies have suffered great losses and are scattered; only large force held together, about 4000 in Tarlac province and Northern Pampamga. Their scattered forces, in bands of fifty to 500 in other portions of Luzon, in Cavite and Batangas provinces, could assemble possibly 2000, though demoralized from recent defeat.

"Mass of people, terrorized by insurgent soldiers, desire peace and American protection. No longer flee on approach of our troops, unless forced by insurgents, but gladly welcome them. No recent burning of towns. Population within our lines becoming dense, taking up land cultivation extensively; kept out of Manila as much as possible, as city population becoming too great to be cared for. Natives of Southeast Luzon combining to drive out insurgents.

"Only hope of insurgent leaders is United States aid. They proclaim near overthrow of present administration, to be followed by their independence and recognition by the United States. This is the influence which enables them to hold out. Much contention prevails among them, and no civil government remains. Trade with ports not in our possession, former source of insurgent revenue, now interdicted. Not certain of wisdom of this policy, as people in those parts are without supply of food, and merchants suffering losses; meditate restoring trade privileges, although insurgents reap benefits. Courts here in successful operation under direction of able Filipinos. Affairs in other islands comparatively quiet, awaiting results in Luzon. All anxious for trade, and repeated calls for American troops received. Am giving attention to Jolo archipelago and Palawan Islands.

"American troops have worked to limit of endurance. Volunteer organizations have been called in, and replaced by regulars, who now occupy salient positions. Nebraska, Pennsylvania and Utah now taking transports, and Sixth Infantry sent to Negros to relieve California. These troops in good physical condition. Sickness among troops has increased lately, due mostly to arduous service and climatic influence. Nothing alarming. Of the 12 per cent. of the command reported sick, nearly 6 per cent. in general hospital, of whom 3 per cent. have typhoid and 17 malarial fever; 12 per cent. have intestinal trouble; remaining 50 per cent. have various ailments; 14 of which due to wound injuries. Many officers and men who served in Cuba, break under recurrence of Cuban fever, and regular regiments lately received are inadequately officered.

[Signed] "OTIS."

The inadequacy of the number of officers mentioned in last part of the above cablegram has been remedied by the sailing of the transports Zealandia and Sheridan, carrying a number of officers for regiments in the Philippines.

Adjt.-Gen. Corbin says that all officers belonging to regiments in the Philippines who are absent on account of a surgeon's certificate are under orders to join their regiments at once. Forty-four officers have sailed on the recent transports going from Manila.

Secretary Alger said today that no action will be taken for the enlargement of the army or sending troops to reinforce Gen. Otis until the return of President McKinley. He also said that Gen. Wheeler would receive no assignment until that time.

GEN. KING'S OPINION.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

MILWAUKEE, June 26.—Brig.-Gen. Charles King, who returned from the Philippines a short time ago, in a letter to the Milwaukee Journal, published today, states that the capability of the Filipinos for self-government cannot be doubted, and if given a fair start, they could look out for themselves infinitely better than our people imagine.

He says they rank far higher than the Cubans or the uneducated negroes, to whom the United States has given the right of suffrage.

Los Angeles Man Reported as One of the Lucky.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SEATTLE, June 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Charles P. Osborne of San Francisco tells a remarkable story of a trip which he made recently, 400 miles up McMillan River, where, he claims, he struck placer ground which will yield him a fortune. Osborne said:

"There is enough gold at the headwaters of McMillan River to make a small army of determined men rich. It is a terrible country to get into, though, and it took my mate and I nearly two months to arrive at the spot, which we believe is a new Eldorado. Altogether we traveled about four hundred miles and prospected all the way up the river.

"My partner, Smithson of Los Angeles, struck rich ground by chance, and we worked it until our provisions nearly gave out. There was gold everywhere in that vicinity, and we cleaned up nearly $1000 before we were compelled to get out. The diggings are shallow, and it is an easy matter to reach bedrock. The dirt, as a rule, ran about $2 to the pan, and we got a number of nuggets that are worth from $5 to $25. I can't say how wide the pay streak is, as we did not take time to investigate it fully.

"When we returned to Dawson few people would believe that we had struck it rich on McMillan, as so many who prospected that country failed to find anything. The trouble was that they did not go up far enough, on account of the many difficulties encountered. There will undoubtedly be a big rush up there this summer. I expect to see it turn out a second Klondike. After spending a few weeks in San Francisco I will return to McMillan with a party."

EDMONTON SUFFERERS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SEATTLE (Wash.,) June 26.—Charles P. Osborne of San Francisco, who arrived here today from Dawson, claims that while in the McMillan country they met a party of six, who left Edmonton over a year ago and wintered on the Peel River. Their clothes were in rags, and they were almost skeletons. Three of their party had died.

The leader of the party, a man named Jackson, from New Jersey, said they had been held up by Indians and robbed of a good part of their outfits. From that time they lived on dog flesh and a couple of moose they were fortunate enough to shoot.

LONG, HARD TRIP.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

DAWSON CITY, June 8.—[Wired from Seattle, Wash., June 26.] Dr. J. R. Connolly of Chicago, B. Witcher of Brooklyn, N. Y.; David Hopkins, D. M. Dalglish, U. P. Meem of Ottawa, A. McLean, J. Orchid, J. B. Ruff of Chicago and A. E. Harris of Michigan have arrived here after a long and hard trip over the Edmonton route.

They left Edmonton, December 15, 1897. Two of the party, John Beauret and T. G. Orchid, were drowned in Peel River last summer. The party sledded across from Edmonton over the Swan Mountains, a distance of 400 miles, to Peace River, where they floated down to Great Slave Lake, then down the McKenzie to McPherson. Roping their boats up Peel River, a distance of 200 miles, they prospected until December, when they started for a pass in the Rocky Mountains at the headwaters of Stewart River. They were four months going 125 miles.

EIGHT MEN'S CLEAN-UP.

Made a Quarter of a Million in a Year.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—Eight miners have just reached here from Alaska with $250,000 for the year's digging, within twenty miles of Dawson. Their names were W. H. Armstrong, Joseph Aubry, M. W. Walsted, W. A. Crown, C P. Osborne, John Nelson, D. N. Sanderson and T. J. Hauck. Sanderson and Walsted were partners, and cleaned up $35,000 each near French Gulch. Armstrong has a nugget worth $360.

"The country is full of idle men," said Armstrong, "and every steamer brings a lot more to swell the list. There will be a fairly good clean-up this year, around Dawson, but it will belong to ten times as many men as last year's output."

PARTIES AND CUTTERS.

Harriman Leaves for Aleutian Islands—Fairbanks at Sitka.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

FAIRBANKS PARTY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

TACOMA (Wash.,) June 26.—Letters from the Fairbanks party, brought down by the steamer Cottage City, which arrived today, state that the party was at Sitka June 19, and left next day for Skaguay and Dyea. They traveled only by day, and made a careful examination of all channels, tying up at night, Senators Fairbanks and Foster spending most of the time in the charthouse.

A LUCKY BLANK.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

VICTORIA (B. C.,) June 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The steamer Cottage City, arriving this morning, brought a number of men who have made fortunes in the Klondike, but none are luckier than Jim Hall and W. E. McKenney, owners of No. 19, El Dorado, which was supposed to be a blank. They were poor men when this property came into their possession. In this spring's wash alone they have taken out $450,000, and the claim is by no means exhausted.

Italian General Sentenced.

NICE, June 6.—The trial of Gen. Di San Giuseppi, the Italian charged with espionage, who was arrested here June 12, resulted today in a sentence of five years' imprisonment and a fine of £5000.

The Kentucky Convention—Trouble Begins With the Fall of the Gavel—Many Delegates Quit—A Hip-roaring Farce.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, June 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] There is joy and rage in Washington tonight because Gov. Pingree of Michigan has harpooned Secretary Alger in the first round. If the political heavens are not about to fall, Alger must now leave President McKinley's Cabinet, and possibly the Republican party as well.

When Alger went to Detroit and made a compact with Pingree for help in his Senatorial boom, he became so elated over that success that he committed the indiscretion of saying, by way of squaring himself with the President and with the Republican party in general, that "Gov. Pingree is for President McKinley, first, last and all the time." This afternoon there appears in the newspapers an interview with Pingree from Detroit, wherein Pingree virtually repudiates Alger's announcement and rakes the administration over the coals on all important points.

Pingree declares himself at variance with President McKinley on territorial expansion, for instance, yet Pingree, who opposes the President as strongly as does William J. Bryan, is the man with whom Russell A. Alger, Secretary of War in the McKinley Cabinet, has formed a political alliance.

The thing, when revealed to political Washington in its nakedness today, simply astounded the town. Considering Alger's original statement concerning Pingree's attitude toward the President and Pingree's complete repudiation of it, there seemed, tonight, a brilliant opportunity for Alger to do some explaining, but the Secretary of War evidently thought a matter involving his veracity not worth explaining, any way he declined to do so in one instance.

Secretary Alger's associates in the Cabinet are wild over this latest move by him. There are predictions tonight that within a week he will be asked to leave the Cabinet. On all sides it is declared that President McKinley cannot endure his presence longer in Washington. But that's another matter. No man can predict what Alger would do, even if asked for his resignation. He might write it, and he might not.

PINGREE'S PALAVER.

He Discusses "McKinley" and the "Murder" of Filipinos.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

DETROIT (Mich.,) June 26.—Gov. Pingree today made a statement, brought out by a dispatch from Washington quoting Secretary Alger, saying that Gov. Pingree is for President McKinley, "first, last and all the time." Said Gov. Pingree:

"If Gen. Alger said that, it is his opinion from his point of view. The question whether I am for McKinley lies with the President, not with me. If Gen. Alger knows that President McKinley is opposed to territorial expansion and is not an advocate of the murder and the destruction visited upon the innocent Filipinos, he has a right to say that I am for McKinley.

"If Gen. Alger is informed that McKinley is opposed to trusts and legislation which fosters, creates and encourages them and in favor of legislation to restrict and suppress them, then I am closer to the opinions of McKinley than has been generally believed.

"If Gen. Alger is assured that President McKinley is not in touch and sympathy with the disreputable political methods of Mark Hanna and his friends and deprecates such leadership, then I am for McKinley.

"The question of whether I favor McKinley is of no consequence in the Senatorial matter, but I am for McKinley in everything he does which I consider right, and against everything he does which I consider wrong."

DEMONSTRATIVE DEMOCRATS.

Kentucky State Convention Continues Its Uproar All Day.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

LOUISVILLE, June 26.—A continuous performance of farce, lasting eight hours; a vocal entertainment with soloists and a chorus of several hundred voices; declamations and tinhorn tests of lung power, made up the programme of the sixth day's session of the Democratic State Convention, and it narrowly escaped winding up in an exhibition of pugilism and gunfighting.

From 10 o'clock until 6 today, Central Music Hall contained without doubt the most uproarious and disorderly body of men that ever gathered for the transaction of political or other business. Angered by what they considered an arbitrary ruling of the chairman in refusing to allow an appeal from his decision, declaring out of order a motion to remove policemen from the hall, over half the delegates set about with all the energy they could command to prevent such transaction of business until they secured a vote on the appeal.

This plan was successfully carried out until nearly 6 o'clock this evening, when, principally because of utter physical exhaustion, the filibusters allowed themselves to be outwitted, and the vote on nomination for Governor, which the chair had ordered early in the morning and had tried repeatedly to proceed with, was concluded by having the county chairmen, or as many as would, come to the stage and yell their votes at the clerk, who, at a distance of a few inches, was able to catch the figures.

The teeth of the recalcitrants having been pried open, the bitter dose slowly trickled down, and before they fairly realized they were beaten, a second ballot was reached, this time with less tribulation. These ballots, both fruitless, represent the day's work of the convention After they were completed, all were glad enough to adjourn until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Behind this spectacular entertainment, three candidates for Governor worked like beavers. Today it was clearly Goebel against the field, and the Kenton county leader, cold and nerveless as ever, has successfully defied his opponents and beaten them.

They may defeat him yet, but so far they have shown themselves woefully lacking in ability to throw their votes in any one direction or keep it slent when it seemed best to their managers that no vote be cast. Goebel controls the organization of the convention, and through it the State Central Committee, and they probably will attack him here, too, if they can get together. Today's events will tend to bring them closer, but at present the fight is an open and as fierce as it has been at any time.

BITS OF THE FARCE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

LOUISVILLE, June 26.—Trouble began with the fall of the gavel at today's session of the Democratic State Convention, the beginning of the second week of its labors. In respect to uproarious disorder it outdid itself today, though it already had a reasonably good record for lack of accord.

When the session began a demand was made for the removal of the police who had been present since the disturbance caused Friday by outsiders. The chair ruled it out of order and refused to recognize an appeal. For hours the crowd yelled and sang in a very effectual effort to prevent a continuation of the balloting for Governor.

The demonstration on the whole was good-humored, but determined. Only once or twice was ill-humor displayed and one of these occasions was caused by the ejection of a disorderly delegate. It came near resulting seriously.

When the Democratic State Convention was called to order at 10 o'clock this morning, the three-cornered fight for the gubernatorial nomination was apparently no nearer a settlement than on Saturday.

Conferences lasting until long after midnight failed to bring any two of the candidates nearer together, though for a time it looked as though Stone and Hardin might get together, but this is an unlikely combination, for no matter what its result, one of the parties must lose all, as Goebel has the State organization.

Many delegates have gone home. What effect this will have on the main contest is an open question, but it has seriously alarmed many of the candidates for minor offices. John R. Rhea got the floor once and called attention to the presence in the hall of the policemen, the inference being that they were not there simply to keep order. He moved that the chairman order them removed. The chairman recalled the attempt of Friday night, by outsiders, to interfere with the proceedings of the convention, and said the police had been called at his request. He declared the motion out of order. Rhea and other Stone and Hardin leaders appealed from this decision, and demanded a call of the counties. The chair declined to recognize the appeal and ordered the roll call for a ballot for Governor.

Instantly the convention was in a turmoil, equal to any of the exciting incidents of last week. The Stone and Hardin leaders made frantic appeals for justice and fairness. A dozen of them gathered in the space in front of the chairman, and, with the vociferous support of hundreds of delegates, declared the ballot should not proceed until their appeal from the decision of the chair was put to the house. The discontent over what were believed to be arbitrary decisions of the chair, bid fair to put a stop to further business. Here occurred an incident well illustrating the state of feeling. A note was handed to Chairman Redwine, and he sat down to read it. Again the delegates became wildly excited. "What does your boss say?" "Read it out!" they yelled at the top of their voices. The note was handed to the clerk and read. It proved to be a note from the printer in regard to a shortage of tally sheets.

C. J. Bronston, a Hardin manager, got the floor and urged his followers to restrain themselves, asserting that the motion to remove the police was not made with a purpose to interfere with the work of the convention; that he would support the nominee, no matter how he was nominated, but that those in control of the convention should be put on record before the people. Congressman C. K. Wheeler attacked the ruling of the chairman, and quoted from the rules of Speaker Reed, amid loud applause. Judge Tarvin of Covington, a Goebel leader, upheld the chairman and declared that no appeal lies in a matter involving the very existence of the convention. The chairman made another attempt to have the roll called on nomination for Governor, but this soon created such disorder the clerk could not be heard. Then came a deafening chorus of sing-song yells, the chairman beating time with his gavel. After several minutes of this pandemonium, a facetious delegate arose.

"Gentlemen," he said, after struggling some time to make himself heard, "there seems to be a general disposition to sing. Why not let us sing together. Let us sing 'Praise God From whom All Blessings Flow.'"

A wave of laughter swept through the hall, then all caught up the strain, and the hymn was sung, amid surroundings that made it sound weird and uncanny, not indicative of peace and good will. But sacred music never had a less soothing influence. It gave way to the old chorus of disorder, and another attempt to start the roll call was howled down. At this juncture a delegate rushed toward the stage. Immediately in front of the chairman stood a line of blue coats. The excited delegate began to denounce the police, the chairman and things generally.

An officer laid his hands on the disturber's shoulder. The convention arose as one man and a dangerous movement to the front of the house began. Every delegate was on his feet and wildly excited. This gesticulating noisy mass surged forward, pushing back the police and crowding them against the stage. Four of the dissidents, with presence of mind, took possession of the disturber and hustled him out of the way. The police who had been stoically listening to all sorts of denunciation for hours, evidently took the matter seriously. One of them, Capt. Maher, pulled his revolver. His intention probably was to protect Chairman Redwine, who had made his way to the rear of the stage. At any rate the crowd did not catch sight of the weapon or the convention might have developed what has been momentarily feared for nearly a week—a general fight. The cause of the disturbance removed comparative silence, that was not death-like, was restored. One delegate shouted:

"Mr. Chairman, I move the convention adjourn to meet at some future day in Manchester, Ky." An uproar ensued, and when it had spent itself, a Hardin leader in front of the stage asked the chairman if he would call the roll on the appeal.

"No, sir," came the determined answer.

"My Country 'Tis of Thee," began the crowd, and for five minutes the convention took part in an admirable rendition of the national anthem. Patriotic music had even less quieting influence than religious. "My Old Kentucky Home" followed, and the gathering became personal. "Hang Redwine on a Sour Apple Tree" they chanted. Meanwhile the chairman reclined in his easy chair, his elbow on the table with his head resting in his hand, fanning himself complacently.

The dinner hour was long past, the chorus was showing signs of fatigue, and oratory was waning, when a long-headed gentleman of color with a big tray of sandwiches came on the scene. The white men assumed the burden with eagerness. This infused enough life into the assemblage to cause a renewal of the farce. To allow vocal chords to rest, a round of whistling was started, with "A Hot Time" as the theme.

Chairman Redwine here showed the first sign of impatience. Rapping on the table sharply, he said imploringly: "Gentlemen, how long is this thing going to last?"

"Until we get a vote," came the response like a Kansas cyclone, and the crowd struck up "We Won't Go Home 'Till Morning."

CHAIRMAN TOOK CHICKEN.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

LOUISVILLE, June 26.—At 3:45 p.m. a delegate came forward with a proposition to adjourn. John B. Thompson and John S. Rhea, Stone managers, and Williard Mitchell, representing Hardin, had for five hours been standing together on chairs, immediately in front of the chairman, directing the filibustering. They took up the plan with a readiness that was full of meaning, for the strain was telling upon them. Just as an agreement was about reached, Kehoe, a Goebel lieutenant, rushed out, fresh from a conference with his chief.

"We object to an adjournment," said he. "This thing must be fought out here and now."

The filibusters pulled themselves together for a test of endurance, for Chairman Redwine had a big package in front of him, from which he had just drawn a piece of fried chicken, refusing to entertain a motion to "lay it on the table."

The disorder continued without interruption until after 5 o'clock, when the Goebel men hit upon the plan to have the county chairman come to the stage and cast the votes of their delegates. This set their frenzied opponents beside themselves with anger, but the roll call proceeded, the awful din increasing all the while. County chairmen came to the stage, and the clerk had to lean over to very close range to catch a word that was said. The Hardin men and many Stone delegates did not vote.

After half an hour of the hardest kind of work, the ballot was finished and announced as follows: Goebel, 352½; Stone, 261½; Hardin, 67. The chair ordered another ballot, upon which Col. James cried: "All Hardin and Stone men refuse to vote." The Goebelites responded defiantly, and predictions that had been made that the weakness of Hardin and Stone would show itself in the lack of control over their delegates were verified. The last ballot, the thirteenth, resulted: Goebel, 320½; Stone, 275; Hardin, 89. By agreement between the candidates, the convention then adjourned until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

PAYNE'S PROSPECT.

Wisconsin Politician May Succeed Senator Mark Hanna.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHICAGO, June 26.—A special to the Record from Milwaukee, Wis., says that a prominent Republican of that city, who is a close friend of Henry C. Payne, is authority for the statement that the astute politician has been asked to take the chairmanship of the Republican National Committee, succeeding Mark Hanna, also as chairman of the Executive Committee. Senator Hanna is not a member of the national committee, while Payne both represents Wisconsin in that body and is vice-chairman of the Executive Committee. It is further asserted that Mr. Payne is now considering the matter, and that he is strongly tempted to accept the position, particularly since the pressure that is being brought to bear on him comes from the most influential quarters in Washington and elsewhere.

So far has the matter gone, that, if Mr. Payne can secure the consent of his physician to take up the heavy work of the national chairmanship, it is said that he will permit himself to be persuaded and will be installed as Senator Hanna's successor next fall, or when the national committee is called together in December, to prepare for the work of the Presidential campaign of 1900.

BRITISH TROOPS REVIEWED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

LONDON, June 26.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The Queen, the Duke of Cambridge, the Prince of Wales, the Duke of York, Grand Duke Michael of Russia, the Duke of Connaught, Lord Wolsley, commander-in-chief of the army; Col. Samuel Sumner, U.S.A., and many Princes and Princesses, were present on the famous Plains of Aldershot today to witness a review of over eighteen hundred of the best troops in the kingdom.

The first review is interpreted in London tonight as a means of satisfying the Queen that these troops are ready for any emergency they may be called upon to meet. It is known now that the Queen returned from Balmoral mostly for the purpose of attending this review, and in view of the fact that Her Majesty's natural reluctance to attend such functions, the importance of this review is manifest. Not since the Queen's Jubilee has a more magnificent corps been represented.

TINNERS TIED TIGHT.

ALL PLATE MILLS WILL BE CLOSED FRIDAY.

Fifty Thousand Men to Be Made Idle by the Shut-down Which Will Follow a Wage Disagreement.

Amalgamated Association Members Demand an Advance Which is not Acceded to at Chicago.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

PITTSBURGH, June 26.—All the tin-plate works in the country will be closed Friday at midnight, as a result of the failure to settle on a wage scale at the conference in Chicago. Fully 50,000 persons will be made idle by the shut-down.

The conference whcih opened in Chicago Tuesday morning, closed Saturday evening at 6 o'clock without arriving at an agreement. The Workers' Committee, acting under instructions received from the annual convention held in Detroit, made a demand for an advance of 20 per cent. The present wage scale expires June 30, and members of the Amalgamated Association are not permitted to work after that date unless the new scale is signed.

About 25,000 skilled workmen are members of the association, and as many more are dependent upon them and will be idle while the skilled men are unemployed. Nearly 75 per cent. of the tin-plate workers of the country are employed in Western Pennsylvania mills. The scale for the tin-house men or unskilled labor, was arranged several weeks ago, and provides for a big advance to some of the workers and averages nearly 20 per cent. All the tin-plate mills in the country are union mills, with only four exceptions. Some of them may continue in operation, but it is not likely that they will.

Secretary Williams of the Amalgamated Association, stated today that all negotiations are off for the present, and that the matter will have to be referred back to the subordinate lodges. Mr. Williams said that the manufacturers offered them an advance, but not as much as they wanted, and as the committee had no authority to di anything except what the convention decided on in Detroit just a month ago, the conference was brought to an end. It would be impossible, he said, to refer the matter back to the subordinate lodges this week, much less arrange for another conference.

RIOTS AT CLEVELAND.

Non-Union Motorman and Conductor are Stoned—Other Trouble.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CLEVELAND, June 26—Several small riots took place today, due to the presence of non-union crews on Big Consolidated cars. At Harvard and Fremont streets a north-bound car was attacked, while going through a Polish settlement.

The motorman and conducter were struck by stones, and the former, Charles W. Kennedy, drew a revolver, firing over the heads of the crowd, which then gave way in fright. At South Brooklyn there were several hostile demonstrations against non-union crews.

PREJUDICE IS CHARGED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WALLACE (Idaho,) June 26.—The defense today filed an affidavit charging prejudice against the defendants on the part of Acting Sheriff France and four of his deputies, and objecting to the appointment of either as elisor to summon jurors. He also objected to an open venire, claiming that the jury should be called upon from the regular jury panel. The court overruled the objection.

The defense also asked for time to prepare a further affidavit, showing cause why Sheriff Sutherland should not be appointed elisor. Judge Stewart said he thought the defense had made the case, but the attorney argued that they had no suspicion that Sutherland's appointment was contemplated. The Judge further said that charges of perjury must be specific; defendant could allege possession against men as fast as they could be named, "but I understand that the elisor is appointed by the court—not by the defendant."

Finally the matter went over until morning, the defense being allowed to produce affidavits from parties other than defendants. After a long argument, the motion to quash the citation was overruled. The defense then offered a motion to quash the information, which met the same fate. They then filed a demurrer, argument on which occupied nearly the whole afternoon, judgment being reserved until tomorrow. The real contention of the defense was that the action was criminal rather than civil, and that the action was not properly brought, but the court overruled that point.

The prisoners at Wardner today voted on the question of giving bail, deciding by a vote of 371 to 4 not to give bail.

COMBINED AGAINST STRIKERS.

Big Four Coal Companies Decide on a General Policy.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

FORT SCOTT (Kan.,) June 26.—A conference of the attorneys representing the Big Four Coal companies closed at Col. J. H. Richards's office here, of the Missouri Coal and Mining Company, today, and it is understood that the companies have decided upon a combined policy against the strikers. The injunction method was found to be practicable, and the Kansas and Texas Company today followed the example of the Missouri Coal and Mining and the Central Coal and Coke companies, and secured injunctions restraining the miners from interfering in any way with their men or property.

A clash with the Cherokee county authorities over the injunction restraining the importation of negroes there is expected, though the coal companies seem confident of having that injunction finally dissolved. Col. Richards announced that his company was operating its mines with imported miners, and is having no difficulty. He says the strikers are beaten, so far as his company is concerned.

MARTIAL LAW REVOKED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

SPRINGFIELD (Ill.,) June 26.—Gov. Tanner today issued a proclamation revoking the former proclamation declaring martial law at Pana. The Governor declares that order has been fully restored at that place. It is said the negroes are leaving Pana secretly, fearing to work without protection against the strikers.

SMELTER RESUMES WORK.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

PUEBLO (Colo.,) June 26.—The Eilers smelter, one of the trust plants, resumed operations today with about half the regular force. The wages paid are about what the company originally offered, and the men are guaranteed protection if they choose to violate the eight-hour law.

HOG-KILLERS JOIN STRIKE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, June 26.—About three hundred men, engaged in the killing of hogs, joined the ranks of the strikers at the stockyards today, in demanding an increase in wages of 25 cents a day. No trouble is apprehended by the police. The strikers claim more stockyards employés will go out tomorrow.

WANT A SETTLEMENT.

Smelter Men's Union Appeals to Colorado Board of Arbitration.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

DENVER, June 26.—The Executive Committee of the Smeltermen's Union today sent a communication to Secretary W. F. Hynes of the State Board of Arbitration asking that body to use its good offices to effect an adjustment of wages on the eight-hour basis, and offering to furnish all data in its hands for the use of the board. Secretary Hynes immediately issued a call for a meeting of the board tomorrow.

President E. W. Nash of the American Smelting and Refining Company, arrived in the city today, and most of the time since his arrival has been spent in close consultation with the local trust managers. In an interview tonight Nash declared that he came to the city on business connected with the organization of the company, and not to settle the strike.

He said the company made a proposition to the men before the smelters were shut down, and that it had no further offers to make. He denied that a new scale was being prepared, or considered by the company. He said he believed the men were ready to go to work, but no move would be made by either side until the consitutionality of the eight-hour law had been decidde by the Supreme Court.

RACE WAR IMMINENT.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

ST. LOUIS, June 26.—A special to the Post Dispatch from Birmingham, Ala., says that a clash between the Sheriff's posse that is going to arrest John Sheppard, colored, for criminal assault on Mrs. Monroe Jones, wife of a Walker county farmer, and a crowd of fifty armed negroes, is imminent. The situation is very serious.

Ever since Thursday, when the assault occurred, Sheppard has been hotly chased. He was corraled in Blossburg tunnel today by white residents, who sent for the Sheriff. Sheriff O'Brien left the city at noon with a posse to arrest the negro, and prevent a clash between the races, as the colored people were arming to prevent the lynching of Sheppard. Fifty negroes have been reported following the posse, threatening to attack it.

COUNCIL OF WOMEN.

Notable Gathering and Notable Address at London.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

LONDON, June 26.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The International Council of Women opened today. The Countess of Aberdeen, president of the council, in her address, after cordial words of welcome, sketched the duties of the council. She said international arbitration should ever be placed foremost in its programme; advocated the establishment of an international bureau of information regarding all that affects women, and warned women against arrogating to themselves alone the duties of curing all evils, saying: "It may be well to have unions of mothers, but do the fathers count so little in the home that their counsel is not needed? The redemption of the race can only be compassed by men and women joining hands and making common cause in every department of life."

In conclusion the Countess of Aberdeen deprecated the idea usually formed about women's congresses, that they were bent upon devising plans whereby women might be emancipated from home duties, saying: "This congress holds fast to the belief that woman's first mission must be her home."

FOREIGN LANDS REPRESENTED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

LONDON, June 26.—Lady Aberdeen afterward introduced Mrs. May Wright Sewell of the United States, vice-president of the council who was enthusiastically received.

A delegation of Chinese women was next introduced, and afterward Lady Aberdeen presented representatives of twenty-six nations. Among them was Miss Susan B. Anthony, who subsequently attended the debate in the House of Lords on the bill legalizing the election of women as councillors and aldermen.

SOLID-GOLD GIRL.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

DENVER, June 26.—The Colorado Paris Exposition Commission today made a contract with F. D. Higbee, representative of one of the largest statue-casting firms in the country, for a solid gold statue for exhibition at the Paris Exposition.

The design represents an "up-to-date" girl, the figure of life-size being cast in solid gold, 18 karats fine, the cast with its base being 6 ft. 4 in. in height. It is estimated that $1,000,000 worth of gold will be used.

The pedestal is to be of copper and pure silver, standing 5 ft. 8 in. high, 3 ft. square at the top and 6 ft. 4 in. at the base. Upon four panels, in bas relief, it is intended to show representative Colorado scenes, probably pictures of Cripple Creek, Leadville, Pike's Peak and the San Juan country, as well as other historical points, all wrought in pure silver. On the base will also be four panels on which will be representations of the scenic attractions of the four railroads of the State. In some artistic manner it is proposed to show the annual and total output of the precious metals of the statue and the names of the leading mines of the State.

In connection with this feature of the exhibition the commission expects to make a creditable scientific and commercial showing for the State. All of the metals of which the statue and its base are to be constructed will be the production of Colorado mines.

COURAGEOUS CONGRESSMAN.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, June 26.—A special to the Chronicle from Cape May, N. J., says that Congressman Henry C. Loudenslager of New Jersey, chairman of the Pension Committee of the House, and W. H. Kirkpatrick, last evening heroically rescued Prof. Willis L. Moore, the chief of the United States Weather Service, and Philander Johnson of Washington, from drowning.

Near the two men were many bathers, but Johnson and Moore got out beyond their depth and were discovered in a dangerous predicament. Loudenslager is a big athlete, and bravely handled his man. The rescuers were heartily cheered by the crowd which quickly gathered.

POLITICIANS WANT PELF.

Klondike Company Will Start to Alaska from New York.

[A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.]

NEW YORK, June 26.—A new Klondike expedition will start from this city in a special car over the Vanderbilt roads next Thursday. A steamship will be at Seattle ready to start for the American gold fields, which are a thousand miles north of Dawson. The expedition differs from most mining ventures in that its capital stock is all subscribed.

The principal officers are Senator John P. Jones of Nevada, president; James S. Oliver, vice-president; Oliver P. Belmont, secretary and treasurer. There are many stockholders whose names are well known in politics. The party expects to stay sixty days at the mines controlled by the company. A mining expert of international reputation will be taken along as well as a cargo of machinery with which to develop the property, which includes both quartz and placer mines.

The mines were secured a year ago, and have been extensively worked. A camp of considerable proportions, called Belmont, after the secretary and treasurer, has been established. All the insiders are politicians, and they expect to get rich out of their holdings.

[PEACE.]

THE PRESIDENT WANTS AN EXPLANATION FROM RUSSIA.

He Understood the Invitation to The Hague Conference Included the Topic of Protection to Private Property at Sea.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

THE HAGUE, June 26.—[By Atlantic Cable.] Frederick Holls, secretary of the American delegation to the Peace Conference, referring in conversation with a representative of the Associated Press to the proposals of the United States for the protection of private property at sea in time of war, said:

"We have strong ground for making the propositions. The President understood the Russian invitation comprised the question of private property at sea, and has instructed us to raise the question. We will push the matter energetically, insisting that the conference is competent, and that if its competency is doubtful, a liberal interpretation was necessary. We believe that if the proposals are rejected, they will be referred to another conference Anyhow, they will have been most useful, as the attitude of each power fill be defined.

"The State Department has sent us a very strong pamphlet containing resolutions passed by many cities of the United States, which has been handed to each delegate."

WHERE GERMANY STANDS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

THE HAGUE, June 26.—The first committee examined today the Russian resolutions relating to military effectives and budgets. Col. Gross von Schwartshoff of the German delegation declared that Germany could not enter into any engagement not to increase her military effectiveness.

The Drafting Committee on Arbitration adopted the first reading of the proposed code of procedure on arbitration.

THE SFAX COALS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PARIS, June 26.—The French cruiser Sfax, with Capt. Alfred Dreyfus on board, coaled at St. Michaels, Azores Islands, Wednesday last.

VANDERBILT CHAIN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, June 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Times says that influenced by the strength of the Vanderbilt stocks, and by stories of the pending deal for completion of the Vanderbilt transcontinental line, Union Pacific stocks were notably buoyant and active today. Brokers Wormser were the heaviest buyers, and commission houses and interests who were active in Vanderbilts also took heavy blocks of stock. It is evident that buying was based on the expectations of an arrangement between the Northwestern and Union Pacific, which, it is thought, will be the next link to be forged in the Vanderbilt chain.

INDUSTRIAL COMMISSION.

Prof. Durand of California Suggested as a Collator for It.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, June 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Sun's Washington special says that when the Industrial Commission adjourned its meeting last Saturday, it was not to meet again until September.

Several of the sub-committees will pursue special lines of investigation during the summer. The advisability of appointing a specialist to collate information on various industries has been considered, and the name of Prof. E. B. Durand of the University of California has been mentioned in that connection, but some members believe that the work should be done by a member of the commission.

LAYS A CORNER-STONE.

President McKinley Helps Along a New Cotton Mill.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

ADAMS (Mass,) June 26.—President McKinley laid the corner-stone of the new mill of the Berkshire Cotton Company here today. Owing to the indisposition of Mrs. McKinley, the party will start for Washington tonight. Mrs. McKinley has a cold.

The Doctor Got Hurt.

STOCKTON, June 26.—Dr. Taggert, the superintending physician at the County Hospital, was injured in a runaway accident last evening. The doctor was returning to the hospital from this city with two young men. His horse shied and ran away. All three men were thrown out, but Dr. Taggert was the only one injured. He suffered a broken rib and a number of painful bruises.

Woman Kidnaper Sentenced.

NEW YORK, June 26.—Mrs. George T. Barrow, when arraigned before Justice Weiner in the criminal branch of the Supreme Court today, pleaded guilty to the charge of kidnaping baby Marion Clark. She was sentenced to twelve years and ten months in prison.

Yale's Law School Anniversary.

NEW HAVEN (Ct.,) June 26.—The seventy-fifth anniversary of the Yale University Law School was celebrated today. The oration was given by Atty.-Gen. John Griggs, whose theme was "The Advances of Jurisprudence in the Nineteenth Century." Dean Wayland presided, and President Wright announced the prizes.

On Trial as Kidnapers.

CHICAGO, June 26.—John Collins and Mrs. Ann Ingersoll of Painesville, O., were placed on trial before Judge Waterman today, on the charge of having kidnaped Gerald Lapiner. In Illinois the extreme penalty for the crime is life imprisonment.

SPARKS FROM THE WIRES

Night Dispatches Condensed.

A London cablegram says Gen. Lord Kitchener of Khartoum, Governor-General of the Soudan, has received $8200 from the Earl of Minto, Governor-General of Canada, on behalf of the Canadians, for the endowment fund of the Gordon Memorial College at Khartoum.

E. E. McCloud, assistant general passenger agent of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific, was yesterday elected chairman of the Western Passenger Association, to succeed B. D. Caldwell, resigned to become traffic manager of the Delaware and Lackawanna and Western.

REUNION IS ENDED.

ROUGH RIDERS ADJOURN AND ROOSEVELT LEAVES.

Las Vegas is Thanked for Its Entertainment of the Cowboy Cavalry, and Loyalty is Affirmed.

Soldiers and Citizens Indulge in a Patriotic Parade and are Cheered by Thousands of Spectators.

Reception to New York's Governor Given by Mexican People of the Territory—All Have a Good Time.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EAST LAS VEGAS (N. M.,) June 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The programme for the first reunion of the Rough Riders was concluded this evening with a ball at the Las Vegas Hot Springs Hotel. A military and civic parade, in the afternoon was followed by cowboy sports. The report of the Committee on Resolutions was submitted and adopted during the afternoon. It gave thanks to the city for its hospitality, which has certainly been lavish and most kindly extended. Appreciation was shown the government of New Mexico for the declaration of June 24, as a legal holiday within the Territory, and loyalty to the government was affirmed. Concerning the war abroad, the resolution recites:

"That the association extends its heartiest good-will greetings to the soldiers of the nation now fighting the nation's battles in the far Philippines. To them upon their return are due honors equal to any ever bestowed by any people after any triumph at arms. We are proud of their bravery and endurance, and of the patriotic pride that sustains them in a warfare no less arduous than that which was lately waged in Cuba or Porto Rico."

There has been a movement toward a reunion of the regiment in Chicago next October, engineered by a single lieutenant, presumed to be financially benefited by this work. The scheme was considered to smack too strongly of a desire to make of the regiment a menagerie for the entertainment of the gaping crowd, and was therefore buried by a resolution declaring against any assembly of the troopers, save when ordered by the society's officers. The sentiment of Col. Roosevelt and of the Rough Riders is emphatically opposed to spectacular display or a Wild West exhibition.

Mrs. J. Addison Porter was thanked for decorating the graves of the Rough Riders at Arlington, and resolutions were paid to the memory of Lieut. Winchie, deceased.

There has been an effort to formulate a resolution offering to the President the services of the regiment, or possibly a regiment from the Southwestern Territories, that shall be a successor to the name of "Rough Riders." The Governors of New Mexico and Arizona were understood to be favorable to the scheme, but it has been frowned upon. Col. Roosevelt and a majority of his officers believe there can be no second "Rough Riders," and decline to support a movement that might bring forth a body of troops that would do harm to the name. The medal of the association is to be patented. No more than primary members are to be allowed them, and the regimental association is to be made the closest of corporations.

There is only one voice concerning the way in which the regiment has been entertained. "We have had a royal time," said Lieut.-Col. Brodie, "and the place that entertains us next will have a hard job on its hands."

CHEERS FOR ROOSEVELT.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

EAST LAS VEGAS (N. M.,) June 26.—Gov. Roosevelt was given a royal farewell at 1:30 o'clock this morning on his departure for New York. Roosevelt and party were accompanied to their car by prominent citizens of the Southwest, among them being Gov. Otero of New Mexico and Gov. Murphy of Arizona.

The mail train to which the special car was attached, was half an hour late. Roosevelt's appearance on the car platform was the signal for enthusiastic cheering by the large crowd that had assembled. In fact, wherever he appeared during his stay here, the enthusiasm was almost unbounded. When the train finally pulled out of the depot the bands struck up the strains of "A Hot Time," the crowd cheered and Roosevelt bid farewell to those who had delighted to do him honor.

During his stay here Roosevelt refused to talk for publication on matters of the day, such as the application of Gen. Otis for reinforcements in the Philippines, saying: "I refuse absolutely to give a word for an interview to anyone."

After Gov. Roosevelt had departed the enthusiasm of his Rough Riders continued unabated. The Rough Riders' and citizens' parade took place to 1 o'clock, under the command of M. H. Alburger, a band of music heading each of the four divisions. The first division consisted of the Rough Riders, guests of the regiment and the Citizens' Committee, having the reunion arrangements in charge. The Albuquerque band headed this division. The Rough Riders, numbering over one hundred, were commanded by Col. Brodie, and lined up regardless of the various troops to which they belonged. Col. Brodie's staff consisted of Maj. McClintock of Troop B, Lieut. W. E. Dame of Troop F, Quartermaster Coleman, Hospital Steward Charles A. Wilson, Adjt.-Gen. Overmeyer, Lieuts. S. H. Williams and Frank Ream of the Colorado National Guard. The regimental colors that floated on San Juan Hill were carried by David L. Hughes of Tucson, Ariz., a member of Troop B.

The second division consisted of the Otero Guards of Las Vegas, juvenile Rough Riders, Indians, etc., and was accompanied by the Las Vegas Military Band. The third division consisted of the various civic societies, and was accompanied by the cavalry band of Santa Fé. The fourth division, commanded by George Ward, consisted of citizens in vehicles, and was accompanied by the Chihuahua band.

The line of march was nearly three miles long, and was crowded with people for the entire way. The marching Rough Riders were enthusiastically cheered.

One of the most interesting and unique features of the reunion was a reception tendered to Gov. Roosevelt at the Hotel Castanede by the Mexican people of the Territory, just before his departure. The most influential and leading people waited upon the noted New Yorker.

Felix Martinez of this city made the address of welcome, during the course of which he made a rather sensational statement to the effect that he had been informed that the Spanish Minister at the City of Mexico, privately but seriously, objected to the visit of the Chihuahua band to Las Vegas. The objection was based on the assumption that the act of permitting the band to visit this country and assist in celebrating a victory over Spanish arms could not at least be considered a friendly attitude toward the vanquished nation. The Spanish Minister waited upon President Diaz in an informal way and stated his objections.

President Diaz was not of the same opinion, however, and allowed the band to come to Las Vegas. Mr. Martinez, as spokesman on behalf of the native people of New Mexico, expressed his hearty sympathy at the cause of the Rough Riders, and tendered to Gov. Roosevelt his best compliments. Gov. Roosevelt responded in his usual happy vein. A letter from Gen. Hernandez, commander of the Rough Riders of Mexico, was read, expressing his regrets at being unable to be present. Music was rendered by the Chihuahua band.

FIRE AT TOLEDO.

Freight House and Car Blaze Does Great Damage.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

TOLEDO (O.,) June 26.—At 1 o'clock fire broke out in some unexplained manner in the freight house of the Michigan Central Railroad. In a few minutes the whole structure, including the freight offices, was a solid mass of flame.

A strong northwest wind drove the flames across the bayou, and one freight house of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton Railroad caught fire. One hundred freight cars, nearly all loaded, were destroyed. A dredge, a sand-sucker and some minor craft in the bayou were destroyed. The loss is estimated at half a million. The fire was gotten under control at 2:30 o'clock.

SPENT A GOOD FARM DOCTORING.

A. N. Noell of Asherville, Kan., says he spent a good farm doctoring himself for chronic diarrhoea, but got no relief and was afraid that he must die. He chanced to get hold of a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and was much surprised at the relief which it gave him. He continued its use for a short time, and was permanently cured. A great many cases of chronic diarrhoea have been cured by this remedy after all other medicines and treatment had failed.—[Adv.

Gov. Gage Calls Meeting of Regents. Private Wigfall Attempts Murder—King Lunalilo's Body Safe—Valuable Cargo.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SACRAMENTO, June 26.—The following address was issued today by the Fruit-Growers' Association of California:

"To the deciduous-fruit growers of California: We, the board of directors of the Fruit-growers' Association of California, elected at a meeting of the fruit-growers of California held at the city of Sacramento, June 17, 1899, respectfully submit for your consideration the following:

"First—We think it advisable to establish the principal place of business of the association at the city of Sacramento, on account of its central location.

"Second—We recommend local fruit-growers' organiations in each locality where any considerable quantity of fruit is grown and shipped, such local organiations to be auxiliary to and work in harmony with the State organization.

"Third—We believe one of the great sources of evil in this whole fruit-shipping business is the fruit from the different parts of the State coming into competition, and to obviate this difficulty in the future we recommend that all deciduous fruit be distributed by the manager of the State association at Sacramento. Under the present system of telegraph and telephone communication, all shipping points in the State can be in constant communication with Sacramento, and the shipping destinations can be quickly sent to any locality where shipments are made; in this way the glut in the eastern markets can be obviated, because the office in Sacramento will know where every car has gone, and consequently an over-supply will not be sent to any locality.

"We propose to have our own agents in the East to see that the fruit is properly disposed of, and to furnish cars for the transportation of the same, charging for refrigeration service only sufficient to cover the actual cost, which cost we guarantee shall be at least a reduction of from 60 to 70 per cent. of present rates.

"We believe a plan of this kind will solve the fruit problem and permit what profits there may be in fruit-growing to go into the pockets of the growers instead of into those of the commission men.

"Let every fruit-growing locality in the State organize, take stock in the State organization, and, as soon as the total amount of stock so subscribed shall amount to the sum of $300,000, then the board of directors will proceed to incorporate, elect officers, and be ready to transact business, but in no event shall the time for receiving said subscription sum of $300,000 be extended beyond the 10th day of January, 1900."

RUSHING IS CONVICTED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

FRESNO, June 26.—W. E. Rushing, who has been on trial for uttering a forgery, was convicted by a jury this morning in Judge Riseley's court.

Elmer Geddes, who lives in the foothills near Fresno, had an account with the Fresno Loan and Savings Bank. Edwin Geddes, who is no kin to the depositor, learned of this account, and about two months ago drew a check for the amount, signing the name of E. Geddes. This check was given to Rushing, a private detective and collecting agent, who was authorized to realize on it. Rushing sold the check to Nyman Levy, a local merchant, and claims he turned the cash over to Edwin Geddes.

Rushing claimed he did not know Geddes and that he received only a small commission as a fee. Judge Riseley set next Thursday as the day for sentence. The defendant's attorneys will probably move for a new trial on a writ of error.

ASSAILANT IS HUNTED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NEVADA, June 26.—Frank Somers, the young man who shot Christopher Gailbraith from ambush last night, is still at large. A Sheriff's posse is scouring the woods for him.

Gailbraith was fired at twice with a shotgun and once with a rifle. His head and face were filled with fine shot. He will probably recover. Officers say the would-be assassin had been too free about the home of Gailbraith and had been ordered by Gailbraith to keep away from the premises.

SEARCH KEPT UP.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEVADA, June 26.—The officers are still searching for Frank Somers, who tried to assassinate Christopher Gailbraith last evening, but up to a late hour tonight had no clew. He has a rifle and being an experienced mountaineer, familiar with the mountain fastnesses to the east and north of here, can easily evade his pursuers.

PRESIDIO SHOOTING AFFRAY.

[A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—Private Wesley Kirby of Co. H, Twenty-fourth Infantry, was shot through the leg by Private Frank Wigfall of the same company, at their headquarters at the Presidio. The wound is a severe one, and it may be necessary to amputate the leg.

Eye-witnesses state that the shooting was entirely unprovoked.

Kirby was blacking his shoes when Wigfall loaded his rifle and fired. Seeing that the shot had not proved fatal, he was reloading his gun, when it was taken from him by other soldiers, who hustled him to the guardhouse. No cause is assigned for his attempt to commit murder.

WILL OF WICKERSHAM.

Son Cut Off With Five Dollars Will Contest It.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SANTA ROSA, June 26.—The will of the late Isaac G. Wickersham, the Petaluma banker, was filed in the Probate Court today. The estate is valued at over $1,000,000, and is the largest estate ever probated in Sonoma county. The widow of deceased, with Fred A Wickersham and Lizzie Wickersham are named as executors.

The will is in the handwriting of the deceased, and leaves the estate to his widow and children. Small bequests are made to three grand children. To his son Frank of Fresno county the deceased leaves $5, giving as his reason for this small bequest that he had already advanced him over $100,000. The bequest of $500 is made to St. John's Episcopal Church, Petaluma.

WILL CONTEST THE WILL.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

FRESNO, June 26.—Frank P. Wickersham, at one time a prominent politician, who was cut off by his father, the Petaluma millionaire, with a legacy of only $5, stated tonight that he intended to contest the will and expressed confidence in his ability to break it. He declares that his father was under undue influence of his son, Fred A. Wickersham.

FIGHT IN A JAIL.

San Francisco County Bastile Attendants in Fierce Conflict.

[A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—As the result of a hand-to-hand encounter in the office of the branch county jail, No. 2, Louis Kirschbaum, a guard, is lying unconscious at the German Hospital, and Frank McFarland, assistant superintendent of the women's branch, is in the City Prison, awaiting the result of Kirschbaum's injuries, before a charge is placed against him. The injured man is suffering from the effects of a severe blow on the head, which has effected his brain, and may cause his death.

Superintendent Lemcke of the woman's branch jail says that bad blood had existed between the men for some time past. They met in the office, harsh words were passed, and at the end Kirschbaum was bereft of reason. Lemcke is of the opinion that McFarland did not use a club or other instrument with which to overcome his enemy. If Kirschbaum dies, McFarland will be charged with murder.

HAWAIIAN NEWS.

[A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—Hawaiian advices of June 18 state that the crew of the wrecked schooner Mokulele, which was supposed to have been lost in a small skiff, in which it started from Hanalei to Waimea, on the island of Kauai, has arrived safely in Honolulu. The skiff was capsized, and the men of the crew were in the water for three hours before some natives came to their assistance. They were nearly dead when picked up.

The report that the body of King Lunalilo has been stolen from the royal tomb is denied. When the vault was opened recently the remains were undisturbed.

NORTHERN PACIFIC WINS.

[A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.]

TACOMA, June 26.—News received from Idaho is to the effect that the Northern Pacific Railway has beaten the Oregon Railway and Navigation Company in the fight for the control of the Clearwater Valley. The Oregon Railway has withdrawn all its men from Idaho, devoting all its energy at present to its Wallula extension. The Northern Pacific now has 2000 men working in Idaho.

La Camas Prairie, a great wheat-producing section, and the Buffalo Hump mining district, are the objective points of the road.

THE WELBURN CASE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—Closing arguments were commenced today in the District Court in the trial of ex-Collector of Internal Revenue O. M. Welburn, who is charged with forgery and embezzlement. When court convened, Judge de Haven announced that he would not limit the time for the arguments.

Asst. Dist.-Atty. Marshall B. Woodworth reviewed the evidence for the government, and argued that there is not the slightest doubt of Welburn's guilt.

SHIP IS LOST.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—News of the loss of the ship Selkirk in the Philippine Islands was brought from the Orient by the steamer Rio de Janeiro, owned by W. H. Cameron of Nova Scotia. The Selkirk had sailed from Manila May 9 with a $400,000 cargo for Boston. Capt. Crowe was in command.

On the night of May 14 the ship ran on Apo reef at Mandaro, one of the southmost islands of the Philippine group. She became a total wreck, but no lives were lost.

FLOWERS FOR THE DEAD.

Many Testimonials in Loving Memory of Ensign Monaghan.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SPOKANE (Wash.,) June 26.—The body of Ensign John A. Monaghan arrived in the city this morning, and is now lying in state at the City Hall. As soon as the casket was placed on its resting-place it was covered with flowers, which were donated in such quantities as to not only cover the box containing the body, but also almost filled the entire space enclosed by the columns of the catafalque.

The body will lie in state until tomorrow morning, when it will be taken to the Ganzala Church, where the burial services will be held.

MINT CUT IMMINENT.

Assistant Secretary Vanderlip Inspects Departments at 'Frisco.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—Although a reduced schedule of charges at the branch mint in this city went into effect June 1, there is likely to be another cut in the near future.

F. A. Vanderlip, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, inspected the various departments of the mint with Superintendent Lach today, for the purpose of ascertaining the cost of maintenance of each, and with the further object of comparing the expense accounts with those of the other branch mints, so that further reductions in the charges of the local mint may be made if conditions warrant such action.

CRUSHED BY A BOILER.

Two Men Injured in a Shop Accident at Sacramento.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

SACRAMENTO, June 26.—A probably fatal accident occurred today in the railroad shops. John West and Samuel Williams, boilermakers, were engaged in transferring a boiler from one department to another when it slipped from the car upon which it had been placed, and rolled over them.

Williams's skull was crushed, and both his ears were cut off. He also received other severe injuries, and the doctors at the railroad hospital say he will die. West sustained a fracture of the thigh.

LITTLE LIZZIE BUCKS.

She Leaves Home, but Her Mother Calls Her Back.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

STOCKTON, June 26.—Little Lizzie Bucks, an eleven-year-old runaway girl from San Francisco, was taken off the 8:15 o'clock thain last evening by authority of a message received from the girl's mother at No. 847 Hyde street, San Francisco.

Lizzie had two big bundles of clothing with her, and stated that she was going to San José and had taken the wrong train. She stated that her mother drove her away from home. Mrs. Bucks, telephoned for her daughter to be sent back to her, and Lizzie was sent down on the steamer this evening.

VALUABLE CARGO.

The Rio de Janeiro Brings Silk and Opium Galore.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—Entries were made today at the customhouse of the cargo of the steamer Rio de Janiero, which arrived last evening from the Orient.

One shipment of silk was valued at $600,000, while 500 cases of opium were listed on the manifest at $205,000 in value. The silk, being raw material, is allowed to enter free, while upon the opium, used for smoking purposes, the duty amounts to $125,000.

MURDERER MOORE SENTENCED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEVADA, June 26.—In the Superior Court today when E. H. Moore, who was found guilty last week of murder in the first degree, with the penalty fixed at life imprisonment, appeared for sentence, his attorneys appealed for a new trial. In support they filed an affidavit of Robert Gates, principal witness for the prosecution, wherein Gates says that, acting on advice, he intentionally failed to state, while testifying, that he heard Policeman Kilroy say just before the killing, to Moore, who was threatening to have the officer arrested next day for flourishing a pistol, "I will see that you don't live till morning, you damned thief."

Another affidavit was by Robert Hillman, who, during the trial heard two men say in the presence of jurors O'Dell and Davis, that Moore was not crazy, and ought to hang on general principles, as he was a thief. Judge Nilon denied the motion, and in sentencing Moore to Folsom for life, said the evidence would have fully justified haning.

HIS DAILY BREAD.

Ah Charley Looted Houses to Make Sure of It.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

OAKLAND, June 26.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A Chinese cook, known as Ah Charley, is locked up at the County Jail charged with grand larceny. For two months he has systematically robbed Mrs. Jennie Horton, a wealthy resident of Fruitvale. Through a clever piece of detective work by Constable Jack Robinson, the prisoner's room was discovered, and there the detectives found hundreds of dollars' worth of bed and table linen, bric-a-brac and household goods, stolen from various places where Ah Charley had worked. Some of the goods were marked Mills Seminary, and some were from Los Angeles.

One thing taken from Mrs. Horton's place and found in the Chinaman's room was a framed motto, "Give us this day our daily bread." The police think Ah Charley is an ex-convict. He had two ugly iron bars and a big knife concealed about him.

EVENING TELEGRAM'S MANAGER.

W. H. McDonald of Portland, Or., Found Dead Near Oak Point.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PORTLAND (Or.,) June 26.—News was received this evening that W. H. McDonald, manager of the Evening Telegram, was found dead yesterday near Oak Point, seventy-five miles from this city, while on a fishing trip. Death was probably due to hemorrhage of the lungs.

From 1880 to 1887 McDonald was cashier in the office of the St. Paul Globe, and from 1888 to 1892 he occupied a similar position on the Nashville Banner.

McKenzie Must Stand Trial.

SUISUN, June 26.—Ex-Sheriff George S. McKenzie will have to stand trial for alleged complicity of the murder of Alfred Cook of Napa county. Under the common law, McKenzie is an alleged accessory before the fact, but under the laws of the State, the charge against him will be the same as that against the principal, namely, murder in the first degree. His trial has been set for September 26. On motion today, the information against Jesse Walters, who succumbed yesterday to the effects of a surgical operation, was dismissed.

Sacremento County's Taxes.

SACRAMENTO, June 26.—Tax Collector Bugbey settled with the county today. Out of an assessment roll of some $32,000,000, all the taxes were paid except on a few odds and ends, mostly assessed to unknown owners, amounting to less than $250. This is considered a remarkably good showing.

Tulare's Educational Standard.

VISALIA, June 26.—Hereafter the Board of Education of Tulare county will not issue certificates to teachers holding normal-chool diplomas from other States, without examination, unless such diplomas represent a course of instruction identical with that of the California normal schools.

Governor and Regents.

SACRAMENTO, June 26.—Gov. Gage has called a meeting of the regents of the State University in San Francisco for next Saturday at 11 a.m., for the purpose of trying to obtain a revocation of the order charging students a registration fee of $20.

Ex-Chief of Police Dead.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—Theodore G. Cockrill, ex-Chief of Police and at one time a prominent politician and business man of this city, is dead. He will be buried tomorrow at Bloomfield, Sonoma county.

Maj. Anderson a Justice.

SACRAMENTO, June 26.—The Board of Supervisors this afternoon elected Maj. W. A. Anderson to the office of city justice of the peace, vice George G. Davis, deceased.

San Miguel Quaked.

SAN MIGUEL, June 26.—Quite a severe earthquake shock visited portions of this section last evening about 6 o'clock, the vibration being from east to west.

Earthquake at Sea.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—Capt. C. H. McLeod, master of the American bark Rufus E. Wood, reports a violent earthquake shock was experinced at sea April 2. The bark was on the way from Sydney, Australia, to Faluti. The jar was so severe that the captain thought he had struck a reef, and called all hands on deck. The vessel continued to roll and pitch in the calm sea for thirty or forty seconds.

New Railway Incorporated.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—Articles of incorporation of the Bay and Coast Railway Company, organized for the purpose of operating in this and Santa Cruz counties, were filed today. The capital stock of the company is $3,000,000, of which $110,000 has been subscribed. The directors are I. H. Barnard, Thomas J. Sunny, James G. Hughes, H. Lacy and Michael J. Cochran.

Woolmen Consider Display.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—The California Wool Association held a meeting today for the purpose of considering the question of making an exhibit at the National Export Exposition to be held in Philadelphia during the coming fall. After considerable discussion a committee was appointed to consider the matter and report back to the association.

PLAGUE AT HONOLULU.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, June 26.—Surgeon-General Wyman, when shown the dispatch telling of the arrival at Honolulu of a vessel on which the bubonic plague had made its appearance, said the Marine Hospital Bureau had received no information on the subject. This, he thought, was due to the fact that Dr. Carmichael of the Marine Hospital Service, who investigated the case, had gone into quarantine, and was therefore unable to communicate with Washington.

Gen. Wyman was confident that there was no danger of the plague gaining a foothold in the Hawaiian Islands, as the Marine Hospital Service, together with the other health hospitals, would prove a proper precaution to prevent such cases from landing. The plague has never appeared in the islands, and he thought never would. If the Nippon Maru is destined for San Francisco, the health officials will take steps to make it absolutely certain that the disease will not have the opportunity to reach the shore.

'FRISCO NOT FRIGHTENED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—Information of the presence of the bubonic plague on the Nippon Maru, bound for this port, and now in quarantine at Honolulu, has caused no alarm among the quarantine authorities here. There is no expectation that the disease will enter San Francisco.

STRICKEN WITH PARALYSIS.

Sudden Affliction of President Ozmun of the Columbia Bank.

President A. M. Ozmun of the Columbia Savings Bank was stricken with paralysis Sunday evening and lies unconscious at his home, No. 3131 Figueroa street. The entire left side is paralyzed and serious results are anticipated, as Mr. Ozmun is 60 years of age. His previous good health is an element in his favor in his struggle for life.

The stroke came while Mr. Ozmun was sitting in his office at the bank looking over his mail. He had spent Sunday at the Soldiers' Home, in company with Judge Haggard of Colegrove and Buell Lambertson, visiting Gen. LaGrange. On his way home Mr. Ozmun stopped at the bank to get his mail. He spoke to Mr. Lambertson of not feeling quite himself. Suddenly he pitched forward in his chair and fell senseless.

Mr. Lambertson called two passers-by to his aid. The sick man was put into a carriage and taken to his home. He has not yet regained consciousness, nor has there been any decided change in his condition.

Mr. Ozmun has many intersts here and in the East in addition to his presidency of the Columbia Savings Bank. He is a director of the Title Insurance and Trust Company, a stockholder in the Citizens' Bank, largely interested in the Pasadena Gas Company, and interested in many other enterprises. He came to Los Angeles in 1891 from St. Paul, where he was a member of the firm of Farwell, Ozmun, Kirk & Co., big hardware dealers. He was a pioneer resident of St. Paul, having gone there in 1856 from his birthplace, Ithaca, N. Y.

Business College Graduation.

The seventeenth graduation exercises of the Los Angeles Business College were held last evening at Simpson Tabernacle, at which the usual programme was presented. The graduating class consisted of forty-five young people in the commercial department, thirty-two in the shorthand department and three in the telegraphy department. Invocation was by Rev. Hugh K. Walker. The addresses of the evening were made by Hon. Frank F. Davis, Mrs. Lou V. Chapin and President E. R. Shrader. There were several selections of vocal and instrumental music.

Fugitive is Found.

BIRMINGHAM (Ala.,) June 26.—John Sheppard, who criminally assaulted Mrs. Jones, has just been located near Cardiff. The sheriffs of Jefferson and Walker counties have posses there. Two hundred armed negroes are protecting the rapist. Posses have divided, and are advancing on the settlement. A mob from Cordova threatens to lynch the negro if he is captured. Trouble is imminent.

Reservoir-site Selections.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—The Secretary of the Interior today promulgated rules in relation to the selection of reservoir sites by cattle-grazers in the Western States and they will go into immediate effect. All applications for such rights now on file will, according to the ruling, have to be withdrawn and made to conform to the requirements of the new regulations.

AIDED BY MRS. PINKHAM.

Mrs. W. E. Paxton, Youngtown, North Dakota, writes about her struggle to regain health after the birth of her little girl:

"Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—It is with pleasure that I add my testimony to your list, hoping that it may induce others to avail themselves of your valuable medicine.

"After the birth of my little girl, three years ago, my health was very poor. I had leucorrhœa badly, and a terrible bearing-down pain which gradually grew worse, until I could do no work. Also had headache nearly all the time, and dizzy feelings. Menstruations were very profuse, appearing every two weeks.

"I took medicine from a good doctor, but it seemed to do no good. I was becoming alarmed over my condition, when I read your advertisement in a paper. I sent at once for a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and after taking two-thirds of the bottle I felt so much better that I send for two more. After using three bottles I felt as strong and well as any one.

"I think it is the best medicine for female weakness ever advertised, and recommend it to every lady I meet suffering from this trouble."

Maternity is a wonderful experience and many women approach it wholly unprepared. Childbirth under right conditions need not terrify women.

The advice of Mrs. Pinkham is freely offered to all expectant mothers, and her advice is beyond question the most valuable to be obtained. If Mrs. Paxton had written to Mrs. Pinkham before confinement she would have been saved much suffering. Mrs. Pinkham's address is Lynn, Mass.

WASHINGTON'S WEDDING.

It Was Attended With Much Pomp and Splendor.

The Punch Dinners.

[Pall Mall Magazine.] For the last twenty-five or thirty years no "outsider" has ever been admitted to the Punch dinner; that is, I mean, to the Punch table on a Wednesday night when editor and contributors meet in cabinet council. In earlier days, within my recollection, there were some exceptions to the rule. Sir Joseph Paxton, of Crystal Palace fame and horticultural renown, occasionally dined there, as did also Sam Lucas and Edward Walford (I think it was "Edward," though I am not quite certain,) both connected with Once a Week, which, admirably illustrated, had been brought out by Messrs. Bradbury & Evans, as a rival to Dickens's unillustrated Household Words. Then there was a tall, handsome man, Mr. Noakes, or Nakes, a friend of the proprietors, who lived somewhere near Bushey; but what particular business gave him the entrée there I cannot remember. No "outsider," except these, has ever, in my time at least, dined at the Punch table. Before my time the above list had been increased by the addition of "Peter Wrackham," whose name I have often heard quoted by the oldest stagers without any explanation ever having been vouchsafed me as to who he was, what he was, or by what right, accident or favor, this particular Peter had been honored above all other Peters and admitted to the Punch symposium. Peter Wrackham is, as far as I am concerned, prehistoric. He is only a name; a name mentioned always affectionately; yet not one single anecdote about him, not one witticism said by him, have I ever heard from any one. Evidently, a blameless man, with no enemies. When One a Week came to an end so did the angelic visits of Lucas and Wolford. Noakes was the last to disappear, but he used to turn up at any extra festivities given by the Punch proprietors. He also was a "blameless one." I fancy that Mr. Punch's "outsiders" left early (as they would have been in those days in plenty of time to go to a theater;) that is, as soon as the staff had "gone into committee" for the consideration of the "big cut;" i. e., cartoon for the week.

MAINTAIN MINISTRY.

DECLARATIONS APPROVED BY SENATE AND CHAMBER.

War Secretary General Marquis de Galifet is Violently Attacked by Socialist Ernest Roche and Others.

Second Dreyfus Trial Will Take Place at Rennes—Cruiser Tage Returns to Brest Without the Prisoner.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

PARIS, June 26.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The Cabinet ministry members presented themselves to the chamber this afternoon. The Chamber of Deputies was thronged, and there was great animation at the opening of the session, when it became known that two hostile groups, the Socialist-Radicals, and the Democratic left, had decided to vote in favor of the government, and that M. Paul de Cassagnac had withdrawn his interpellation.

Identical statements were read in the Chamber of Deputies by the Premier, M. Waldeck-Rousseau and in the Senate by the Minister of Justice, M. Monis. They were as follows:

"The Chamber of Deputies, in expressing itself, resolved not to support any government but one determined to defend energetically republican institutions and assure public order, has clearly defined the task imposed upon the new Cabinet. The ministry has no other ambition than to accomplish it. In order to bring about the pacification of the country, and to maintain intact our common inheritance, it seemed to us that existing delusions should be effaced and that the work we are about to undertake required the coöperation of all Republicans. When the aim is definite, though varying according to the methods of different schools, accord becomes easier and controversies are lost in the presence of one duty to perform. To end the agitations, pursued under disguises easy to penetrate, against the régime which has been sanctioned and will be upheld by the universal suffrage, and to require from all the services, loyal assistance and courageous assumption of responsibility, is necessarily the duty of the government. It is resolved to have all judicial dissentions respected and if the first wish of the country is to listen to the voice of justice, it will maintain silence and respect while its decisions are prepared.

"In the first rank of discussions we place the army, which is the pride of France. We intend to defend it with the same energy against the attacks and solicitations which constitute the most undeserved of insults. We desire, above all, that appeasement may be accomplished and it will come quickly if every one will give up being a law unto himself, and bow to the laws of the land. To accomplish the work which has devolved upon us, we have need of the coöperation of Parliament and its whole confidence. We ask the widest mandate. We take the fullest responsibility. We ask for a truce of the irritating discussions hurtful to the interests of the country, and that you will, without delay vote a law necessary to the good working of the public services. If our efforts are not sterile, disunion among Republicans will vanish and the republic will soon resume the path of economic and social progress."

The Senate, by a vote of 187 to 25, approved the declaration of the government.

M. Waldeck-Rousseau accepted an Order of the Day, moved by M. Jules Perillier, Radical Socialist, reading as follows:

"The chamber approving the declaration and acts of the government passes to the order of the day."

The chamber adopted M. Perillier's motion by a vote of 263 to 237. An indescribable scene of excitement was occasioned in the lobbies.

SOCIALIST ATTACK.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PARIS, June 26.—[By Atlantic Cable.] Ernest Roche, Socialist, interpellated the government regarding the policy and composition of the ministry. He declared that it was a government of war and violently attacked the Minister of War, Gen. Marquis de Galifet. Other speakers followed in a similar vein, and the orders of the day were moved, only two of them approving the ministerial statement.

M. Waldeck-Rousseau replied to the various interpellations, explaining the motives animating the formation of a Cabinet of somewhat divergent views, one of the main objects being to reunite all Republicans. He added that the ministers had already assumed some responsibility, but he thought the backing of the chamber was necessary for further steps, and asked what ministry could for a moment tolerate acts seeming to create the belief that the army desired to constitute itself the judge of its policy. He further expressed the hope that it would not be necessary to take more severe measures, and said he thought it easy to demonstrate whence came the attacks upon the courts. In conclusion, the Premier said: "Our task is heavy. Whatever course the chamber may pursue, I have done all my duty."

FATE OF THE CABINET.

Sentiment of Surprise Generally Exceeds That of Anger.

[A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.]

NEW YORK, June 26.—A dispatch from Paris to the Herald says that it is like building out of the quicksands to prognosticate the fate of the Cabinet tomorrow. As a matter of fact, surprise at the rather heterogeneous composition of the Cabinet is a much more pronounced sentiment than hostility toward it, with the exception of the virulent anti-Dreyfus section of the press; that is to say, the papers that are pledged up to the neck to keep Dreyfus guilty. Even the opposition press has regarded the military more in sorrow than in anger.

De Gallifet's letter to the chiefs of the army has made a notable impression. As Le Siecle says, he has laid down the law in very clear terms. He shoulders responsibility for the chiefs, but reminds them that they are personally responsible to him, and he is not the man to let them forget it.

This, says the same paper, brings to memory an anecdote of the general, who complained after a review that he had noticed a little straggler in the second company of the First Battalion of the Twentieth Regiment. The general of that division rebuked the officer in command, who reprimanded the captain, who thundered at the lieutenant, who raised the sergeant, who cursed the corporal, who fell bodily upon the private.

In other words, if any officer feels inclined to reply to a journalist, through the medium of an order, on the day to reassembled troops with a brass band lined up for the ceremony, he may be sure that punishment will be set rolling down the line by Gen. de Galliet, until it lands plump upon the offender's head. Officers who have sinned in this respect have already had an illustration of this, as they have been transferred to other posts in the provinces, as a warning.

"DREYFUS AT RENNES.

Brother of the Famous Prisoner Reaches the Trial City.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

RENNES (France,) June 26.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The second trial of Capt. Dreyfus, by court-martial, on the charge of committing documents connected with the national defense to the agents of a foreign power, will take place in the army service building here.

M. Mathieu Dreyfus, brother of the famous prisoner, has arrived here.

DREYFUS NOT AT BREST.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

BREST (France,) June 26.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The French cruiser Tage, which put to sea Sunday evening, the belief being that she was going to meet the Sfax, having Capt. Alfred Dreyfus on board, returned at 7 o'clock this evening. Some sailors of the Tage, who landed later, said she had not met the Sfax.

Another Dreyfus meeting, organized by Socialists, was announced for this evening in the Salle du Treillis here. The police took stringent precautions to prevent trouble, and, though there was some excitement on the streets, nothing serious occurred.

A BRAVE WOMAN.

Mrs. Col. Stotsenberg's Experiences at the Front.

[San Francisco Chronicle:] Mrs. Mary Stotsenberg, the widow of Col. James Miller Stotsenberg, who fell while leading a charge upon the rebels in the Philippines, has reached her home in New Albany, Ind. Mrs. Stotsenberg, army born and bred, proved by her recent experiences in the Philippines the sort of mettle a soldier's wife is made of. A few days ago she talked, though somewhat reluctantly, of the life she led in the eastern tropics while the colonel was making history for his country, inspired and cheered by the presence of a faithful wife.

"We women of the army have a military training just as severe as our husbands and brothers and fathers. We love the sound of the reveille, and answer the call of the bugle with just as patriotic a heartbeat as our dear ones who face the bullets.

"So when the time came to execute the orders for Manila, I was ready to start with the colonel; not as an army officer's wife, for that is contrary to regulations, but as an army nurse. Nurses are welcomed there, for few of our women can brave the heat. And they are needed, too. It is well for the mothers and wives and sweethearts of those brave boys that they are far removed from the battlefield.

"I was born at an army post, and to me the soldier's life holds nothing of fear, but all of glory, yet with all my life's training, and powder and shot environment, I shall never forget the thrill that encompassed me on the day of the colonel's first charge upon the Filipinos. Every day I drove out to the camp in a calache or wagonette. My understanding with the colonel was that in case of danger I was to seek refuge in the house of an Englishman, half-way between Manila and the American lines. Over this house the British flag floated, and the rebels respected it.

"On February 4 our lines and the enemy's were very close together. An hour before I arrived at the camp that day, Col. Stotsenberg, by the commanding general's orders, had sent word to the rebels to retreat several hundred yards. The Filipinos accordingly retired. Later in the day the colonel left to visit the outposts. I was chatting with a group of officers in his tent when suddenly we heard a shot from the direction of the front of the American lines. In an instant we were on our feet. The sound went through me as if the shot itself had pierced me.

"Another and another followed. We rushed from the tent. I was quivering, but not with fear. It was the most exciting moment of my life. Volley after volley followed, until the air was white with smoke, and the noise of our own cannon mingled with the scream of the enemy's shells as they broke in our midst. I understood then how war makes heroes of men. I felt first just such a glorious thrill as moves the dying drummer to a last effort to cheer his comrades on, or lifts the wounded, bleeding arm of the color-bearer until the flag rises again to call back the handful of retreating men.

"It was war—real, actual war—with the thundering of guns, the moans of the wounded, the cheers of the living, and the colonel—my colonel—in the thickest of it all. I was only a woman and the senior officer's wife. So they took me to the back of the colonel's tent, where a ditch had been dug, and prevailed upon me to lie there till the worst of it was over. Mauser bullets flew over me thick and fast, often ripping up the earth at the sides of the ditch. Then on foot, in the company of a surgeon, I made my way out of the battlefield, crouching close to the ground to avoid the Mauser bullets, which seemed to be coming from every direction. I would never have left the spot had I not given the colonel my promise that I would do so. When we reached the house of the Englishman he had fled in terror, hauling down the flag before he went. We were therefore compelled to make Manila on foot, and were footsore and weary when at last we reached there."

Praise for Los Angeles.

[A. M. Doty in Visalia Delta:] I visited Los Angeles last week, and I want to tell you that some of these days there is going to be a mighty city on the Pacific Coast, and that city will be Greater Los Angeles. Having outlived and outgrown the baneful effects of the boom of the '80's, Los Angeles now has a substantial growth. Los Angeles is prospering because it is in the midst of a wondrous region, whose resources no man yet has fathomed. Los Angeles is prospering because it is peopled with progressive citizens, who hearts and souls and purses are devoted to the city's welfare. Los Angeles is flourishing because it has one of the greatest newspapers in America. I refer to The Los Angeles Times. The Times has done more to make Los Angeles what it is today than has been accomplished by any other half-hundred agencies. Some people believe that towns and cities make newspapers, but I want to tell you it is the newspapers that make the towns and cities. Los Angeles is a fin de seicle Garden of Eden. I have always been a champion of Los Angeles. I love her trees, her glens, her parks, her streets, her dells. But don't you know, when I was down there last week, somehow the trees seemed greener, the lawns more virescent, the parks more beautiful, the streets more crowded than ever before! It is a wonderful city. Already the time has come when we can say to the tourist: "If you have not seen Los Angeles, you have not seen California."

Workmen

you have seen hundreds of your companions waste away in mill and foundry with a persistent cough. You have seen hundreds of them die with that terrible disease, Consumption. You have seen wives left penniless, and children thrown upon the mercies of the cold world, because the father coughed his life away. The air you breathe every day is full of sharp, metallic dust, which is inhaled into the lungs and irritates their delicate lining. In the case of glass blowers, the fierce heat of the molten glass forces its way up the tube into the lungs where it gradually breaks down their delicate structure, making every cold a danger to life. You can't afford to quit working and are daily exposed to this fatal dust and intense heat. What you and your friends need is Acker's English Remedy. This will make your throat and lungs strong again. It will heal the irritation, brace up your strength, and you need never lose a day's work. I have noticed that in some mills there are no cases of Consumption. The reason is that Acker's English Remedy is used by the men working there.

MORE MEN FOR MANILA.

REINFORCEMENTS NEEDED IN THE PHILIPPINES.

Strength Developed by the Insurgents Proves the Advisability of Increasing the Command of Maj.-Gen. Otis—Miles not Anxious to Go to the Archipelago.

[A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.]

NEW YORK, June 26.—A special to the Herald from Wishington says that Maj.-Gen. Miles is a strenuous advocate of the dispatch offering reinforcements to Otis in the Philippines. He declined to discuss the military situation in the Philippines, other than to say that it was serious. Nor would he give the number of troops he thought would be needed to conquer the Filipinos.

Gen. Miles, as far back as April, recommended that the ten volunteer regiments, which the President is authorized to raise under the army reorganization law, be organized and sent to Manila. At that time officers at army headquarters believed this force would be sufficient to crush the rebellion. In view of the strength developed by the insurgents, they are not now so sanguine that ten regiments are enough. There will be 15,700 men in the ten regiments, the adisability of raising which the department is now considering, but well-informed officers say the force of 50,000 men, which Gen. Otis will have when the reinforcements are placed at his disposal, will not be sufficient. Besides the island of Luzon, there are many other islands in the archipelago in which the government will have to restore peace and order, and in the more important ones there are organized bodies prepared to resist occupation by American troops.

Gen. Miller, who recently arrived from the Philippines, where he governed Iloilo, has been living at Washington since his return. Gen. Miller's views as to the number of men required for the subjugation of the islands is very different from that of Gen. Otis. He believes 65,000 men at least are required; 30,000 for the control of Luzon, and the remainder for the restoration of peace and order in the other islands. Gen. Miller's view voincides with Gen. Lawton's and that of other officers subordinate to Gen. Otis. In fact, in other than administration circles there is a disposition to believe Gen. Otis's estimate of the number of men required, was made when he knew of the desire of the President not to raise volunteers if possible to avoid it.

There is no truth in the story that Gen. Miles has applied to be sent to Manila. Gen. Miles would not wish to take any action to displace Gen. Otis, when that officer is doing all he can to quell the rebellion with the limited means at his command. Notwithstanding the report to the contrary, the President is satisfied with Gen. Otis's course, and has no intention of recalling him. It is equally untrue, it is asserted by Acting Secretary Meiklejohn, that Gen. Otis has cabled that he will be compelled to retreat unless promptly reinforced.

SENATOR TURNS FORGER.

Startling Story of a South Dakota Anti-Expansion Plot.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHICAGO, June 26.—A special to the Times-Herald from Sioux Falls, S. D., says that Alf Burkholder, a newspaper man, has created a sensation in political and army circles in South Dakota by charging that a United States Senator forged a letter in support of the Senator's hostility to expansion and to the war politicians. The letter purported to have been written by an officer of the First Regiment, South Dakota Volunteers, whose name was withheld through fear that the writer would be court-martialed.

The letter reflected on practically every feature of the conduct of the war in the Philippines; hinted at an investigation and dreadful exposures; declared that sick volunteers were compelled to leave the hospitals and take their places on the firing line, and, in fact, described the conditions in the American ranks as being little better than in the convict camps of Siberia.

The point in the letter which, according to Burkholder, led to its being exposed as spurious, was the fact that it was dated at Manila, April 9, and described the fighting and capture of Calumpit on April 26, more than two weeks after the letter purported to have been written. A defense was made in behalf of the Senator that the letter should have been dated May 9 instead of April 9.

It was further stated that the letter was received with other Manila letters last Tuesday, but here, according to Burkholder, the Senator falls down. For the letter appeared in the issue of a paper here last Tuesday morning, some hours before the arrival of the mail train bringing the regular Manila mail.

WOUNDED KANSANS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

KANSAS CITY, June 26.—A special cablegram to the Star from Manila, via Hongkong, June 25, says that Capt. Clark, Capt. Watson, Lieut. Ball and 200 sick and wounded from the Twentieth Kansas Regiment, have been sent home. Only 450 men are still doing duty. These are on the firing line. The other members of the regiment are relieved from duty on account of sickness.

The Kansas regiment's normal strength is about 1200 men, with 200 sick on the way home, and 450 on the firing line, 550 are left among those "unfit for duty."

MASSING AT 'FRISCO.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—Troop F, Sixth Cavalry, Capt. E. F. Wilcox, has arrived at the Presidio from Fort Leavenworth, Kan. The command will later proceed to Sequoia Park.

Cos. B and F, Twenty-first Infantry, have also reached the Presidio. The remaining companies of the Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth Infantry are on their way to San Francisco. These two regiments, with the remaining troops of the Fourth Cavalry, will soon sail for Manila.

[MANILA MISCELLANY.]

MIXED SUPREME COURT.

SITS DAILY THOUGH THREE JUSTICES ARE ABSENT.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

MANILA, June 26, 7:30 p.m.—[By Manila Cable.] Señor Luis Marinas, the first Spanish Consul-General at the Philippine Islands, has arrived here from Singapore on board the Isle Luzon. Great interest is taken in the result of the first step, which is now being taken here, in the direction of self-government. The Supreme Court is sitting daily, and the American and Filipino judges are holding consultations through an interpreter. A unanimous vote is required for a decision. Maj.-Gen. Otis has persuaded Maj. Young of the Utah Battery to remain on the court for a time after the battery departs.

Three native justices are absent. Ambrosio Rianzares, justice of the criminal branch of the court, happened to be at Tarlac, then the seat of the insurgent government, when the appointments were announced, and he was arrested and sentenced to banishment for life. His present whereabouts are not known. Pedro Lorento, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, is in Cebu, where he has great influence, working to popularize American rule, with good results.

The native judges will now begin to hold criminal courts, having jurisdiction over all offenses except those committed by soldiers or against military authority. The United States transport Sherman has sailed for the Island of Negros with the Sixth Infantry, which relieves the California regiment. Delegations from the Spanish organizations on tugs met the steamer and welcomed the Consul.

The Bantayan correspondent of the Noticiero writes that the gunboat Albany appeared off Bantayan June 8, and her commander told the authorities of the town that unless they declared allegiance to the United States and raised the American flag after fifteen days he would bombard the town. The Albany then sailed, after announcing that she would return. The town, when the dispatch was forwarded, was panic-stricken, and it was thought the authorities would probably comply with the demand of the commander of the gunboat.

CABLESHIP HOOKER.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, June 26.—The cableship Hooker has arrived at Manila loaded with cable and telegraph supplies for the Signal Corps. Chief Signal Officer Greeley has been notified that in all probability the Eighteenth Company of the Signal Corps will return from Manila on the return of the Zealandia. This probably will be about July 20.

BARKER COMING HOME.

Captain Sailed from Manila Last Friday—Eberle also Coming.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, June 26.—A cablegram received at the Navy Department from Admiral Watson contained the information that Capt. A. S. Barker, who was in command of the fleet at Manila between the time of the departure of Admiral Dewey and the arrival of Admiral Watson, had left for home.

The message stated that he sailed Friday on the regular mail steamer. Lieut. Eberle also sailed for home at the same time.

FLOODED WITH DISINFECTANTS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SANTIAGO DE CUBA, June 26.—Two new cases of yellow fever and four deaths from the disease were officially reported today, making a total of thirty-five cases and eleven deaths. The army surgeons now think they have the fever under control. The sanitary department is working day and night, and the city has literally been flooded with disinfectants. The entire garrison in camp is under rigorous quarantine.

PORTO RICANS ENLISTED.

[A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.]

NEW YORK, June 26.—A special to the Herald from Washington says that Secretary Alger has been advised by Brig.-Gen. Davis, commanding the Department of Porto Rico, that 500 native Porto Ricans have been enlisted into the battalion, authorized by the War Department. One hundred more men will be secured.

FOURS AT THE OARS.

PENNSYLVANIA DEFEATS THE CORNELL CREW.

The Quakers Stick Their Nose in Front and are Never Headed. Ferryboat Nearly Causes a Collision.

Spendthrift Stakes at Sheepshead. Boy Cricketer's Remarkable Innings—Eastern Races—Shamrock Launched.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

POUGHKEEPSIE (N. Y.,) June 26.—The four-oared race over the two-mile counrsetoday was won by Pennsylvania, time 11 min. 12 sec. Cornell was second, time 11 min. 13 3-5 sec.

The freshmen eight-oared race over the two-mile course was won by Cornell, time 9 min. 55 sec. Columbia was second, one and a quarter legnths behind Cornell, and Pennsylvania was third.

At the crack of the pistol, the two four-oared crews from Cornell and Pennsylvania took the water together, but the Pennsylvania's stroke started at at 36, while Cornell was only 34.

The Pennsylvania stroke, while not as Pretty as Cornell's had much more "go" in it, and before the boats had gone one length the Quakers had showed their boat's nose ahead of the Ithicans' boat. The enthusiastic rooters predicted that the Cornelians would let out their stroke, but were mistaken. Twice the Cornelians tried to reduce the lead, but each time the Quakers responded, and maintained the lead of ten lengths which they had.

It was here that a collision seemed almost imminent. Both crews had steered rather badly at the start, angling in toward the shore, but had straightened out at the first quarter and gave promise of running a very straight course. Just as they got under the shadow of the great bridge and when Pennsylvania had succeeded in obtaining a lead of almost a length ,the ferryboat crossed the river, causing a heavy swell. The boat turned toward the swell, thus escaping the Cornell boat. Quick as a flash, Pennsylvania straightened out again, and when they cleared it was seen that Pennsylvania had a lead over Cornell of fully a length and a quarter, there being clear water between the boats.

From this point of the battle to the finish, there was little material change, unless it may have been at hte mile-and-three-quarters mark, where Cornell hit the stroke up to 34, and started to close the gap. But the Quakers, who had been rowing from one and a half to two strokes a pinute faster than the Ithacans all through the race, seeing that Cornell was spurting, whipped their stroke up to 36, and crossed the line a winner by one length and a half in 11 min 8¾ sec., according to the watches of several experts upon the press car. Mr. Fortmeyer, the official time keeper, on the referee's boat, made it 11 min 9 sec., but the official time, as given out by the college times, was 11 min. 12 sec. Cornell finished according to some figures in 11 min. 14 3-5 sec.

The freshmen's race, which was started very promptly after the four-oared finish, was one of the closest and most exciting races seen on the river in years ,the Columbia crew giving the Cornell crew a sharp and pretty fight for first place, making phenominal time, considering the slowness of their stroke.

At the sound of the pistol the crews got away in a bunch, but at the setting-down of the stroke to the crew's usual style it was seen that Cornell had poked the pointed nose of her shell a few feet ahead of the line. For the first half mile the struggle was so exciting that the spectators arose on the press car and in the obesrvation train and cheered for each crew. Cornell was rowing a long, sweeping stroke of 34, while Pennsylvania was rowing at the rate of 35. Columbia was rowing a phenominally long stroke, 32, the wonder of all the experts on the train, for the boat went along almost as fast as the Cornell boat.

Close together the three boats hung, but there was something about the way the Cornell boat seemed to glide over the water that made Columbia and Pennsylvania hearts down. As the crews reached the mile mark, with the Cornell boat about a half length out from the bunch, Columbia seemed to gain, and there were shouts of approval as the nose of the boat crept up. But the old Cornell form was there. Never did the stroke go above the 34 mark, and the speed came from increased power in the stroke. Columbia was steady in its stroke, also, only hitting it up to 35, but the boat began to lose after the mile was passed, and soon Cornell had a lead of a clear length.

Pennsylvania was, in the mean time, steering erratically at the mile mark, going out of the course badly. In this way she lost speed, and, although the crew pulled a stout stroke and did it cleanly, they dropped behind badly, the nose of their boat, as they came under the bridge, being just even with the stern of the Columbia boat. The race, after the mile-and-a-half point was passed, was between Columbia and Cornell, with some chance for Columbia if they worked hard.

Just after passing the point, the Pennsylvania boat seemed to lose power and dropped rapidly astern, as teh Columbia stroke hit up to 34, in an endeavor to close up the gap between Cornell's boat.

Columbia went away from the Pennsylvania, although the latter was rowing a stroke of 36 to the former's 34. Amid the tooting of whistles and the cheers of the Cornell contingent, the boats crossed the finish line, Cornell leading with a length and a quarter to space, and Pennsylvania following Columbia three boat lengths behind. The time of Cornell was 9m. 55s., not as good as that made by Yale in 1897 of 9m. 19s. on the same course.

THE SHAMROCK LAUNCHED,

And She Meets With a Mishap the First Thing.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

LONDON, June 26.—[By Atlantic Cable.] Sir Thomas Lipton's cup-challenger Shamrock was launched this afternoon at Millwall.

As the Shamrock reached midstream from the slips a barge collided with her, striking the yacht above the water line and making a big dent in her bow. The full extent of damage done had not been ascertained as this dispatch was sent.

The occasion was observed as a general holiday. On a little spot among the forests of masts, hailing from every quarter of the globe, a large tent, gaily decorated with flags, was erected opposite the yacht, which stood on the slips, ready for the water, and flying Stars and Stripes and Union Jacks. Crowds of people who had no chance of seeing anything out of the ordinary, assembled during the morning in the vicinity of the yard, and detachments of police appeared to preserve order. From the river little could be seen except the stern of the yacht, where in bright golden letters shown the name "Shamrock."

Previous to the launching, Sir Thomas Lipton gave a lunch at the Savoy Hotel to the guests invited to the ceremony. They included Admiral Lord Charles Beresford, the Marquis of Dufferin, the Earl and Countess of Clanwilliam, Lady Russell of Killgowen, the Hon. Lydia Russell, the Hon. Schomberg, Ker McDonald, principal private secretary to the Marquis of Salisbury; Sir George Faudel-Phillips, former Lord Mayor of London, and Lady Phillips; Herbert Gladstone, Maj. Sharman-Crawford, the Hon. W. Walsh and H. McGilldowney, the last three representing the Royal Ulster Yacht Club.

After the usual loyal toasts, Admiral Beresford proposed the success of the Shamrock, and briefly sketched the struggles of times gone by, and Sir Thomas Lipton's gallant entry into the breach and his challenge for the cup. Then the admiral, in breezy style, raised his glass and said: "Now we come to the last scene but one. May the Shamrock win a fair, square race, and may she have additional ballast of the America's cup when she returns." The guests heartily raised their glasses in response, and the owner of the Shamrock modestly replied with a few words of thanks.

After lunch, the party drove to the yard in two coaches, Admiral Beresford driving the first. They were the object of much attention while proceeding down the Thames Embankment and through the city and Whitechapel.

Immediately after their arrival at the yard, the party inspected the yacht under the guidance of Sir Thomas Lipton, W. Fife, Jr., Mr. Thornycroft and Charles Russell. They were all delighted, Admiral Beresford, whose expert opinion is valuable, seeming especially pleased with his minute inspection of the challenger. Lady Russell then ascended a platform level with the bow, and christened the yacht with the customary bottle of champagne, saying: "I christen thee Shamrock. God bless you; may you bring back the America's cup."

Three cheers were then given, and on a signal from Lady Russell, the boat and the cradle glided into the water.

After the launching the party assembled in the adjoining tent and had tea. The health of the Shamrock was drunk, and complimentafy expressions indulged in.

VIEWS AND INTERVIEWS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

LONDON, June 26.—When the Shamrock was launched, her entire crew and a large number of workmen were on board. The canvas screens covered only about twelve feet of her bow and stern. The three top plates, which are made of alloy, were painted pea green. Below that she was a brilliant bronze, resembling gold. The wetted surface was cut away to the last inch.

The mystery in regard to her dimensions were continued. No official figures were obtainable, but a man who worked on her says her length over all is 125 feet, her water line being 85; beam, 25 feet, and draft, 18 ft. 6 in.

Some little difficulty was experienced in entering the Indian Dock, but ultimately the Shamrock was safely berthed in the upper basin, where her spars are lying.

Sir Thomas Lipton, who was in high spirits, was asked a question regarding the prospects of the yacht, and he said to a representative of the Associated Press: "We have engaged to win back the America's cup. We have fairly extended ourselves, and if we are beaten, all I can say is, honor to the yacht which is better than the Shamrock."

William Fife, Jr., designer of the Shamrock, remarked: "Brains, and all that careful thought and knowledge of naval architecture can put into the yacht is there. Every man of us is satisfied that, with fair field, we shall give a tight race to any opponent. The Shamrock goes round to Southampton tomorrow or Wednesday for just those little arrangements that a racing experience gives, and then for the journey which, we hope, will herald the cup."

Admiral Beresford said to a representative of the Associated Press:

"I consider the hull of the Shamrock to be a remarkable triumph of construction. She is built on original lines. In the water she is not so striking as out of it. In my opinion her under-water construction is unique. Her apparent great beam is necessary to satisfy the tremendous sea of canvas.

"It is impossible to forecast the prospects. Take the case of the Meteor, which is an old craft, yet she is racing with great success. The Shamrock's designer and builder have proceeded on the soundest lines for lightness and speed, and if she is not the swiftest afloat, I shall be surprised. But we must recollect that the Americans know a good craft, and we can depend that their invention will run us hard."

THE COLUMBIA ACCEPTED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

BRISTOL (R. I.,) June 26.—After a conference among the owners of the new cup-defender Columbia, Col. Oliver Islin, the managing owner, notified the Herreshoff Company, this afternoon, that the yacht would be accepted without a further builder's trial.

The owners expressed themselves more than satisfied with the performance of the yacht in yesterday's trial. The formal transfer was made this afternoon to Mr. Islin, as managing owner of the Morgan-Islin syndicate.

BOY CRICKETER.

Collins Concludes His Remarkable Innings at London.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

LONDON, June 26.—[By Atlantic Cable.] A. E. J. Collins, the fourteen-year-old Clifton College schoolboy cricket player, concluded is remarkable innings today, scoring 598 runs and not out. Collins, Saturday, made the marvelous score of 501 runs and not out within five hours, during which time he only gave three chances. His performance has caused great enthusiasm in English cricket circles.

SPENDTHRIFT HANDICAP.

Ethelbert Wins at Sheepshead as He Pleases.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, June 26.—In the Spring stakes at Sheepshead Bay today Mischievous was the favorite of a poor lot, and won easily. In the Spendthrift Handicap, Ethelbert was a prohibitive favorite. After rating along behind Glengar to the last quarter, he came away and won just as he pleased, Kinley Mack beating Glengar for the place. In the opening race, Admiration was at the good odds of 3 to 5, and won in a romp, breaking the track record by way of variety.

Five and a half furlongs: Admiration won, Isador second, Filon d'Or third; time 1:07 1-5.

One mile: Maxine won, Charnetus second, Clonsilla third; time 1:40 4-5.

Spring stakes, Futurity course: Mischievous won, Plucky second, Brusquirie third; time 1:10 3-5.

Spendthrift stakes, mile and an eighth: Ethelbert won, Kinley Mack second, Glengar third; time 1:55 2-5.

Five furlongs, selling: Prejudice won, Shrove Tuesday second, Orear third; time 1:02 1-5.

Mile and a quarter, selling: Decanter won, Fast Black second, Twinkler third; time 2:07.

FITZ TO FIGHT AGAIN.

Two Clubs Bid for a Meeting With "Kid McCoy."

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

DENVER, June 26.—"Kid McCoy" gave a sparring exhibition at the Taber Operahouse here tonight, and it was announced from the stage that Fitzsimmons had agreed to meet McCoy in September. Two clubs have already made bids for the fight.

Manager Floto of the Denver club had offered a purse of $20,000 for the meeting. McCoy has expressed a preference for Denver.

ZEIGLER GOES DOWN.

His Seconds Throw Up the Sponge to McKeever.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, June 26.—Charlie McKeever defeated Owen Zeigler in the seventh round of what was to have been a twenty-round go at the Coney Island Athletic Club tonight. Zeigler was knocked down repeatedly in the seventh round, and his seconds threw up the sponge.

As a preliminary bout, Fitzsimmons, who was generously cheered when he was introduced as middle-weight champion of the world, appeared three friendly rounds with Dan Hickey.

Receipts for the "Slaves."

DENVER, June 26.—This was the closing day of the spring meeting at Overland Park. The total receipts were donated to the Slaves of the Silver Serpent, the association which has charge of the spectacular features of Denver's annual festival. Results:

Trotting: Nellie Campbell won in two straight heats; time 2:25, 2:23½. Dazzle, Evadne, Dr. Dunleavy, Josie C. and Ben Bolt also started.

Four and a half furlongs: Outlay won, Oreusa second, Billy Heck third; time 0:55½. Fancher, Chilcoot Pass and McLight also ran.

Four furlongs: Ensey won, Omah Wood second, Dif third; time 0:49½. Silver Jim and Blanche also ran.

Seven furlongs: Gold Bug won, Rags second, Oldham third; time 1:29. Charlemagne, Royal Lancer and Boodler also ran.

Five furlongs: E. F. Flynn won, Sandow second, Lassie B. third; time 1:03. Kitary and Dad's Daughter also ran.

Six furlongs: Juva won, Weird second, Encino third; time 1:16. Morven, Flora Hawk, Bloodhound, Ferryman II, R. J. Ban, Race Bud and Commercial Traveler also ran.

Only One Favorite Won.

ST. LOUIS, June 26.—Richard J. was the only favorite to take down a purse at the fair grounds today. A heavy shower did not materially affect the track.

Seven and a half furlongs: Richard J. won, Found second, Apple Jack third; time 1:34¾.

Selling, for two-year-olds, five furlongs: Ned Dennis won, Wood Trito second, Giga third; time 1:03¼.

Selling, one mile: Chenille won, Sadie Levy second, Farondolle third; time 1:43¾.

William's Little Ride.

STOCKTON, June 26.—William Vanderberg, a young bicyclist of this city, left his home in this city, late yesterday morning, and rode to Escalon, Oakdale, Knight's Ferry, Sonora, Jamestown, Chinese Camp and back by way of Farmington, covering 140 miles over hard mountain roads most of the way, reaching his home again this morning.

Tennis at Wimbledon.

LONDON, June 26.—At Wimbledon today in the lawn-tennis championship, R. L. Dougatery, holder of the championship, defeated A. W. Gore three sets to two.

[ON THE DIAMOND.]

MADE AN EVEN SPLIT.

BOSTON TAKES THE FIRST AND PITTSBURGH THE SECOND.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PITTSBURGH, June 26.—It was an even split. Boston took the first game because Pittsburgh made costly errors, and were slow on plays that do not show in the score. Pittsburgh won the second game because the visitors could not hit Leever, and because Killen's old comrades found him easy. The attendance was 4200. Score first game:

Pittsburgh, 10; base hits, 17; errors, 4.

Umpires—O'Day and McGarr.

Second game:

Pittsburgh, 8; base hits, 13; errors, 2.

CHICAGO-BROOKLYN.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHICAGO, June 26.—The Orphans, by better work, took their third game from Brooklyn today. Dunn was put in in the seventh, but could not stop the hitting, three singles and a triple being made off him in quick succession. The attendance was 3200. Score:

Chicago, 6; base hits, 11; errors, 3.

Umpires—Elmslie and McDonald.

NEW YORK-CLEVELAND.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CLEVELAND, June 26.—The wildness of Bates lost the game for the home team. The attendance was 100. Score:

Cleveland, 7; base hits, 12; errors, 1.

Umpires—Smith and Andrews.

LOUISVILLE-WASHINGTON.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

LOUISVILLE, June 26.—By winning today's game, Louisville took the series from Washington. The attendance was 300. Score:

Louisville, 6; base hits, 10; errors, 4.

THREATENS THE BOERS.

JOEY CHAMBERLAIN TALKS OF WAR AT BIRMINGHAM.

Britain's Colonial Secretary Declares the Counter Proposals of "Oom Paul" Do not Constitute Reform—The Transvaal's Government a Festering Sore.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

BIRMINGHAM (Eng.,) June 26.—[By Atlantic Cable.] Joseph Chamberlain, Secretary of State for the Colonies, addressing the Unionists of this city this evening, reviewed carefully the Transvaal question. In the course of his speech he said that, owing to the enormous military preparations of the government of the South African Republic, Great Britain had been compelled to increase the British garrison in Capt Colony, and Natal, entailing an additional expenditure of £500,000 annually.

Chamberlain said the government had tried to establish friendly relations with President Kruger, but all their advances had been received with contempt. He then proceeded to eulogize Sir Alfred Milner, Governor of Cape Colony, and British High Commissioner for South Africa. The government accepted full responsibility for the actions of that official. As for thte counter proposals of Mr. Kruger, they did not constitute even a fair installment of reform. After denouncing in the strongest terms the attitude and actions of the Boers, Chamberlain, with great deliberation and emphasis, added:

"The Transvaal's enormous secret service fund has procured it friends and advocates in every country. The way the British subject there is treated is not only a menace to them all, but interferes with our prestige among the natives, who now regard the Boers and not the British, as the paramount power.

"Besides, the breaches of the London convention, the Transvaal is flagrantly violating the equality that convention was intended to secure. Its misgovernment is a festering sore, poisoning the whole atmosphere of South Africa. The Dutch in Cape Colony and Natal would be in the happiest condition but so long as the disease of hatred and suspicion prevails in the Transvaal, it is impossible to stop the contagion.

"Four times since independence was granted we have been on the verge of war with the Transvaal. It is equally erroneous to say the British government wants war; but it is equally erroneous to say the government will draw back, now that it has put its hand to the plow.

"We hope the efforts that are now being made will lead to an amicable arrangement, for Great Britain only desires justice, but there comes a time when patience can hardly be distinguished from weakness, and when moral pressure becomes a farce that cannot be continued without loss of self-respect. I trust that time may never come in this instance, but if it does, Britons will insist upon means to find a result essential to the peace of South Africa."

The speech was warmly applauded. In reply to a vote of thanks, Chamberlain said he felt strengthened and encouraged by this confidence and support. He had spoken from the heart, because he believed they had reached a critical turning-point in the history of the empire, and that the whole world was watching to see how they would issue from the difficulty.

"It is my belief," said he, in closing, "that the country will show itself not unworthy of its glorious history and traditions."

Graduates in Music.

The graduation exercises of the Los Angeles Conservatory of Music and Arts were held last evening at Y.M.C.A. auditorium, the programme including a number of vocal and instrumental selections. Invocation was offered by Rev. J. C. Fletcher, and Earl Bishop Valentine gave the salutatory. The graduates consisted of five members of the silver medal class, three members of the gold medal class and two recipients of diplomas.

Shear Trust in Bankruptcy.

NEW YORK, June 26.—A petition in involuntary bankruptcy was filed today against the National Shear Company, commonly known as the Shear Trust. A few days ago the company issued a statement which, it is said, shows assets of $1,270,297, against which there are total liabilities of $301,000.

A Full Set of Teeth Only $5.

We make four or five $5.00 plates per day. If they were not good people wouldn't have them. Several thousand of these sets are being worn right here in Los Angeles today. Look natural, and are giving satisfaction.

The fact that we advertise does not prevent our doing good work.

Flexible Rubber Dental Plates

Have many advantages over the old thick, cumbersome, ordinary rubber plates, and even over gold plates, being much lighter and thinner.

These plates are flexible, only a trifle thicker than heavy writing paper, fit closer and adhere better to the roof of the mouth. Particles of food and small seeds cannot get under them. They will last longer, are stronger than any others, and will not break, as they will give first, being flexible. Once tried none other will be desirable. Dr. Schiffman's own process, brought to the notice of the public by him only, and made ONLY by us. A perfect fit guaranteed in every case of plate work.

Persons having trouble with their plates or in having plates fitted, are invited to call and consult us.

Beware of Cheap Imitators and Professional Jealousy.

It is Folly to Pay Higher Prices Than Ours

For fine Dental Work. Our modern methods enable us to do the very best dental work of all kinds without pain, at prices within the reach of all.

Our Guarantee is Good.

We refer you to the Merchants' National Bank and people we have done work for.

EXTRACTING FREE when best plates are ordered. ALL our work is guaranteed to be the very best. None better can be had anywhere, no matter how much you pay.

Consultation and examination free.

Lady attendants for ladies and children.

Open evenings and Sunday 4-noons.

RUPTURE SUFFERERS

My daughter was suffering from a very painful rupture. She tried all kinds of trusses and treatments without relief. At last my family physician, a well known Los Angeles doctor, said to me: "Go see Prof. Joseph Fandrey, 642 S. Main, the European specialist." I went immediately. On examination he said: "YOUR DAUGHTER CAN BE CURED." "Will you GUARANTEE to CURE her?" "No!" said he. "NO HONEST MAN CAN GUARANTEE to CURE. I am able to give her relief and comfort before she leaves my office." We followed instructions. TODAY MY DAUGHTER IS CURED.

"She's Such a Good Cook."

While calling on Mrs. Jones the other day, Mrs. Brown said: "I always like to visit Mrs. Smith. She's such a good cook. Everything she cooks tastes so nice. When I asked her why it was, she told me she always uses for shortening and frying. That it is better than butter or lard, and also more economical, because you can use it again and again for frying, while for shortening it takes one-third less. I'm going to try Cottolene." "So am I," said Mrs. Jones, and it will not be long before their friends will be saying of each of them, "She's such a good cook!"

The genuine Cottolene is sold everywhere in one to ten pound yellow tins with our trade-marks—"Cottolene" and steer's head in cotton-plant wreath—on every tin. Not guaranteed if sold in any other way. Made only by

Foo and Wing Herb Company,

"THE PRACTICE OF ORIENTAL MEDICINE."

In two parts, Treatises Nos. 4 and 5; in all 265 pages, illustrated. Contains the substance of all previous publications by this company, and much that is new. Describes the new method for home use of the celebrated Oriental Herbal Remedies, with full directions. More than a hundred purely vegetable medicines adapted to the cure of all diseases, whether acute or chronic. Valuable chapters on diet and hygiene.

This volume shows how every man may be his own physician and may save sickness and doctors' bills by the use of preventive remedies. The long list described in this book includes many simple, harmless but very efficacious remedies, the use of which at the first symptom of disease will save many a painful, perhaps fatal, illness.

This is a new departure of the Foo and Wing Herb Company. It is employing their skill and knowledge in a new way for the benefit of the world. The descriptive volume contains many new and striking theories of diseases and their cure. The remedies, which are skillfully and tastily prepared, in permanent forms, are a complete series for home cure of all ordinary diseases. The book and the remedies go together.

This valuable publication given free to all who call or write the Foo and Wing Herb Company, 903 South Olive Street, Los Angeles.

MEN AND WOMEN IN ALL THE VARIous walks of life—professional men, tradesmen, laboring men, housewives, and women and men who enjoy a life of leisure—to all must come sickness and suffering sooner or later. Those diseases that relate to the stomach are of frequent occurrence, and no one is exempt.

Nervous Dyspepsia, Catarrh of the Stomach and Indigestion are frequently forerunners of the more serious stomach disorders, such as Cancer of the Stomach and Ulceration of the Stomach. Again stomach disorders often lead to serious Heart complications.

These diseases are all amenable to treatment. The Great HUDYAN is an infallible specific for all stomach diseases. Many people suffer month after month and year after year with stomach trouble, because they seek palliatives only, because they resort to those many pepsin remedies that have only a temporary effect. HUDYAN is unlike such remedies, because it strengthens and stimulates all the glands concerned in the digestion of food, and this toning effect is permanent and lasting. HUDYAN relieves and CURES.

You may know that serious stomach disorder is threatening if you suffer with headaches (Fig. 1), coated tongue and offensive breath (Fig. 2), pains in shoulder (Fig. 3), palpitation of heart (Fig. 4), feeling of heaviness or weight in stomach or pain in stomach (Fig. 5), pain or ache in right side over region of liver (Fig. 6). Liver disorder is a usual complication of dyspepsia and kindred diseases. There are other symptoms indicative of stomach disorder—nervousness, costiveness, loss of appetite, sallow complexion, dizzy spells, sleeplessness and gaseous eructations.

Every man or woman knows when one or more of the above symptoms are present that serious stomach disease is impending. HUDYAN will cure you. HUDYAN is an admirable remedy to restore brain quietude. HUDYAN will overcome sleeplessness and bad dreams, because it insures a perfect discharge of the digestive functions. HUDYAN will cure constipation, because it strengthens and stimulates the liver, causing the bile to flow into its natural channel. The bile is the laxative that nature has prepared for us. Whenever the liver becomes torpid, costiveness results. HUDYAN will correct this evil.

HUDYAN gives strength, because it makes rich, red blood. It overcomes debility, it insures a proper discharge of the functions or work of the various organs of the body. HUDYAN restores the glow of health to pale, wan complexions. HUDYAN is nature's remedy.

HUDYAN is for sale by druggists, 50 cents a package or six packages for $2.50. If your druggist does not keep HUDYAN, send direct to the HUDYAN REMEDY COMPANY, Corner Ellis and Market Sts, San Francisco, Cal.

You have the privilege of consulting the HUDYAN DOCTORS about your case Free of Charge. Call or write.

Senator and Mrs. Stephen M. White entertained a number of their friends yesterday afternoon with a musicale at their home, No. 1068 South Main street. The affair was complimentary to Senator and Mrs. William B. Bate of Tennessee, who are visiting their daughter, Mrs. O. W. Childs of South Hoover street. Potted palms, ferns and red carnations were used in the drawing-rooms. The mantels were massed with the fragrant blossoms, and bouquets were arranged effectively about the rooms. In the dining-room the color effect was yellow and green, marguerites and ferns being used in large quantities. The following named contributed to the programme: Mrs. W. D. Larrabee, Mrs. W. F. Botsford, Mrs. J. J. Schallert, Miss Mollie Adelia Brown, Miss Lillian Scanlon; Messrs. Russell H. Ballard and C. C. Angeloty. About seventy-five guests were present.

Mrs. M. N. Eskey of West Pico street gave a very enjoyable birthday party Saturday in honor of the eighth birthday of her daughter, June. The guests met at the residence at 10 o'clock, and after presenting their many gifts they took the car for Hollenbeck Park, where lunch was served, and the afternoon spent in playing games on the lawn. Those present were Mildred Neiswender, Marie Urquiza, Ruth Bruning, Mayne Belt, Martha Hunt, Elsie Turner, Marion Allen, Floy Rosson, Norma Rosson and June Eskey. Mrs. Eskey was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. W. H. Neiswender, Mrs. E. L. Redding and Miss Gertrude Ward.

Miss Maude Bigelow entertained the Gamma Gamma Phi Sorority at dinner Friday evening at her home on Angeleño Heights, in honor of the departing member of the Sorority, Miss Jess Rutledge. Miss Louie Walters assisted in receiving. The house throughout was artistically decorated. Smilax and carnations were scattered carelessly on the table, and the centerpiece was a cut-glass bow filled with pink carnations and maidenhair ferns. The place cards were dainty affairs in black and white. Those present were Misses Jess Rutledge, Isabel Teal, Maude Haines, Marie Roesel, Laura Finch, Helen Bushnell, Louie Walters, Eula Smith, Evangeline Perry and Maude Tanner.

NOTES AND PERSONALS.

Dr. J. C. Fletcher, president of the Los Angeles School of Art and Design, entertained the advanced students at his residence on Friday evening.

Mrs. G. C. Smith, wife of Col. Smith, chief quartermaster of the Department of Missouri, with headquarters in St. Louis, was the guest of Col. and Mrs. John H. Norton of West Twenty-eighth street, Friday and Saturday of last week. Mrs. Smith has just returned from Manila, where she visited her daughter, recently married to Lieut. Whitworth, who is on the staff of Gen. MacArthur. She stopped over here a few days, visiting ex-Senator Cole of Colegrove, and leaves tomorrow en route to St Louis, to join her husband.

Miss Mina Dillon and Samuel Niman were married Friday evening at the home of S. H. Bullis, Alhambra. Mr. Bassett of Alhambra officiated.

SAN GABRIEL SANITARIUM.

Question of Bankruptcy Decided in Favor of Creditors.

The question of the bankruptcy of the San Gabriel Sanitarium Company was decided by Judge Wellborn of the United States District Court in a decision handed down yesterday. Involuntary bankruptcy proceedings were brought against the company some weeks since by creditors, the company entering the defense that the bankruptcy law specifies that the conditions of the law apply solely to persons engaged in certain enumerated lines of industry, such as mercantile business, publishing, etc., under none of which industries does the conducting of a sanitarium come. Judge Wellborn, however, holds that, in the meaning of the law, conducting a sanitarium is merchandising, while issuing its own advertising matter is publishing, and that the company is amenable to the law providing for voluntary bankruptcy.

St. John's Day.

St. John's day was celebrated Sunday in Los Nietos with a beef's-head barbecue. Dancing and music, with the usual features of a picnic, furnished entertainment. A number of Los Angeles people were present.

POPULAR STUDIES IN LITERATURE.

XIV.—TOLSTOI.

REVIEW OF RUSSIAN LITERATURE.

BY THOMAS MARC PARROTT, PH.D.
(Princeton University.)

Russian literature, like the Russian nation, entered late into the confederation of culture built up in Western Europe. Even today it has not wholly sloughed off the marks of its barbaric origin. "Scratch a Russian and you will find a Tartar," says the proverb, and even in the works of the noblest Russian author we find at times a primeval wildness; at times an abjectness of renunciation which are alike impossible to the nations of the West. The late introduction of Christianity, the centuries of internal anarchy, the deluge of the Tartar invasion, are sufficient causes to account for the tardy development of Russia. It is not till the reign of Peter the Great (1689-1725) that she definitely enters the European arena, and with Peter Russian literature begins, for we may disregard entirely the mass of folk-lore, legends, epic ballads, pseudo-science and Greek theology, that existed in manuscript before his time. These are not without interest as the product of a barbarous and semi-Asiatic people, but from the time of Peter the Great, Russia in literature, as in history, belongs to the western world.

We may divide Russian literature, beginning at this time, into three periods: The first, from the reign of Peter to the second decade of the nineteenth century—a period of imitation and would-be classicism. The second, covering about a score of years—a period of romanticism, taking its tone from England and Germany, but dealing for the most part with Russian themes. The third, and by far the most important—a period of realism, beginning with Gogol's Cossack stories (1831) and still continuing in Tolstoi's latest tales of Russian peasant life.

The first period need not detain us. It was a period of awakening, a Russian renaissance. The great Czar and his followers set themselves resolutely to the transformation of the Russian people. The literature of the period was the servant of the rulers of the state, and devoted itself to the realization of their ideals, social and political. It was a literature of education, crowded with translations and adaptations from foreign tongues, ridiculing the benighted conservatives who still clung to the good old ways of barbarism. But it was a literature without originality or national self-consciousness. The ideas of the French philosophers dominated the intellectual life of Russia, and the classic forms in their new French press were the sole patterns of literary art.

The second period opens in the reign of Alexander I. The literary circles of Russia had caught the passion for romance, kindled in the eighteenth century by the German poets, and fanned into flame by the wars of the Napoleonic era. Its beginning is marked by a flood of translations from Buerger, Schiller, Moore and Byron. Along with this passion for romance came the newly awakened spirit of nationality—due in great part to the role Russia had played in the overthrow of Napoleon. And in the first original poet of the period, the first Russian poet to become known beyond the borders of his fatherland, the famous and unhappy Pushkin, both these notes are blended into a harmony of surprising sweetness.

Alexander Pushkin (1799-1837, "the Byron of Russia," was the descendant by the mother's side of Hannibal, the negro slave whom Peter the Great made a Russian nobleman. As a child he was nourished on the old Russian legends and folk songs, at the same time devouring greedily the French library of his father. This is typical enough of his after life, distracted between his genuine Russian love for simple, unspoiled characters and for the wild and gloomy aspects of nature, and his insatiable craving for the dissipations of a licentious and Gallicised society, such as Tolstoi has described in "War and Peace." As a youth he became notorious for his excesses, and was banished from court by Alexander I. In company with several friends he journeyed to the Caucasus, and the deep impression made upon him by the wonderful mountain scenery mingled with and confirmed the influence of Byron, whose works he now read for the first time. His poems of the next few years (1821-24,) "The Prisoner of the Caucasus," "The Robber Band," "The Gypsies," and others, show most plainly the influence of Byron in their romantic and gloomy heroes and their defiance of the conventionalities of society. Pushkin was received into imperial favor in 1825 by the new Czar, Nicholas I, and at once became the lion of the literary world of Moscow. His drama, "Boris Godunow" (1831,) a historical play modeled after Shakespeare, raised him to the highest rank of Russian poets. Perhaps his most famous work is "Eugen Oregin," an autobiographical satire, composed at intervals during a period of seven or eight years. It is a scathing attack upon Russian society as Pushkin knew it, diversified by humorous, romantic and sentimental episodes, after the fashion of its prototype, "Don Juan." Pushkin met his fate in a duel, a victim to the conventions of a society he despised, but was not able to rise above.

The third period begins with Nikolai Gogol (1809-52.) He was by birth a Cossack, and after a troubled and poverty-stricken youth, spent partly on the steppes and partly in the alleys of St. Petersburg, he attracted the attention of Pushkin. On the latter's advice he began a series of sketches of Cossack life, "Evenings at a Farm." He followed these with a number of stories of life in the capital—the narrow, crushing, hopeless struggle for existence of the petty official, the unknown artist, and the social outcast. Along with much that is fantastic and exaggerated there appears in these tales for the first time in Russian literature a sense of the realities of life. Gogol is the Russian Dickens, in his lively humor, his tendency to carcature and his sympathy with the poorer classes. His prose epic, "Taras Bulba," is the story of the Cossack wars with Poland. His comedy, "The Inspector," is a fierce satire on the corrupt and inefficient bureaucracy of Russia. In his masterpiece, the realistic novel "Dead Souls" (1842,) he combined all the qualities that had marked his earlier work—fancy, humor, satire, and sympathy—and added to these a conscious realism and power of characterization that were absolutely new. The success of the book was instantaneous, and its effect upon succeeding writers incalculable. Gogol is the father of the Russian novel as it exists today. He said to himself: "I have studied human life as it really is—not in the dreams of the imagination." Gogol's realism, it must be admitted, is of a somewhat crude type, uninspired by any controlling ideal. Such an ideal we find in the work of his successor, Dostoyevsky. Not that the latter is untrue to life; on the contrary, his grasp on reality is firmer than Gogol's own.

COUNT TOLSTOI.

Feodor Dostoyevsky (1821-1881,) was born in a charity hospital in Moscow. From his earliest years he was "a frail bundle of irritable nerves," subject to epileptic attacks and horrible hallucinations. His first novel, "Poor People," (1846,) attracted the attention of the foremost critic of Russia, who saw in him the successor of Gogol. In fact, this first work shows Gogol's influence more plainly than any other. But a new note is struck in its passionate sympathy for human suffering, a sympathy that extends not only to physical ill-being, but to the deeper sorrows of shame, disgrace and grinding poverty, whose bitterness had sunk deep into the author's soul. In 1849 Dostoyevsky and a number of his friends were arrested on the charge of high treason. After eight months of almost unbroken solitary confinement he with twenty others was condemned to death, a sentence which was commuted on the scaffold to exile to Siberia. His crime had been his connection with a free-thinking and careless-spoken students' club, where the forbidden topics of government, society and religion were debated by a group of youthful theorists. In Siberia Dostoyevsky spent five years in prison and four as a private in the army. In the tenth he returned to Russia a changed man. He never complained of the injustice of his sentence. On the contrary, he thanked the Czar, who had saved him, so he said, from a course that would have ended in madness. In his prison he had pored over the pages of the New Testament, the one book allowed him, and had become a sincere convert to the religion of sorrow, suffering, and resignation. He had discarded all his theories of revolt and ideal reforms, and now preached the passive endurance so characteristic of the Russian race.

His first work after his return, "Memoirs of a Dead House," or "Buried Alive," is an autobiographic novel, recounting under a thin veil of fiction his experience in Siberia. In the misery of his exile he had come to recognize the brotherhood of man, even among the lowest criminals, and as a result he became, as has been well said, the poet of the proletariat, the advocate of the dumb and helpless pariah. In 1866 he published his great work, "Crime and Punishment," "the profoundest psychological study since Macbeth." Faulty as the book often is—Dostoyevsky was a reporter rather than an artist, and never revised or corrected his work—its superb grasp of character, its profound insight into the hidden place of the heart, and, above all, its boundless passion of sympathy, make it one of the greatest novels of all times and races. The keynote is struck where the hero falls before the outcast Sonya and kisses her feet. To her startled outcry, "What are you doing? That—to me!" he answers: "Not to you alone do I prostrate myself, but to the whole agony of the human race." The effect of the novel was simply overwhelming. "All Russia was made ill by it," and, indeed, it is not a book to recommend to readers with weak nerves.

Dostoyevsky's later works show a falling off from the heights attained in "Crime and Punishment." He became a Pan-Slavist of the most pronounced type, attacked with increasing bitterness all the ideals of western civilization, and denounced the political conceptions of the nihilists, against whom his "Possessed of Devils" (1873) was directed. At the time of his death he was, however, the most popular author in Russia, exerting an influence almost incredible to the western mind. It is said that 40,000 people followed him to his grave.

An examination (conducted by mail) will be held at the close of each course, as a basis for the granting of certificates. The examinations are open, free of expense, to all students of one or more of the courses.

RATE-CUTTING.

To Be Stopped Sure—N.E.A. Specials. San Joaquin Valley Officers.

J. J. Byrne, general passenger agent of the Santa Fé; G. W. Luce, general agent of the Southern Pacific; F. W. Thompson, Pacific Coast agent of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific; J. C. Cline, Coast agent of the Wabash, and, in fact, nearly every man in the city who is directly interested in passenger business east-bound, is in San Francisco, or on his way there.

It is a difficult thing to prevent rate-cutting from a territory like this. There are two terminal roads here, and from Omaha, St. Louis, Denver, Kansas City, Chicago, Minneapolis, Galveston, New Orleans and all the larger centers at the east roads radiate like spokes from a wheel.

Many of these competing lines maintain agents in Los Angeles, because of the unusually large amount of traffic between here and the East. The competition is very sharp, and it is no easy job for an agent to make a good showing month by month.

There is the Passenger Association which fixes rates, and while a local agent is supposed to rustle for business and get it, he is also supposed to maintain schedule rates in all cases.

But when a man finds business dull and his report likely to be unsatisfactory to the people at headquarters, the temptation to sell a ticket by cutting a rate, making a rebate or concession of some kind, is very great.

From all accounts the temptation has been proving too strong for some of the agents, and this is said to be the reason why there is so general an exodus to the Bay City. The two big roads whose terminals are here have taken the matter in hand, it is reported, and a meeting is to be held this week in San Francisco, where all the roads will be represented by their big Coast men. The subject will be handled without circumlocution, and the agents made to comprehend the broad proposition that they are not to secure business by underhand methods. Hereafter the luckless agent who is caught in the act of violating the rule will be reported to his headquarters with a peremptory demand that he be withdrawn from this territory. Should his road undertake to condone the offense and back up the man in his evil course, there is a last resort which will be sought. His local transportation pass will be lifted, and his usefulness in this territory, if not destroyed, will be very much curtailed. The squabble is said to have created a good deal of bad blood already, as the practice has been growing of late.

The Santa Fé has sent out a circular letter announcing that on July 1 that road will take formal charge of the San Joaquin Valley road and incorporate it in its system. Edward Chambers is appointed general freight agent of that line; J. J. Byrne, general passenger agent, and John Moss, assistant general freight and passenger agent for the purpose of looking after the local business of the line between San Francisco and Bakersfield. Mr. Moss now occupies an identical position in the Valley organization, and he will continue to reside in San Francisco. Mr. Byrne and Mr. Chambers will exercise their functions from this city, as heretofore. It is not at all likely that the Santa Fé will undertake to operate trains between Los Angeles and San Francisco before the line from Stockton to the bay is completed, and that will hardly be before the dawn of the new year.

The Santa Fé seems to be securing the great bulk of all the special parties coming out to the National Educational Association Convention, which will be held in this city next month. Besides the six or eight parties heretofore reported in this department, the road has advices of a party from Carbondale, Ill.; bringing the Normal School of that town in charge of Prof. Ryock. It will be a carload, and will be here July 7. A party from St. Paul and Minneapolis left there on Sunday and is expected here next Friday. This party occupies two cars. A party leaves Galveston, Tex., today and should be here by the end of the week. These parties, with those before reported make fifty-five carloads, all specials by the Santa Fé.

A tourist car party leaves St. Louis via the Wabash on July 7. It will be at Kansas City July 8, and reach here July 11.

The Chicago Great Western and Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul roads will send out each one special car a day for four days from St. Paul and Minneapolis to accommodate people from the Northwest.

F. A. Valentine, Canadian Pacific agent at San Francisco, left here yesterday for home.

W. H. Avery, agent of the Pacific Mail, yesterday returned home to San Francisco.

July 4, the Santa Fé will run a special, leaving Redondo at 8 o'clock p.m., and Los Angeles at 8:45 for San Bernardino, via Pasadena, and back to Los Angeles by way of Riverside, and Orange. On the arrival of this train at San Bernardino a special will go out for Redlands, Highlands and other points on that loop.

July 2, July 4 and each Sunday thereafter the Southern Pacific will dispatch two new trains to Long Beach, San Pedro and Catalina, leaving here at 8, and 10:20 o'clock a.m.

To Santa Monica there will be on the same dates nine new trains each way. The "flyer" to accommodate the judges in the road races will leave the Arcade at 8:35 o'clock a.m., and run to Santa Monica without a stop.

Police Court Notes.

Justice Morgan yesterday fined D. O. Pete, O. P. Wolcott, S. J. Jappel and W. O. White $1 each for violating the hitching ordinance.

Ollie Nowlin was fined $10 by Justice Austin for disturbing the peace.

C. Rottman and Bob McGraw, arraigned before Justice Morgan for violating the Sunday-closing ordinance, had their hearing set for June 28 at 2 p.m.

ROOSEVELT AT LAS VEGAS.

The speech of Col. Theodore Roosevelt at Las Vegas, N. M., on Saturday, upon the occasion of the Rough Riders' reunion, was the utterance of a genuine American, and as such it breathed the spirit of true and loyal Americanism in every word and sentence. Mr. Roosevelt spoke to his friends and comrades, not from the standpoint of a mere sentimentalist, but from the vantage-ground of actual and ample experence. His record and that of the men under him, in the Cuban campaign, was brilliant with glorious daring and splendid courage. No braver men, no more chivalrous men, ever followed a flag to victory or defeat, than the Rough Riders' regiment—the men of brawn and of brains as well as of courage and patriotism—who sought service in the forefront of battle at the fierce struggle of Santiago.

The reunion of these valiant men was indeed a notable occasion, of transcendant interest to each and all of them. Col. Roosevelt stated at the beginning of his remarks that he would not have left New York State just at this time for any purpose save to attend the reunion of his old regiment, but that for such purpose he would have gone to Alaska, or anywhere else. There is no doubt that "Teddy" would have done that very thing, for he is the sort of man that his words imply, and, as he truly said, the bond that unites the Rough Riders, one to another, is as close as any bond of human friendship can be. Mr. Roosevelt is now Governor of the most populous State in the Union, but this high civic honor does not cause him to forget his old comrades at arms. The feeling of affection which he entertains for them is reciprocal, for the survivors of the regiment almost idolize their old commander.

Col. Roosevelt's speech at Las Vegas was in his happiest vein, and was pervaded by that breezy unconventionalism which is so thoroughly characteristic of the man. His references to the work of our volunteers and regulars in the Philippine campaign were especially happy, and the gentle but forcible rebuke which he administered to the assistant Filipinos, of the Hoar-Atkinson breed, was deserved as well as timely. These words are worthy of republication and of remembrance:

"Let us not forget our comrades who this summer are facing all that we faced last summer. Let us not forget the gallant men, the regulars and volunteers, who are upholding the honor of the flag and the interests of the nation in the Philippines. Surely there is not one of us whose veins has not tingled with pride as he read of the gallantry of those men, and I suppose few of us have not thought at times that we should like ourselves to fight beside Lawton, as we fought beside him last July, and to see if the Rough Riders could not do their share of the work now done by the splendid men who followed Funston, Hale and other daring leaders who, during the past six months have added so many pages to the honor roll of American history. To our shame be it said, that there are men in this nation so indifferent to the country's honor, so lukewarm in patriotism and courage, that they would let all the work of these men go for naught—let their blood be spilled in vain. But the heart of our nation is sound and the puny folk who deem it otherwise, are woefully mistaken in their countrymen. Where our flag has been raised it shall not be hauled down. If any difficulty seems greater than we expected, it merely means that we shall exert a little more strength in overcoming it.

"I read with pride the other day how both Senators from California, those of opposite political parties, joined in assuring the President that California would stand like a rock behind him in seeing that there was no stepback in the Philippines, and so I can assure him of the like spirit from the great State of which I have the honor to be the Governor. We stand ready to give him whatever he needs in men or money to put down the armed savagery to which we are opposed in the Philippines. We shall give all he wishes to put it down speedily, and whether it is put down quickly or not he shall have our support in ever increasing measure until the last spark of resistance has been stamped out. We want no peace talk with men who bear arms in their hands. When once they submit they shall be treated with absolute justice and equity and their rights most carefully guarded; but until they submit they must be taught with rough hand what it is to make war upon the American flag.

"There is no East and no West when we come to deal with questions of this kind. The United States is to be the great power of the Pacific, and we of the Atlantic Coast are good westerners and are as resolutely bent on upbuilding our power in the Pacific as the men on the Pacific Slope themselves."

There is a certain directness, straightforwardness, and unaffected enthusiasm in Col. Roosevelt's sentiments, and in his manner of expressing them, that are contagious, and it is not to be wondered at that the surviving members of his celebrated regiment, who listened to his remarks, went wild with enthusiasm. He is in many and in most respects an American of the truest and best type, and his countrymen in general—or at least the major portion of them—share in a large degree the esteem and affection which is felt for him by his comrades of the Cuban war. Long may "Teddy" live, and may all his days be prosperous and happy.

A FORTUNATE FIZZLE.

The public has heard much of late in regard to the trusts and all sorts of figures have been published to show what an enormous amount of money these great organizations represent—at least on paper. There has, however, been nothing published, so far as we are aware, giving the figures of trust organization with anything approaching to accuracy. The United States Investor, in its issue of June 17, publishes a list of trusts formed, or in act of formation since January 1, 1898. It contains the names of 487 concerns with an aggregate capitalization of $7,370,783,383. These figures are staggering, and it is difficult to grasp their full import. The sum represented would be sufficient to give to every family in the United States about $500.

Of the amount named, not more than one-third represents preferred stock, the rest being common stock. In commenting upon these figures, the Investor shows that two-thirds of the capitalization, in the shape of common stock, is "water." It is further shown that the great investing public, warned by public-spirited financiers and independent journals, has steadfastly refused to absorb this enormous amount of fluid, and that consequently many of these trusts are in a state of premature collapse, or in other words, they have "died a-bornin." Almost every day brings the intelligence that some projected trust has fallen through.

It is far better that these ambitious and inflated attempts to fool the public should collapse thus, in their infancy, than that their fictitious valuations should be absorbed by honest and hard-working investors. Had the public absorbed this $5,000,000,000 of very "common" stock, we should, undoubtedly before long have witnessed in this country the most uncommon financial panic that America has ever seen. As it is now, it looks as if the losses through the trusts would be largely confined to those who originated or manipulated them, and who will thus be hoisted by their own petard, as it were. As we have said, this desirable consummation is largely due to the conservatism and good sense displayed by American bankers, who, at an early stage in the game discriminated against these so-called "securities," and to the fearless, outspoken utterances of the independent press.

The demagogues who are hoping to overthrow the French republic through the agitation attendant upon the Dreyfus case, are playing with edged tools. President Loubet is evidently a man who knows just where he is "at" and if dire confusion does not fall upon the plotters against the peace and integrity of the republic there is nothing in signs and omens. It is clear that the masterful statesman who is at the head of the government has matters well in hand, and should "the man on horseback" make his appearance in Paris it is not likely to be healthful for the man.

Mr. Henderson is evidently determined, should he be elected Speaker, not to assume that he is not only the whole Congress but likewise the Czar of all the States. The spectacle of our Congress doing business on its own account will certainly be quite refreshing.

THEIR ONLY HOPE.

Maj.-Gen. E. S. Otis has sent to the War Department, in response to inquires as to the situation in the Philippines, a long dispatch, covering in detail the state of affairs now existing in the islands. The dispatch (to summarize its main points) shows that the rainy season is now on, and that not much can be done at present in the way of land campaigning; that a large part of the Tagalog country has been wrested from the rebels and is now under American control; that the insurgent forces have lost heavily and are much scattered, the only large force held together being about four thousand, in Tarlac province and Northern Pampanga; that the mass of the Filipinos are anxious for peace, but are terrorized by the armed insurgents; that affairs in the islands outside of Luzon are comparatively quiet, pending the outcome in Luzon; that the American troops have worked to the limit of endurance; that sickness among the troops has increased, due mostly to arduous service and climatic influences, but that the health conditions are not alarming.

One of the most significant features of Gen. Otis's dispatch is found in the following paragraph:

"The only hope of the insurgent leaders is United States aid. They proclaim the near overthrow of the present administration, to be followed by their independence and recognition by the United States. This is the influence which enables them to hold out. Much contention prevails among them, and no civil government remains."

Intelligent and sensible persons in the United States are aware that the insurgents in basing their hopes of success upon the possibility of a change of administration and policy in the United States, are building upon a very unstable foundation. The American people are not ready to take a backward step in the Philippines, and they will not sanction the adoption of any such policy. No party committed to a policy of retrogression could win the indorsement of the popular vote. But this fact is not fully understood by Aguinaldo and his deluded followers, nor is it likely to be understood so long as the pernicious activity of Filipino sympathizers in the United States continues. The senseless and silly (not to say treasonable) agitation which these latter-day copperheads are keeping up is costing many precious lives in Luzon, because of the false hopes which it holds out to the Tagalo tribes who are arrayed in armed hostility to the Stars and Stripes.

Ours is a free country, where "a man may speak the thing he will," and it may not be practicable to place restraints upon the men whose utterances are serving to prolong the rebellion, causing the unnecessary sacrifice of good American lives. But it is right, and it is well, that the responsibility for this needless and terrible sacrifice should be placed just where it belongs—upon the heads of the Filipino sympathizers in the United States.

A DEARLY-BOUGHT LESSON.

Before the first call for troops was issued last year this newspaper took occasion to make comment upon the question of officering the new commands with men who had seen service either in the regular army or in the civil war. For this editorial expression of opinion THE TIMES was upbraided severely by the tin soldiery and their organs, or in other words by the militia officers then serving in the National Guard of this and other States, and by their zealous but inconsiderate friends. However, time and experience amply proved that the position taken by THE TIMES at that time was right, for the scandals and embarrassments that were brought to our arms were occasioned by accepting as commanders of real soldiers in time of war men who were wholly without military training and experience, but who had been able to pass muster as militia officers.

This subject is brought to mind at this time by the San Francisco Chronicle, which makes the following comment upon the prospective increase of the army. That paper says:

"The decision of the President to enlist the 35,000 volunteers as individuals and to appoint their principal officers shows that the lessons of last year's volunteer call have not been thrown away. The State organizations that came in for the Spanish war brought their militia colonels, lieutenant-colonels, majors and captains with them, with results that were not only bad for discipline, but for the health of the troops. The new volunteers will be commanded by men who know their business, and on that account should become capable soldiers in a brief space of time."

That the bringing into the service in time of war troops of the militia with their incompetent and untried officers when there were hundreds of seasoned veterans and regular army officers in the country who were fit to command, was a gigantic mistake, is now a fact that has been learned to the nation's sorrow, but the lesson thus learned has been of value, for we are not again likely to see the serious business of war placed in the hands of men whose "ways are ways of pleasantness" and all of whose "paths are peace."

One of the noticeable evidences of prosperity is found in the record of bank clearings. Bradstreet's report for the week ended June 23, shows an average increase of clearings over the corresponding week of 1898 of 40.2 per cent. Of the fifty-six cities reported only four show a decrease, and this is small, ranging from 1.2 to 15.2 per cent. Los Angeles makes a good showing, with an increase of 35.7 per cent. over the corresponding week of last year.

We notice that the newspapers, in speaking of the forthcoming meeting of the National Educational Association in this city, almost invariably mention the teachers as "she." Are there no men teaching school nowadays, or what's the matter?

A number of wealthy men of San Francisco, among others, I. W. Hellman, Prof. Davidson, Horace Davis, W. H. Mills, E. B. Pond and J. D. Phelan, have undertaken to call a convention at an early date to adopt a practical plan by which the State may impound the flood waters, and distribute them during the seasons of low water, at reasonable rates. If the project does not entail the granting by the government of large tracts of land to the State, which land would inevitably be gobbled up by corporations, it is worthy of respectful attention on part of the people of California, if for no other reason than because it is fathered by several men who have done good service for the State.

Mayor Sam Jones of Toledo, O., is of the opinion that "the Democratic party may be born again and is to be inspired with a moral purpose to lead the people out of the distress of present social conditions." It is morally certain that if the Democratic party is going to do any leading in a right direction it will have to undergo a new birth, for up to this writing that party has done no leading except into civil war, into "tariff reform" that does not reform, but destroys; into the bog of free silver in which it still flounders, and into all sorts of political cesspools. If the D. p. is to have a new birth the first hard work it ought to do is to get rid of that incompetent wet nurse, Col. William Jennings Bryan.

The Hague peace conference is settling down into a discussion of the best way to kill an enemy without hurting him, but there is precious little talk about peace on any terms. The Czar's scheme looks like a miscarriage of good intentions.

Russia is willing to stop armament of the nations at the place where we are now stationed, but at the same time she is figuring on buying $6,000,000 of guns from the manufacturers of this country. The Czar must be playing a joke on somebody.

"The street-railroad organs are out against the automobiles," remarks the San Francisco Chronicle. Yes, and the street railways are against the bicycle, frequently with a most distressing bump, but the bicycle is here to stay just the same.

The Chief of Police of Chicago says that city has no gambling houses, which compels belief that he must be some scrt of kin to the Chief of Police of New York, who said that the Jeffries-Fitzsimmons mill wasn't a prize fight.

Potatoes, Pingree and politics are an odd combination, but that is what they are having up in Michigan where the sawmills grow. There is also one other "thing" in Michigan, but let us draw the veil; this is a painful subject.

Ex-Senator Peffer of Kansas says the Democrats have swallowed the Populists. We are glad to know that Mr. Peffer has been able to pick out the one that did the swallowing. We couldn't tell for the life of us.

San Francisco is much stirred up over the prospect of having a corkscrew railroad, but we don't know of a city in the country where a railroad of that shape would feel that it had more company than right in San Francisco.

Gen. Kitchener is now, through the grace of Oxford University, a doctor of civil law. He will, however, do his doctoring by injecting pellets of lead and iron into his patients, the same as heretofore.

Let us hope that E. Aguinaldo Atkinson was able to sit up and read Gov. Roosevelt's speech before the Rough Riders at Las Vegas. It would certainly be good for what ails Mr. Atkinson.

Considerable discussion is going on about the successor to the present Secretary of War, but this is another case of the boy's apple that wasn't "going to have no core." There isn't a vacancy.

The Kentucky Democratic State convention is all tangled up in the good old rip-roaring Democratic way with which we are so familiar. Things are indeed red hot "in our old Kentucky home."

Admiral Schley says he is ready for sea duty. He probably wants to get out where there is room to "D—n the Texas" without being overheard and reported in the yellow newspapers.

An esteemed contemporary remarks that: "The King of Samoa has lost his job." This cannot be true, for there is now no such job. Even a king cannot lose a thing that isn't.

If some enterprising Yankee should bring that captured Filipino brass band over here it would, in all probability, give John Philip Sousa a run for his money.

The latest name for the horseless carriage is the "Tommy." Well, almost anything in the shape of a name for the machine is preferable to "automobile."

The fact is being constantly borne in upon the people of this country that Theodore Roosevelt is a great man. Keep your eagle eye on Teddy.

Miss Jones of Pasadena now holds the tennis championship of America. If there is any other games than tennis or pugilism that the rest of the country thinks it can play, Los Angeles or some one of its suburbs will undertake to prove to the contrary. Jeffries and Jones do not exhaust our list of athletic experts by considerable. Bring on your championships if you want to see them wrested from your feeble grasp by an able Angeleño.

Considering the latest undertaking of Gov. Pingree we cannot but feel that it were better for all concerned that he go back to his potato patch.

The more one hears from Gov. Roosevelt the more he is convinced that Teddy talks as well as he fights, which is the very apex of praise.

A new lead has been struck on the Comstock, but the big diggings, in all probability, will be in the pockets of the stock-gambling public.

Tacoma speculators are cutting up the Muir glacier and selling the ice at a big profit. "How'd you like to be a glacierman?"

It is quite evident that the new yacht Columbia is swift like her namesake, which is the gem of the ocean.

The Playhouses.

ORPHEUM. A lively array of features and an audience in keeping both as to numbers and quality ushered in the week at this theater last night. The mystery of mysteries, Houdini, made his first appearance and scored a big success. This wizard of the handcuffs presents a performance that is entirely unique, and one that is likely to keep the guessers guessing for some time to come. A man who can have four pairs of regulation policeman's handcuffs locked on his wrists by officers of the police department, who retires to a cabinet and reappears after a lapse of time no longer than it took to fasten the "darbys" on him, freed thereof and with the gyves locked into each other, showing that his hands have not been slipped out, is too much of a mystery for the novice's unraveling. But clever as is this feat, Houdini's trunk trick is even more baffling to one who doesn't know how it is done. The performer's hands are closely tied behind him with a length of broad tape. His first feat in this condition is to remove his coat almost instantly upon retiring to the cabinet. One of the police officers on the stage then hands Houdini the coat bearing the officer's star; the perfofmer retires momentarily to the cabinet and, although his hands are still bound, he reappears wearing the garment of the officer. Then there is wheeled from the cabinet a large trunk, which rolls on casters. Houdini, with his hands still bound and wearing the officer's coat, is enveloped in a large sack; the sack is tied over his head and sealed with wax. The trunk is closed with Houdini inside it, double locked, bound with rope and wheeled into the cabinet. Mme. Houdini announces that she will enter the cabinet, clap her hands three times, and asks the audience to note the result. The little woman enters the cabinet swiftly, closes the curtain, claps her hands three times as quickly as one can fire a self-cocking pistol. The curtain is slipped aside, whereupon Houdini is disclosed standing in the enclosure in his shirt sleeves, the trunk is in the same condition as when it was locked and bound with the performer inside it. When the packing case is unlocked and unbound, Mme. Houdini is found inside it and the wax-sealed sack, wearing the officer's coat, her hands tied behind her with the tape—in other words, she has changed places with Houdini, and that almost instantaneously. It is left for the guessers to do the rest. Houdini also presents a number of clever card tricks, and altogether his work is a record-breaker as a mystery to the understanding of the uninitiated.

McAvoy and May, who were here some years ago, made their reappearance last night and captured everything in sight with their swift turn at horse play, which, strong, bright and clever as it is, would be still more so if some of the syphoning and other coarseness was eliminated. This is an immensely hard-working team and there is a contagious dash and breeziness in everything they do. The house rose at them last evening with wild enthusiasm, and that they "made good" was so strongly in evidence that even the captious individual could not presume to question.

Antonio Vargas, a baritone of considerable ability, presents three numbers. Johnstone Bennett holds firmly her place in popular favor; Henri French is doing his great bicycle, or rather unicycle, feats; Caswell and Arnold continue their flip-flops, etc., and a team of new-comers, the Wartenberg brothers, offers some unique feats of foot juggling, vaulting, equilibrism, etc. The bill throughout is an especially strong one and one that is bound to "hold 'em for awhile." It goes all the week.

AWAITS THE ADMIRAL.

Capt. Taylor Wants to Retain Command of Indiana.

[A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.]

NEW YORK, June 26.—A special to the Herald from Washington says that Capt. S. C. Taylor, who commands the Indiana, and whose tour of sea duty has expired, has applied to the department for permission to remain on his present duty until November, when the department expects Rear-Admiral Sampson to relinquish command of the North Atlantic squadron.

About the same time the term of Capt. Sigsbee, commanding the Texas, will expire, and he will be placed on shore duty. When Rear-Admiral Sampson hauls down his flag, Capt. Chadwick of the New York will probably request shore duty. As the New York and Indiana are crack ships of the home squadron, no trouble will be experienced in getting officers willing to command them. There are already several applications on foot.

One hundred and twenty-five men who will comprise the regular crew of the Hartford, which will be placed in commission under the command of Commander J. M. Hawley, have left Brooklyn for Mare Island. Commander Hawley has received reports from recruiting officers showing that they have already shipped to Mare Island 260 of the 300 green men who will be trained as men-of-wars-men on the Hartford.

Acting Secretary Allen has sent a letter to Rear-Admiral Watson, directing him to issue a general order authorizing officers and enlisted men of the Atlantic squadron to purchase commissary stores from army commissaries.

THE DEAD WIFE.

Always I see her in a saintly guise
Of lilited raiment, white as her own brow
When first I kissed the teardrops to the eyes
That smile forever now.

Those gentle eyes! They seem the same to me
As, looking through the warm dews of mine own,
I see them gazing downward patiently
Where, lost and all alone,

In the great emptiness of night I bow
And sob aloud for one returning touch
Of the dear hands that, Heaven having now,
I need so such!

JAMES WHITCOMB RILEY.

HIS CAREER ENDED.

DEATH OF JUDGE CLARK OF THE SUPERIOR COURT.

The Learned Jurist Succumbs to the Inroads of Tuberculosis from Which He Had Suffered for Years.

Ten Years' Service on the Bench to Which He Was Elevated When Younger Than Any Judge Ever Elected Here.

Supervisors and Federal and Superior Courts Honor His Memory and Fraternal Associates Prepare for the Last Rites.

William Hovey Clark, who for ten years had been a Judge of the Los Angeles Superior Court, died at 9 o'clock yesterday morning in the Sisters' Hospital from tuberculosis, with which he had been a sufferer for many years.

When Judge Clark came to Los Angeles in August, 1883, it was to escape the inclement winters of Boston, and with the hope of prolonging his life in the California climate. His hopes were realized, and for a number of years he moved among his associates, apparently as well as any of them. It was in an ill-advised summer trip in search of rest and recreation that the seeds were planted of the tuberculosis which eventually resulted in his death. This was in 1893, when Judge Clark joined a party consisting of Judge W. P. Wade, R. H. F. Variel, J. A. Graves and John E. Jackson for an expedition to the upper Kern River and an ascent of Mt. Whitney. The trip was a very hard one, and the campers returned worn out. Judge Wade never recovered from the exposure and over-exertion. Judge Clark had caught a bad cold by falling into the Kern River. This grew rapidly worse and a serious outcome of the illness was anticipated. He tempororily recovered, but from that day he was a sufferer from tuberculosis. The disease attacked not only his lungs, but the alimentary canal as well. He carried always a little silver inhaler for the relief of the air passages. Periods of acute illness were common, but until six months ago he continued his judicial duties.

Never has any Judge reached the bench in Los ngeles at such an early age as did Judge Clark. He was barely 28 when first elected. During his last years he had but one ambition—to reach the Supreme Bench of California. Twice he sought the nomination, but each time unsuccessfully. On the first occasion it was the A.P.A. influence that made it impossible for him to secure the local indorsement, the opposition to him being because he had been a patient at the Sisters' Hospital during a previous illness. Last fall he once more sought the nomination. Already he was a physical wreck, marked for speed death, but he tried desperately to win the coveted honor, declaring that once it was attained he would be perfectly willing to die, feeling his career complete. The convention held that a man in the advanced stages of a fatal disease would be an unwise choice for the Supreme Court, and in spite of the loyal endeavors of the Southern California delegation, Judge Clark's name was passed by.

Three years of his term were unexpired, but only a few weeks more of service on the bench were to be his. Judge Clark went to the Sisters' Hospital, rallied somewhat, and on the advice of his physicians went to the desert, hoping to be helped by the desert air. In a short time he returned to the Sisters' Hospital, little bettered in health, and there he stayed until the end. Some weeks ago his brother, Rev. Hobart Clark, a Unitarian minister of Brooklyn, N. Y., came to Los Angeles to bid him farewell. The brother's duties demanded his return to New York, so after a short stay he departed for the East. A month ago, when a fatal termination of the disease seemed certan, an old friend, Mrs. Schumacher, came to the hospital, and she had been ever since at the bedside of the dying man.

Not until two weeks ago did Judge Clark realize that his end was near. Since then his sufferings have been keen, although he made no complaint. The end came while he was under the influence of opiates.

The funeral will be held Wednesday morning. A number of fraternal organizations will participate. The deceased was a member of Pentalpha Lodge, No. 202, F. and A.M.; Signet Chapter, No. 57, R.A.M.; Los Angeles Commandery, No. 9, Knights Templar; El Malaikah Temple of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine; he was for some years head of the Los Angeles Elks, and he belonged to the California, Sunset and Creel clubs.

Judge Clarke's body will be taken to Elks' Hall on Wednesday, and will lie in state from noon until 1 p.m., when the Elks' funeral services will be held. Judge Clarke was Exalted Ruler of the lodge for two terms, and stood high in the order. After the services at Elks' Hall, the body will be escorted to Masonic Temple, and the Masons will then take charge of the funeral. From the Temple, the remains will be taken to Rosedale and there cremated.

For a number of years Judge Clark had lived at No. 403 Temple street, keeping the same rooms through all the changes of tenants of the house. Most of his leisure time was spent at the California Club. Although a man of rather reserved temperament, he had many friends, and visitors have been frequent for the sick man ever since he went to the hospital.

The Bar Association will meet at 10 o'clock this morning in Department Six to listen to eulogies on the deceased and to pass resolutions of respect.

The Supervisors yesterday passed the following resolutions of regret:

"Whereas, it has pleased the Supreme Judge of all Mankind by the hand of death to remove from this earth the Hon. W. H. Clark, one of the Superior judges of this county; therefore,

"Resolved, by the Board of Supervisors of the county of Los Angeles, that we deplore the loss of this learned jurist and distinguished public servant; and be it further

"Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be engrossed upon the minutes of this board.

"Resolved that, in honor of his memory, the Courthouse flag be displayed at half mast until after the funeral, and that the bench of Department Two, made vacant by his untimely death, be draped in mourning for the next thirty days."

The Superior courts were all adjourned yesterday as a mark or honor to the deceased, and when the Federal courts adjourned it was out of respect for his death.

JUDGE CLARK'S CAREER.

Judge Clark was a man of education and family. His grandfather was a district judge and his father a sheriff in Massachusetts. He was born in North Andover, Mass., March 16, 1860, and educated at Harvard. When barely 22 he was admitted to practice in the Massachusetts Supreme Court. A year later his health compelled him to come to California. His first legal experience on this Coast was as a member of the firm of Tonner, Foley & Clark of Pomona. After two years spent in Pomona he came to Los Angeles. A. W. Hutton and H. M. Smith, both of whom were subsequently elevated to the bench, took Clark into their firm. When Judge Hutton was appointed Superior Judge, in February, 1887, he turned his law practice over to his young associate, but it was only for a short time that Judge Clark continued practice.

When Judge Brunson resigned to become attorney for the Santa Fé, Judge Gardiner was appointed in his stead. Judge Clark was nominated by a Republican convention, and won the election, running ahead of the ticket. As he had only a few weeks more to serve, Judge Gardiner resigned, and Gov. Waterman appointed Judge Clark in his stead. In 1890 he was reelected for the six-year term, and again in 1896.

During his long service in Department Two, Judge Clark was principally engaged in hearing the probate cases. During the ten years many causes celebres came before him, among them the contest for the estate of B. Cohn, the famous Leonis struggle, John Wilson's suit to break the will of his wife, Mrs. "Biddy" Wilson, and the settlement of the estate of old Nick Creede, the Colorado miner.

Judge Clark was respected for his learning, his incisive quality of mind, and his fair-minded spirit. His demeanor on the bench was dignified and impersonal, and his decisions models in technical skill. He was seldom reversed by the Supreme Court.

For the past month Judge Campbell of San Bernardino has been sitting for Judge Clark, at the request of Gov. Gage. A considerable volume of judicial business is left unfinished by his death, as his illness has made it impossible to keep the docket clear.

CHURCH DECLINE.

[A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.]

NEW YORK, June 26.—Rev. James Chambers, who has just resigned the pastorate of Calvary Presbyterian Church, said in his farewell sermon that Presbyterianism was on the verge of a serious decline in the city. The church was beginning to be a losing investment. The people were too much inclined to business to look to a higher aim. To support a church, he thought, the presbytery should raise a fund of at least $500,000 with which to endow it.

"We have gone through our experience here, because there has not been a sufficient constituency to maintain a Presbyterian organization," said Dr. Chambers, "until the churches must go where the people are and stay there and save the people. I stated that this locality was inhabited almost entirely by people of another race. I want to say now that a certain rabbi told me he could buy for his people fifteen or twenty-five churches if a satisfactory price were arranged. At least five offers have been made for this property. When we send missionaries among the Jews we must put up the money. We cannot work among them any other way.

"There is another element that has a wide influence in this church. The discussions on the Bible have had a bad effect on the people. Doubt has been raised as to the very substructure of the Christian faith. This has made the task of the minister tenfold greater."

Dr. Chambers said that it was with deep regret that he relinquished his pastorate. The church will be sold for $100,000 for a synagogue, and the proceeds devoted to missionary work.

STEAMER BELGICA SAILS.

[A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.]

NEW YORK, June 26.—A dispatch to the Herald from Montevideo says the Antarctic steamer Belgica has sailed for La Plata. M. de Gorlache, leader of the late expedition, sums up, as follows, the result of his journey to the Antarctic regions:

First—Discovery of a canal which was named the Belgica Channel.

Third—Rectification of the numerous islands in the British admiralty maps.

Fourth—The water temperature permits the supposition that there is a continent far to the south.

SAUSAGE-MAKER BECKER.

Will Be Defended With Ida Sutterlin's Dime-museum Earnings.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, June 26.—Albert August Becker, the sausage-maker accused of murdering his wife and burning her body, was placed on trial today.

Ida Sutterlin, the girl for the love of whom Becker is said to have committed the murder, and who became his wife immediately after the late Mrs. Becker's disappearance, appeared in court with Becker's attorneys, and declares she will use in the sausage-maker's defense the money she had earned by the recent dime-museum exhibitions.

BEAUTIFUL WOMAN.

Ohio Centennial Commission Looking For the State's Handsomest.

[A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.]

TOLEDO (O.,) June 26.—The Toledo Press Club has issued a letter to the newspapers of Ohio, asking them to assist in determining the most beautiful woman in Ohio, the judges to be eminent artists of Cleveland, Cincinnati, Dayton and Columbus.

It is proposed by the Ohio Centennial Commission to determine by competitive balloting the most beautiful woman in the State, and she is to be heralded in all the designs to be used by the Ohio Exposition.

ALL ALONG THE LINE.

Anaheim reports short on walnuts, but long on celery. Thus does the working man find pleasant and surprising truth in the old saw: "'Tis an ill wind that blows good to nobody." A helpful moral, loaded with important knowledge, is scattered all through this paragraph. "Rotation," or "diversity," which?

The Orange County Plain Dealer says on the subject of irrigation: "What's the matter that the Anaheim district has to pay 80 cents while Santa Ana pays but 20? Is it the system? If so, change the system. Is it the men that manage the system? If so, change the men." This dictum is simply impregnable, and would make a first-class subject for the Anaheim Debating Club.

Sacramento is in the throes of municipal gestation, that morality may come and dethrone gambling. To all the world in general and Sacramento in particular is commended the Los Angeles method, built upon the historic and pregnant utterance: "The way to resume is to resume." An apt paraphrase is, the way to stop gambling is to stop gambling. With a multitude of other blessings already bestowed on the dyke-bound capital, this is included.

A Chamber of Commerce official of San Diego, speaking of local conditions, said: "He had expected to find the country suffering from the scarcity of water, as other parts of Southern California had suffered, but to his surprise he learned that this season would be one of the most prosperous ever experienced. Lemons are moving in fine shape, and every day sees several carloads sent East. The prevailing price is 2½ cents a pound." As an assuager of metropolitan grief this sort of prescription is wonderful.

That the calamity cry is often a boomerang is proven in the case of the valley about Perris. The New Era says: "The hay crop is all harvested, and yielded much better than was expected. The harvesting of grain is now in progress, and, though light, will exceed last season's crop by many thousands of bushels, or, as an old-timer expresses it, 'will double last season's output.'" There is a fine assortment of trite aphorisms that fit this case, one of which is, "How many things the calamity howler knows, that are not so!"

The Sacramento Record-Union tells of a "Bloomer social" as follows: "The 'bloomer' social given yesterday afternoon and evening at the residence of Mrs. Annie F. Paulk, No. 913 F street, was an unqualified success, considered from every standpoint. 'Bloomers' were in evidence everywhere. They were worn by the ladies, and literally covered the walls of the parlors, and in style were everything from the sunflower to the sweet pea." At this point in the narrative the snake editor fell under his table in spasms, and was revived only on reading the remainder of the item, as follows: "The 'bloomers' were posies, beautiful blossoms culled from the gardens of the queen city of the plains."

REMEMBER the needy. Save your cast-off clothing, beds, bedding or stoves, for poor families of the city. A request is also made for shoes and clothing for poor children to enable them to go to school. Drop a card to Capt. J. A. Frazier, northwest corner Los Angeles and Seventh streets, and he will call for anything you have to donate.

TO ARRIVE TOMORROW.

FIRST SPECIAL TRAIN LOADED WITH N.E.A. TEACHERS.

Five or Six Coaches of Colorado Delegates Left Denver Yesterday, and Will Be the First Body to Reach Los Angeles.

Tomorrow morning at 8:30 o'clock there should arrive at the Santa Fé depot the first special train loaded with teachers. These first visitors will constitute the Colorado contingent, and they will occupy five or six coaches. They left Denver yesterday, and it is thought that there are about 350 people in the delegation. A party of fifteen or twenty teachers from Shreveport, La., expected to leave for this city on Wednesday, which would bring them into Los Angeles, probably, on Friday. It is probable that they will constitute the second party of teachers to arrive, though by the time they reach this city there will be thousands more well on their way, and some of these may reach here on the same day. Saturday is considered the day when the flood of people will really begin in earnest.

The Reception Committee, Hotel Committee and Fruit Committee all met yesterday afternoon in the Chamber of Commerce building to perfect their arrangements for receiving visitors.

The list of registrations of rooms for teachers is still growing, though the local committee is very anxious to have other rooms registered, especially on the emergency list, as it would be very mortifying to everybody if the crowd should exceed the number arranged for. Rooms entered on the emergency list will only receive assignments in case the need is imperative.

Work of preparing the headquarters is well under way. This is at Nos. 425-429 South Spring street. The rooms are being newly painted, and counters are being put in place. Here will be located the bureau of information, hotel headquarters, ticket register, railway department and N.E.A. postoffice.

The stock of N.E.A. buttons has been exhausted, and a new supply of 20,000 is expected in a few days. That will make a total of 45,000 given out, but it now looks as though even that would be a short allowance.

The local committee feels well over a letter received from William George Bruce, who was local secretary of the Milwaukee convention. He says: "The enterprise displayed by the local committee is such as has not been manifested by any city heretofore."

The Southern California Academy of Sciences has issued invitations for a reception to be given to visiting instructors in science at Music Hall, No 231 South Spring street on Thursday evening, July 13. The programme will include addresses by leading scientists, music and refreshments.

A register has been opened at the Chamber of Commerce rooms for the visitors, to be used in assisting delegates to locate their friends.

The following is the list of State and other headquarters, as far as they have been decided on:

Arizona, room No. 42, Hotel Lillie; Appleton & Co., room No. 42, Westminster Hotel; Colorado, room No. 38, Westminster Hotel; California private schools, parlors A and B, Hollenbeck; California State schools, Van Nuys, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McClymonds, Oakland, and Miss B. Oliver, Los Angeles, in charge; Charleston, S. C., Westminster; Illinois, rooms Nos. 47 and 48, Westminster; Indian service, room No. 37, Westminster, Superintendent Miss Estelle Reel in charge; Idaho, room No. 225, Hotel Rosslyn; Kansas, rooms Nos. 30 and 31, Westminster; kindergarten, Hotel Bellevue Terrace; Kentucky, Hollenbeck; Minnesota, room No. 34, Westminster; Michigan, rooms Nos. 35 and 36, Westminster; Missouri, rooms Nos. 59 and 60, Westminster; Montana, room No. 255, Hotel Rosslyn; New England, rooms Nos. 51 and 52, Westminster; New York, ladies' parlor, Westminster; Ohio, parlors 12, A and B, Hollenbeck; Oregon, room No. 225, Hotel Rosslyn; San Diego, St. Vincent; South Dakota, rooms Nos. 39 and 40, Westminster; Nebraska, room No. 33, Westminster; Teachers' Federation, rooms Nos. 49 and 50, Westminster; Washington, room No. 255, Hotel Rosslyn; Wyoming, Westminster; Wisconsin, room No. 34, Westminster.

FOOLHARDY VENTURE.

Woman With Baby Tries to Coast Down First-street Hill.

A woman attempted the difficult task of riding down First-street hill yesterday afternoon on a bicycle, with a baby as ballast. Owing to the steepness of the grade she lost control of the pedals and crashed into the curb opposite the Police Station. Both the woman and child were hurled violently to the granite pavement, but, strange to say, the infant was not hurt in the least. The mother of the babe was not so fortunate. She paid for her foolhardiness with sundry bruises, the worst being on her left shoulder and right knee. The accident having occurred right in front of the Receiving Hospital, mother and babe were soon removed to it, where her injuries were attended to. She appeared to be more alarmed for the safety of the baby than for herself, and could scarcely be convinced that the little one was not fatally injured. The woman was booked as Mrs. Remlin, and she stated that she had her home with the family of E. N. Hopper. After a short stay at the hospital she was able to go home. She has probably learned the folly of perambulating her baby on a bicycle, especially on a 45-degree grade.

POSTOFFICE NOTES.

New Carrier Districts—Many Violations of Mail Regulations.

One of the requirements of the law for the carrier districts is that the persons having their mail delivered must have proper numbers on their houses, and in portions of the territory to be included in the new carrier districts the numbers are not up, and in other portions the houses are wrongly numbered, the owners having taken no pains to learn the correct numbers of their houses. The City Engineer can give the correct numbers.

Postmaster Mathews has recently had to impose a number of fines on persons who had mailed packages or papers with writing embraced in the wrappers. In one case a man mailed seven packages, each containing a bill for the goods, and he was obliged to pay a fine of $10 for each package. The postmaster says that such fines are imposed much more often than the general public imagines.

Red Cross Society.

The local Red Cross Society has received application from Harry Dahl, a Swedish sailor who has seen service on the hospital ship Relief, for work to enable him to earn sufficient to get through to Chicago. He is an able-bodied soldier, but has difficulty in getting employment.

A. B. Newburgh, late of the Thirteenth Minnesota, who was sent here an invalid by the San Francisco Red Cross Society, is at the Sisters' Hospital, where he seems to be gaining in strength. He is being assisted by the local Red Cross.

The rooms of the society, which are open Mondays from 2 to 3 o'clock, were visited by a large number of people yesterday.

Why Do People Drown?

"Because," said Mr. Johnson, an expert swimming teacher, "the ignorant mortal (ignorant of how to use his powers of buoyancy) when beyond his depth sets about to sink himself. So long as you keep this position," said the teacher, standing and throwing the head well back, placing the hands in the small of the back, the form assuming a slanting position—"so long as you remain as I am now, so long would you float."

Lining Department.

Every dressmaker and every woman who makes her own dresses will find our lining counter a very satisfactory place to trade. Satisfactory from three points—quality, variety and price.

The new Spun Glass Linings are a taffeta weave with all the luster and exquisiteness and rustle and lightness of the very finest imported lining silks. Spun-glass Linings come in black, white and every imaginable shade; one-fourth less than the cost of silk.

Skirtings.

Fancy Plaid and Striped Mercerized Moreen Skirtings; beautiful light and dark color combinations; in a dozen different patterns; instead of $1.00 a yard at 75c.

Parasols at $2.00.

This is the lot advertised on Saturday of last week. Beautiful Taffeta Silks in plain colors, fancy stripes, fancy plaids, all over-tucked and handsome creations in chiffon and lace. We said Saturday that many of the parasols in the lot were reduced from $5.00, this was an understatement—we should have said that many in the lot were reduced from $6.00. None have heretofore sold for less than $3.00. A hundred styles to select from.

Tamboured Swiss Curtains.

Last week we advertised a very large lot of Tamboured Swiss Curtains and curtain material by the yard. The lot is so large, the prices so very low and the goods so very good that we deem the story worthy of reproduction.

Five lots go by the yard like this, 65c quality at 50c; 50c quality at 40c; 25c quality at 20c; all of them 45 inches broad.

QUESTIONS OF BONDS.

CITY COUNCIL DISPOSES OF SEVERAL OF THEM.

Preliminary Ordinance for a Water System Adopted—School Bonds to Be Segregated.

The Southern Pacific is Making a Hard Fight to Obtain a Ferry Privilege in San Pedro Bay.

The Board of Supervisors Meet—The Newly-elected Members to the County Board of Education.

The ordinance of intention for the calling of an election to vote on the proposed waterworks bonds to the amount of not more than $2,100,000, was adopted by the Council yesterday by unanimous vote. This ordinance will have to be published two weeks, and after that time the final ordinance will be adopted in which the date of the election and the exact amount of the bond issue will be stated.

The Council has declared for the segregation of the grammar school and High School bonds. In the report of the Finance Committee submitted yesterday it was recommended that these two issues be separated, and that the final ordinance be adopted at an adjourned meeting to be held Friday. That there may be no delay a special committee was appointed to prepare this ordinance by inserting the names of the election officers and indicating the location of the voting places.

The contract for the erection of twelve new engine-houses has been finally awarded to Henry Aufdenkamp. A spirited contest was made over the matter yesterday by attorneys for brick contractors, but in spite of legal objections offered the City Attorney decided that the Council had the power to award the contract finally, and that was done.

The report of the Gas and Light Committee recommending the abandonment of the proposition to issue bonds for a city lighting system was fully approved by the Council yesterday. Inasmuch as there are several other bond issues to be made the Council decided to make the lighting matter wait for a determination of some of the other issues.

A new fender ordinance was adopted yesterday in which the style of fender to be used is described in detail. The description tallies with the model recommended by the Mayor. It will be adopted by all street railway companies of this city. The penalty clause of the new ordinance has been pronounced to be very weak.

The Board of Supervisors spent most of the time yesterday listening to the arguments, pro and con the granting of a special ferry privilege in San Pedro Bay to the Southern Pacific. The franchise is being vigorously opposed by the Terminal Railway, and the proceedings before the board yesterday were very spicy. The matter was continued until tomorrow morning at 9:30 o'clock.

Luther G. Brown and W. H. Wright were elected to the County Board of Education yesterday to fill the vacancies caused by the expiration of the term of office of Prof. Chilcote and Dr. Plummer. Mr. Brown is of this city, and Mr. Wright of San Gabriel.

[AT THE CITY HALL.]

FIRST BOND ORDINANCE.

PRELIMINARY STEP TOWARD A CITY WATER SYSTEM.

Several Bond Propositions Considered by the Council—School Issue to Be Segregated—New Fender Ordinance Adopted—Engine-House Contract Approved.

When the members of the City Council arrived at the City Hall yesterday morning they were confronted by a force of lobbyists the like of which had not been encountered there for many weeks. They had congregated in the halls, invaded the committee room, flocked into the Council chamber and were occupying the extra chairs in the various department offices on the second floor. The prospect of a settlement of the street-lighting question had attracted some of these lobbyists, but this class of them was far in the minority. By far the greater number had appeared to do what they could either to aid or defeat the proposed awarding of the contract for the construction of new engine-houses. Every Councilman had to run the gauntlet, and more than one of them was cornered and begged to vote this or that way. For nearly an hour the "work" of the lobbyists continued and the result was that the morning session of the Council did not begin until nearly 10:30 o'clock. It had been supposed that the question of the award of the engine-house contract had been settled at the special meeting held last Thursday, but the brick men had by no means given up the fight, and subsequent events showed they had a card up their sleeves with which they hoped to finally capture the contract.

At the opening of the morning session the City Auditor's financial reports and the monthly report of the City Treasurer were referred to the Finance Committee.

The City Clerk officially notified the Council of the receipt by him of the certificate of the Secretary of State with reference to the annexation of Garvanza and the University precinct. This finally completed the annexation of these suburbs, and the Secretary of State's certificate was ordered placed of record. Ordinances were then adopted annexing Garvanza to the First Ward and the University precinct to the Fifth Ward.

The City Attorney presented a draft of an ordinance prohibiting the sprinkling of clothing at laundries by blowing water from the mouth, but at the request of an attorney representing the Chinese laundries the consideration of the matter was postponed for one week.

ENGINE-HOUSE CONTEST.

Accompanying the weekly report of the City Attorney was the contract and bond of Henry Aufdenkamp for the construction of twelve new engine-houses. The contract had been signed by Aufdenkamp and had been approved as to form by the City Attorney, but the bond, on which a bond company is surety, had not been approved by the Finance Committee. When the contract was presented there was a disposition on part of some of the Councilmen to refer it to that committee, but Mr. Toll stated that there was no doubt about the action of that committee, and he, after consulting the other members of the committee, reported verbally, recommending that the bond be approved. The report of the committee was adopted. Mr. Vetter then moved that the contract be approved, and while that motion was pending Judge McKinley appeared in the interests of W. E. Thornton, the brick men and generally all those opposed to the approval of the contract by which Aufdenkamp could proceed with the work. He presented what the opposition had been led to believe was their trump card. It consisted of the reading to the Council of a section of an act of March, 1895, which provides that when a city is about to let such a contract it must advertise for bids, and upon receiving them the City Clerk must prepare a transcript of them, in which all of the points of bidding shall be clearly stated. The law then provides that this transcript shall be published for five days, and that after such publication the Council is empowered to let the contract. Judge McKinley stated that this course had not been pursued in the engine-house bidding, and that, therefore, as the law had not been complied with, if the contract were awarded under the circumstances it would not be legal.

He spoke at length upon the justice of the matter, saying it was unfair to the citizens to let a contract, when, by readvertising, buildings of brick could be secured at a lower price than what the city proposed to pay for frame ones. Attorney Finlayson also addressed the Council on behalf of Thornton, declaring that he had not been justly dealt with.

Attorney John T. Jones, representing Aufdenkamp, replied to the statements of the other attorneys, saying the city had an opportunity, if Judge McKinley's contention was correct, to secure its engine-houses for nothing. He said Aufdenkamp was willing and anxious to proceed, and if after the contract was completed it was discovered that it was an illegal contract, the city would not have to pay a cent on it. He declared that Aufdenkamp was ready to take all chances, all he desired being that the work be started as soon as possible. For that reason Mr. Jones appealed to the Council to award the contract, and stop all the child's play that he thought the other side had been guilty of. The City Attorney was asked for an opinion as to the law point raised by Judge McKinley, and stated that he would like to look into the matter, and to give him that opportunity the consideration of the contract was postponed until the afternoon session.

CITY ENGINEER'S REPORT.

The City Engineer presented the following ordinances for street work, all of which were adopted under suspension of the rules:

Final ordinance establishing the grade of Rice avenue, from Main street to Moneta avenue; ordinance of intention to change and establish the grade of Pennsylvania avenue from Michigan avenue to Kearney street; to establish the grade of Essex street, from Fourteenth street to Washington street; to lay a cement walk six feet wide along the north side of Fourth street, from Olive street to Grand avenue; to sidewalk Manitou avenue from Avenue 24 to Alta street; to construct a cement curb along each side of Sixth street, from Main street to San Pedro street; to construct a cement curb along each side of Maple avenue, from Seventh street to Ninth street; to construct a cement curb and cement walk five feet wide along each side of Seventh street, from Maple avenue to San Pedro street; to construct a cement curb along each side of San Julian street, from Fifth street to Seventh street; to construct a cement curb and cement walk five feet wide along each side of San Julian street, from Seventh street to Ninth street; to construct a cement curb along the north side of Ninth street, from Main street to San Pedro street; to construct a cement curb along each side of Winston street, from the first alley east of Los Angeles street, to San Pedro street.

The communication from the Board of Police Commissioners notifying the Council of the intention to strictly enforce the law with reference to the police pension fund and containing a statement of what moneys must be applied to that fund, was referred to the Finance Committee. This enforcement will begin July 1.

CITY CLERK'S REPORT.

Accompanying the City Clerk's report were a number of street ordinances. They were for improvements for which the preliminary ordinances had been adopted, and against which there had either been no protests or such protests as were presented had been denied. These ordinances were therefore the final ones ordering the work of the improvements. All were adopted under suspensions of the rules, and provide for the following: Improvement of Twenty-ninth street, between Central and Naomi avenues; San Marino street, between Hoover street and Vermont avenue; curbing and sidewalking of Court street, between Hill and Olive streets; improvement of Fourteenth street, between Stanford and Central avenues; Hobson street, from Eleventh to Pico; Matthews street, from First street to Brooklyn avenue; Kohler street, between Sixth and Seventh streets; Lyon avenue between Fourth and Fifth streets; Stanley avenue from San Pedro street to the south city boundary; Linden street, between Eighth an Ninth streets; sewering of Witmer street from First to Silver streets; Easton street from Alameda street to a point near Kohler street; portions of Crocker street under ordinance No. 5784; Twenty-fifth street between Toberman and Hoover streets; Tenth street from San Pedro street to a point near Crocker street; portions of Short and Carolina streets, under ordinance No. 5791; Twenty-first street and Park Grove avenue under ordinance No. 5792; improvement of Pellissier street between Eleventh and Pico streets.

The reports of the Sewer Committee with reference to petitions for sewer connections and the Zanja Committee as to the supply of water to Westlake Park, heretofore published, were adopted without division.

REPORT ON CHINATOWN.

"Beginning on Apablasa street, about No. 300, there is a row of houses, mostly brick, which have in their rear privy vaults and sinks not connected with the sewer. In many of these places the floors, some board, some brick and some earth, are very damp, the ventilation is very poor and the places are very dark. Some of these buildings are being sewered at present. Just behind some of these buildings are corrals, on one side of which are stables, and the lot is used for sorting and cleaning vegetables. Piles of vegetables may be seen on the ground, which is covered with dust and manure. There are also several wells, the water from which is used for drinking purposes, which have been condemned, and I am informed by Mr. Sepulveda, have been filled up since my last visit.

"On Apablasa and Marchessault streets the Chinamen are in the habit of piling their vegetables in the shallow gutters at the side of the street or on the extreme edge of the sidewalk. Considering that the streets are crowded with teams most of the time, which mekes dust and accumulates manure to such an extent that to think of eating those vegetables is repulsive to any palate except those of the vendors, a place should be provided for a market, or racks put up in front of the stores, or some other arrangement made by which the vegetables could be handled in a more cleanly manner.

"East of No. 334 on Marchessault street the buildings are not sewered, and the same state of affairs exists on Juan street. On the east side of Juan street there is a large corral, where horses and vegetables are washed and the water allowed to run over the lot. The streets are in bad condition and should be graded so that during the rainy season the water will not stand, as has been the condition heretofore.

"Mr. Sepulveda and Mr. Shafer, the owners of about nine-tenths of Chinatown, have expressed themselves as desirous of doing anything within reason to put Chinatown in a sanitary condition. Mr. Sepulveda has been putting in a sewer for the past two weeks and is still continuing the work."

The report was referred to the Board of Public Works and Sewer Committee.

FENDERS AND OTHER MATTERS.

On motion of Mr. Blanchard the Mayor was requested to return to the Council without his approval the fender ordinance, which he had stated he had intended to approve. Mr. Blanchard explained that there was a necessity for making certain changes in the ordinance before it finally became a law.

In order that the Council can wind up the business of this fiscal year, Mr. Toll moved that when it adjourned it be to meet again Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The motion was adopted.

On motion of Mr. Baker, the Mayor was authoried to sign on behalf of the city a petition for the improvement of Lake Shore avenue. The city owns a large property frontage on this thoroughfares, one of the parks fronting on that avenue. The city's signature to the petition is necessary to secure the improvement.

G. A. Brown, to whom was awarded the contract for the improvement of a portion of Albany street, notified the Council of his desire to throw up the contract. He stated as his reason that, owing to the recent decision of the courts in street-improvement matters and to the difficulty of selling street-improvement bonds, he has decided not to take the chances of losing all he would have to spend to perform the work and improve the street. The matter was referred to the Board of Public Works.

Fire Commissioner Herron was granted a leave of absence of two weeks beginning tomorrow.

In order that when the Council orders a codification of the ordinances of the city it will be possible to secure copies of all ordinances, Mr. Toll moved that the City Clerk be directed to keep a separate file of ordinances in such a manner as to make the separation of them easy. It was explained that the Clerk is doing this, but the Council was reminded that a previous City Clerk took with him when he left the office a complete file of the ordinances, declaring that he had kept them only for his own benefit. The motion was adopted.

WATER BOND ORDINANCE.

The Water Supply Committee reported, presenting a modified form of the ordinance of intention for the calling of a water bond election. The original ordinance for this purpose had been referred to that committee at the last meeting of the Council. The committee reported on several other matters, which reports were approved. With reference to the ordinance of intention for the water bond election the report was as follows:

"The ordinance declares the intention of the City Council to, first, acquire the possession of the improvements made to the municipal water system, during the term of the lease and to pay the award of the arbitrators or the value thereof; second, to construct a system of headworks; third, to construct a conduit connecting headworks with reservoir; fourth, construct a storage and retaining reservoir; and, fifth, construct a main pipe line of sufficient length and size to convey an adequate supply of water from the reservoir to a proper connection or connections with the present distributing system.

"The construction of the above mentioned features in addition to the acquisition of the possession of the improvements made to the municipal plant are deemed necessary by your committee in order to form, when finished, a complete system for water supply within the area now supplied. These adjuncts are essential to the operation by the municipality of its present plant when possession is secured by the payment of the award and they are equally requisite should it ultimately be decided to construct a new system entire. Only such features of a supplemental nature have been thus included as were absolutely necessary for the service to the public of an adequate supply of fresh, pure water.

In order that the action of your honorable body upon the ordinance may be taken in the presence of full intelligence as to the ultimate cost of all of the above described items, including the amount of the award, your committee has procured from the City Engineer information, in advance of his final detailed estimate which will form the basis of the final ordinance herein, to the effect that the total cost will not exceed $2,100,000. And in order that the action of your honorable body in adopting this ordinance may be within determined limitations as to the total amount of the proposed bond issue as well as to the items for which said outlay is intended, your committee has inserted the limitation of $2,100,000, as the total cost of all of said improvements, including the award."

The ordinance was read, and without discussion was adopted unanimously under a suspension of the rules.

FINANCE COMMITTEE.

The Finance Commitee recommended that the request of the Erckenbrecher Soap Company for permission to peddle samples without reference to the license law be denied. The recommendation was adopted.

With reference to the matter of the proposed several bond issues soon to be made by the city, the Finance Committee reported as follows:

"Upon a careful investigation of data furnished by the Treasurer and Auditor, it appears conclusive that ample margin is afforded for the issuance of bonds for school purposes to the full amount of $420,000, without prejudice in any degree to the water bond issue.

"Accompanying the attorney's report is the communication of the Board of Education asking, in view of the City Attorney's report, that the amount of the proposed bond issue for school purposes be reduced to $400,000, so as to bring the total bonded debt within the $2,000,000, provided these bonds were ultimately issued.

"The information having been imparted to this committee that the Gas and Light Committee had recommended to your honorable body the abandonment of the proposed issue of bonds for the construction of the distributing portion of a municipal lighting system, we beg to report the following recommendations in disposal of the communications before cited:

"We recommend that the present ordinance of intention to call an election for the purpose of voting upon the question of issuing bonds for public-school purposes to the amount of $420,000 be allowed to run to maturity.

"We recommend that the City Attorney be instructed to present at an adjourned meeting of the Council, to be held Friday, June 30, the final ordinance calling the election for the above-named purpose on the earliest date possible, in keeping within the provisions of the law.

"We recommend that said final ordinance provide for the separate submission to the people of the questions of bonds for grammar schools and bonds for high-school purposes."

The several recommendations of the committee were adopted.

CITY LIGHTING ABANDONED.

The Gas and Light Committee reported, recommending that the plan of constructing a city electrical distributing system for street lighting be abandoned. The reasons for this action are stated in the report of the committee, published Sunday morning. That report has been changed so as not to include the recommendation that the contract for lighting the streets be awarded to the Los Angeles Electric Company, that recommendation being somewhat immature. It will be presented at the first meeting after the 1st of July. The report of the committee was adopted.

Fifteen bids for the contract for furnishing hay to the fire department for one year were received and referred to the Fire and Water Committee. Bids for the improvement of Gladys avenue between Fifth and Sixth, and to improve Twenty-fourth street between Central and Griffith avenues, were referred to the Board of Public Works. Three bids for the contract for repairing the gooseneck sprinkling hydrants for one year were referred to the Fire and Water Committee.

Mr. Toll called attention to the necessity of arranging the precincts of the city in such a manner that a legal vote might be taken on the coming school-bond election. He stated that there was some special arrangement of the voting places required by law, and that it would be necessary for the Council to comply strictly with the law. He therefore moved that a special committee of three be appointed to arrange the election precincts and to see to it that all the names of the elecion officers be ready for submission at the adjourned meeting of the Council Friday afternoon. The motion prevailing, President Silver appointed as members of the committee Messrs. Toll, Pessell and Lauder.

At the request of the Echo Park Improvement Association the City Engineer was instructed to make certain surveys desired by that organization with reference to the future improvement of Echo Park.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The Engine-house Contract Finally Awarded—New Fender Ordinance.

At the opening of the afternoon session the clerk reported that pursuant to request the Mayor had returned without approval the so-called fender ordinance. Councilman Blanchard moved that the vote by which that ordinance had been adopted be reconsidered and the motion prevailed. He then submitted a new ordinance on the same subject, in which, instead of providing for a recognized kind of fender, it is provided that such a fender as is technically described in the ordinance shall be placed on all street cars operated in this city. The technical description agrees with the demands made by the Mayor upon the two companies and the description of the kind of fender to be used agrees with what the Mayor decided was the proper device to be used in this city. The new ordinance was adopted as read. It is decidedly weak in the matter of penalty for a violation. While it provides that a penalty shall follow a violation, it fails to stipulate who shall pay such penalty, whether the motorman operating the car without a fender shall be fined, or whether the company shall be prosecuted. This failure in the ordinance was pointed out to some of the Councilmen, but they voted for it just the same.

APPROVED THE CONTRACT.

The City Attorney reported as follows on the engine-house contract matter:

"With reference to your request for an opinion as to whether or not it was necessary or is necessary in the instance of bids or proposals, to build the so-called engine-houses in said city of Los Angeles, to publish an abstract thereof for a period of five days before making the award of said contract, as provided for in the act of March 27, 1895, I would state that said act of March 27, 1895, is made applicable only to cities having a population of over one hundred thousand inhabitants.

"In the case of in re Mitchell, reported in 120 Cal. at page 348, the Supreme Court held that the census of 1897 has no force or power to affect any act passed prior thereto. The court says in that case: 'It is true that the census shall be the official State census of said city, but that declaration has little, if any, significance, because there is no such thing—at least our attention has not been called to such a thing—as a State census, and it is difficult to understand how a city census can be part of a State census which never had an existence.

"Under such conditions there is now nothing official to determine what the present population of the city of Los Angeles is, other than the Federal census of 1890, nor will there be prior to the taking of the Federal census of 1900. Therefore I am of the opinion that the act of March 27, 1895, providing for the erection of municipal buildings, reported at page 242 of the statutes of 1895, being confined to cities of over 100,000 inhabitants, has no force within the city of Los Angeles. There being no charter provision requiring the publication of an abstract of the bids offered, and no other act affecting the city of Los Angeles containing such a requirement, I am further of the opinion that it was not necessary to make such a publication and the award heretofore made, as far as this matter is concerned, was a valid one, and your honorable body is now in a position to pass upon the contract prepared."

Judge McKinley stated with reference to the City Attorney's opinion, that he had not taken up the point of the present population of the city, but he was not satisfied that his contention made at the morning session was not a good one. He stated that inasmuch as there was a doubt as to the matter it was the duty of the Council to defer action until the matter was finally settled. He raised an additional point with reference to the advertisement for bids in which it was stated that a bond of 30 per cent. would be required when the law provided for a 50 per cent. bond. Inasmuch as the law with reference to the bond had been complied with in the contract, the Council did not see fit to defer action or take cognizance of the alleged inaccuracy in the bond. On motion to approve the contract all members voted in the affirmative, except Messrs. Toll and Lauder. The former made a speech explaining his vote against the motion, and President Silver explained fully his reasons for voting for it. The president contended that there was no other fair course left open to the Council inasmuch as the bids had been made in good faith and there was no evidence of collusion in the bidding. He did not think there was any assurance that the Council would receive any lower bids if there was a readvertisement.

For the fourth time, P. J. Richmond was granted an extension of time in which to complete the improvement of Dewey avenue, being given fifteen days.

The proposed ordinance regulating the business of housemoving was presented and after some discussion it was held up until the next meeting, being referred meantime to the Board of Public Works.

A number of requisitions were adopted for supplies for the hand street sweepers, as work of this kind is to be resumed July 1. The same number of men will be employed as before hand sweeping was discontinued, two months ago.

THAT FERRY FIGHT.

S. P. WANT A BOAT LINE ACROSS SAN PEDRO BAY.

The Terminal Opposes Octopus's Enterprise—Corporation Attorneys Do Some Scathing Scrapping Before the Board of Supervisors.

Several threatening growls and some spirited spittings at repartee made things lively and interesting at the sessions of the Board of Supervisors yesterday. Two corporations were pitted against each other, and the contest was all about that ferry franchise in San Pedro Bay. The Southern Pacific is very eager to ply a ferry in the harbor and the Los Angeles Terminal Railway is bitterly opposed to any such proceeding.

At the meeting of the board last week, John A Muir filed an application for a special privilege to maintain a ferry across the inner bay from San Pedro to Terminal Island. Along with the application came vigorous protests from the Terminal Railway people, from the Terminal Land Company, and from Ferd K. Rule, as a member of the Catalina Yacht Club. The hearing in the matter was at that time continued until yesterday morning, on account of the illness of T. E. Gibbon, attorney for the Terminal. Mr. Gibbon was on hand yesterday, and, although still looking ill, was full of fight and persistent in maintaining that the board would be doing very wrong to allow the ferry to be established.

At this point the matter of adjourning for the day, out of respect to the death of Hon. W. H. Clark was considered, but after a brief discussion, it was voted to proceed to business, with the understanding that the board adjourn on the date of the funeral and attend the services in a body.

After Mr. Gibson, who represented the interests of the Southern Pacific, had made the formal statement that the application for a ferry privilege was before the Supervisors, Mr. Gibbons asked that the protest be read to the board, and this was done by Attorney Thomas.

"Now, does the Southern Pacific claim to own both landings of the proposed ferry?" asked Mr. Gibbon.

"We have so stated in our application, and it was made under oath," replied Mr. Gibson. But Chairman Davis averred that no testimony had been offered in support of such ownership.

At this point ex-City Attorney Dunn wanted to know if Mr. Gibbon would admit the ownership by the Southern Pacific of the San Pedro end, to which Mr. Gibbon assented that he would.

"Then as to the other end," said Mr. Dunn, "I presume that you admit that the title to the Catalina Yacht Club property lies in B. W. Foster? I represent Mr. Foster and he gives his consent to the use of the land by the Southern Pacific."

With this assertion a long discussion arose between Messrs. Dunn and Gibbon as to whether the latter was entitled to appear for Mr. Foster, and whether Mr. Foster could be bound by any action which Mr. Dunn might authorize. The question was finally left unsettled.

H. J. Stocker, a civil engineer, was then sworn to testify as to the exact point of the proposed ferry on the San Pedro side. Mr. Stocker said that that terminus lay in the Southern Pacific right-of-way, on a high embankment or trestle-work, and that at certain conditions of the tide there was water on either side for hundreds of yards. Such a landing, he said, would be 2000 feet from any public highway, and, on account of the marshes, a great distance from solid ground. The only approach possible to the landing would be by the Southern Pacific Railroad.

After Mr. Stocker had finished testifying, Mr. Gibbon touched briefly on the subject of the board's jurisdiction to grant a franchise and its power to allow special privileges. He said that before the matter were submitted for final settlement, he thought he could prove to the board that it would have no jurisdiction to grant the petition on the Southern Pacific.

Mr. Gibbon then came to the claim in Mr. Muir's application that the ferry would be of great benefit to the public. "They have asked for this franchise," said Mr. Gibbon hotly, "on the ground that it is necessary for public convenience. Well, the public does not mean merely the passengers on the Southern Pacific. It means everybody, whether they travel on foot or in wheelbarrows."

"It wasn't Mr. Muir's intention to use the ferry for vehicles, was it?" asked Chairman Davis.

"Then the ferry should not be granted on the ground of public convenience, and the latter is the ground that supports your jurisdiction," said Mr. Gibbon. "The ferry will have no opportunity to carry vehicles unless an immense lot of money is spent in building approaches."

"I suppose," said Deputy District Attorney Wilbur, "that Mr. Gibbon will concede that ordinary vehicles will be able to cross the ferry."

Here Mr. Gibson broke in. "Mr. Gibbon knows well enough what we propose. In fact, he knows more than we do about what is to be done. He seems to know all about it."

"Well, I know a good deal about it," said Mr. Gibbon, significantly.

Then Mr. Gibson let a hot shell fly and said that as far as cost of construction and maintenance was concerned, he supposed that cut no figure in the controversy.

Mr. Gibbon retorted with a scathing remark about the significance of cost to the Southern Pacific.

"We are usually able to pay for what we get, at least," replied Mr. Gibson.

"Yes, you generally manage to pay. You paid over considerable to keep the harbor away from San Pedro," quickly responded Mr. Gibbon.

"This is getting pretty harrowing, gentlemen," said Mr. Dunn, wreathed in a broad smile.

Mr. Wilbur then took occasion to point out that as yet no evidence had been produced that would even tend to show the proposed ferry a public convenience. The Terminal people then took a last shot before resting awhile.

Mr. Stocker retired from the stand after stating that, at high tide, the proposed landing was in the middle of a sheet of water that stretched away for a radius of about 2300 feet; and Mr. Gibbon sat down after saying that approaches could not be constructed without the consent of the government.

Mr. Gibson then put J. C. McClure upon the stand. He is a civil engineer for the Southern Pacific Company, and stated that he had had sixteen years' experience in his profession, and was thoroughly familiar with the inner San Pedro Harbor. He thought the proposed ferry would be a great convenience to the people of Wilmington, and also to Los Angeles people who visit Terminal Island, on account of quicker time schedules by the Southern Pacific. One boat capable of accommodating fifty passengers, making two trips a day, would, in his opinion, bear all the traffic. Two men would be sufficient to manage the boat, which might safely be propelled by steam, gasoline or electricity. The cost of fitting up the landings he placed at $5000.

At this juncture the board took its noon recess and adjourned until 1:30 p.m., when Hancock Banning was sworn. He testified that he had been in the transportation business for thirty years. The cost of a ferry boat he estimated at $2500 to $3000, and thought it should run at about seven miles an hour. It ought to draw at least three feet of water, although three and a half or four feet would be preferable.

Mr. McClure was then put on the stand for cross-examination. He stated that his estimates in the morning had been too high, and he lowered it for the two landings to $2015, the figures given by the Southern Pacific's engineer in San Francisco. The cost of on approach he cited as $11,500. This he stated would have to be built across to Smith's Island where the Kerckhoff-Cuzner lumber yards are located, that the islet was private property, and that the nearest public highway was some distance away. Upon further cross-examination, Mr. McClure was unable to state why in his direct examination he had thought two boats would be sufficient to carry the passenger traffic, and after all sorts of queries that he answered very unsatisfactorily, Mr. Gibbon asked him:

"Wasn't it because you know that there are two Southern Pacific trains to be met daily?"

Here were more evidences that another wordy bout was fast coming, but Mr. Gibbon fired the question in another form: "Or was it because two boats would accommodate all the public or just that portion that would travel over the Southern Pacific?"

After another brush at words between the atterneys, it was Mr. Gibson who answered that two boats would carry all the traffic, not part of it.

Mr. Gibson then suggested that 10 cents per fare each way be fixed as a maximum charge per passenger, although he thought that, should the ferry franchise be granted, the fare would probably be 5 cents.

George J. Denis was the next witness. Mr. Denis stated that he was a property-owner at Terminal Island and thoroughly familiar with the proposted ferry and its route. In his opinion he averred most emphatically that it would be of incalculable benefit to Terminal Islanders on account of the very poor service as rendered at present by the Terminal Railway. He said it often took two hours to make the trip down from the city, and that the trains seldom started or arrived on time. He characterized the Terminal's locomotives as "second or third-rate engines," and said that passengers often had to go ahead to assist the engineer in running his machine. Upon cross-examination Mr. Denis named specific instances when incidents such as he had described had happened. Such testimony as this Mr. Gibbon was well-nigh unprepared for.

Mr. Dunn then stated that the testimony which they had just been producing was not so much to bolster up their contention as it was to give the data necessary to enable the Board of Supervisors to fix regulations, in case it saw fit to grant the special privilege Mr. Muir was asking for. It was finally stipulated that a ferry should be run on just the terms submitted in evidence.

Mr. Gibbon then took the floor and stated that he could not proceed with his argument until he should have examined two more witnesses, both of whom could not be present yesterday. On account of the unmeasured onslaught made by Mr. Denis, he was eager to have Mr. Hynes, the general manager of the Terminal Company, put on the stand to prove by train records the efficiency of the road, and the other witness was Mr. Hawgood, an engineering expert, who could point out, he said, in definite way, how the proposed ferry would injure the inner harbor and hinder work which the United States government might soon undertake.

The Southern Pacific attorneys poohpoohed the idea that a "little jerkwater ferry" could ever stand in the way of any improvement that the government might wish to make, but Mr. Gibbon replied that, if ever the government should need that land or right-of-way after a special privilege had been granted to the Southern Pacific, he was sure it would have to pay an immense sum for what now might seem almost worthless.

Deputy District Attorney Wilbur then asked Mr. Gibson if he would object to inserting the clause in the bond, stipulating that in case the government should want the land, the Southern Pacific's franchise or privilege should terminate.

Mr. Gibson replied that he would not like to consent to anything of that sort, merely for the reason, he affirmed, that it was absolutely unnecessary.

Nothing further could be done in the matter until Mr. Gibbon had been given an opportunity to present the merits of his contention fully, and, after some strenuous objection from Mr. Gibson and Mr. Dunn, the matter was continued for final hearing until tomorrow morning at 9:30 o'clock.

COUNTY SCHOOL BOARD.

The Supervisors Elect Two New Members to Fill Vacancies.

Luther G. Brown of Los Angeles and W. H. Wright of San Gabriel were elected by the Supervisors yesterday morning to fill the vacancies on the County Board of Education caused by the expiration of office of G. H. Chilcote and Dr. A. W. Plummer.

There were a large number of aspirants to election and the board had no easy task in selecting two men out the many who came highly recommended and enthusiastically supported. County Clerk Bell, who is acting tempararily as clerk, read petitions from the following candidates: W. W. Tritt, Arthur Van Gorder, J. M. McPherron, G. S. Trowbridge of San Fernando, Luther G. Brown, F. W. Stein, Jr., A. W. Plummer and W. H. Wright.

When the application of Mr. Guthrie was read, Chairman Davis withdrew it from consideration, stating that Mr. Guthrie was the candidate from his district, and, having placed Dr. Pallette on the board last year, he had thus used up his share of patronage. Dr. Plummer, who was a candidate for reëlection, was also withdrawn by Chairman Davis, as was also W. H. Tritt by Supervisor Wirsching.

Before casting their ballots the board took a recess of five minutes and talked the matter over among themselves. When the board convened again, Supervisor Hanley, who is a Democrat, spoke in behalf of his candidate, Prof. G. S. Trowbridge of San Fernando. He said: "Of course the Board is at liberty to elect whomsoever it pleases. There is not one of us who would say that our schools are in politics. Let us show our good faith in this matter, and if it appears that a Democrat is the best man, he ought to be elected. There is not a politician in Los Angeles who would dare face an audience here and state that our school government is a matter of politics. Our support ought therefore to go to Prof. Trowbridge."

President Davis agreed in the remarks made by Supervisor Henley, and a secret ballot was taken, with the following result: McPherson, 2 votes; Trowbridge, 2; Brown, 3; Wright, 3. Thereupon Messrs. Brown and Wright were declared elected.

Mr. Wright, who is a brother-in-law of Supervisor Longden, is one of the most prominent educators of the county, and Mr. Brown is an instructor in the commercial department of the Los Angeles High School.

The term of office on the Board of Education is two years and the place pays $5 per diem and mileage. The new board stands now as follows: County Superintendent J. H. Strine, E. M. Pallette, J. J. Morgan, Luther G. Brown and W. H. Wright.

BRIEFS.

Miscellaneous, Legal and Other Items.

IN RESPECT. The departments of the Superior Court were closed yesterday out of respect to the memory of Hon. W. H. Clark, for several years the Judge of Department Two.

ATTACHMENT PROCEEDINGS. The License Tax Collector reported to the Supervisors yesterday that M. L. Polaski & Co., William Guenther and the Palace Restaurant Company have refused to pay the license fixed for the transaction of such business in an ordinance passed by the board. Pursuant to this information, the District Attorney has been instructed to bring attachment proceedings for the collection of the license in the name of the county against each of the parties.

NEW ATHLETIC CLUB. The Southern California Social and Athletic Club incorporated yesterday. The new club is to be located in Los Angeles. The directors are Joseph Cohen, John F. Lincoln, William Hayden, Oliver L. Chadwick, A. H. McNara.

TO FORECLOSE. The Equitable Building and Loan Association of the United States has begun suit against Erna F. Teuelson to foreclose on a mortgage alleged to have been executed to secure a promissory note of $500, bearing interest at 10 4-5 per cent. from January 1, 1899.

Anna E. Walnut is suing H. S. Eberle to foreclose on an alleged promissory note of $625, with interest at 10 per cent. from March 31, 1897.

TO RECOVER ON A BOND. Thomas L. Tally has begun suit against H. Parsons, H. L. Randall and J. G. Ganahl to recover $800 on a bond alleged to have been violated in the erection of a cottage in Carson & Currier's subdivision.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

Delegates to Southwestern Commercial Congress—Exhibits.

The following persons have been appointed by President Slauson as representatives of the Chamber of Commerce to the Southwestern Commercial Congress, to be held in this city July 12: Vice-president, representing the State, N. B. Blackstone; W. J. Hunsaker, member of the Executive Committee; delegates as follows: S. B. Lewis, William Mead, W. R. Staats, D. O. Anderson, A. P. Griffith, John Scott, Abbot Kinney, W. E. Roberts, E. W. Reynolds, George H. Peck, Jr.; M. D. Painter, John D. Hooker, Eugene Germain, T. Billington, W. A. Bonynge, Warren Gillelen, G. D. Cadwalader, Oliver C. Bryant, Lee Chamberlain, E. P. Bryan, R. W. Burnham, C. A. Kenyon, J. H. Hurin, H. M. Russell, F. B. Silverwood, D. D. Whitney, C. A. Sumner and A. E. Olshausen.

The following donations have recently been made to the chamber: By H. Wanamaker, Glendale, Royal apricots; J. H. McKnight, Corona, sandstone; Miss B. Jenson, paintings on black satin; Ruth Ann Steffer, oil paintings on yucca; B. Bonoff, cape and muff made from the Chinese white tibbott. The Rosecrans Rancho displays almonds and walnuts on the branch, and apricots weighing five to the pound, all raised without irrigation.

PEACE DISTURBERS.

COLORED-DIVE FREQUENTERS IN THE POLICE COURT.

Simpson, Brown and Company Up Before Justice Morgan—Trial by Jury Demanded—Other Dives and Poker Joints Unmolested.

Fresh air was in urgent demand in Justice Morgan's courtroom yesterday afternoon. Doors and windows were open, still the need of more ventilation was apparent. The atmosphere in the room had a darkish hue. A tenderfoot thought there was going to be a thunderstorm, but the dark clouds banked around the horizon of the court did not portend a cyclone or anything of that sort. It was simply the regular afternoon session of the Police Court, and Lou Simpson and Reub Brown and the sixty-seven other victims, mostly colored, of last Sunday morning's raid of Simpson and Brown's dive were there to be arraigned for their unseemly conduct. They were accompanied by many of their friends and sympathizers, besides a motley crew of spectators, white and black, who turned out to see darktown slums on dress parade.

More than half of the prisoners were out on bail, but there were thirty-two who could not raise the necessary $10, and these, together with half a dozen drunks, filled the prisoners' dock to overflowing. Those who had bail up, and the spectators, filled the body of the courtroom like sardines in a box. There were "coons" of every shade, from darkest ebony to light saddle color.

All of the defendants, except Simpson and Brown, were arraigned jointly for disturbing the peace. Attorneys F. F. Davis and D. C. Morrison appeared as counsel for the bunch, and filed a demurrer to the complaint, which was promptly overruled by the court. They then entered a plea of not guilty, and demanded a separate trial for each defendant. This was denied. The next step was to demand trial by jury, without delay. This was granted, and a venire of sixty was ordered to be summoned to be in attendance at 9:30 o'clock Wednesday morning, which was the earliest hour the court could take the case up. Attorney Davis wanted to have the jurors summoned by a constable (possibly because his chief client in this case, Simpson, is a deputy constable,) but Officer Lehnhausen was delegated to the task.

Simpson and Brown were arraigned on the charge of keeping a disorderly house. Their attorneys asked a continuance of the case till 9:30 o'clock Wednesday morning, for pleading. The request was granted, and bail was raised from $20 cash to $100 cash, or $300 bond for each defendant.

During the afternoon a number of the prisoners who had not been able to procure bail before, were bailed out. Among them were five women for whom Simpson personally deposited the lump sum of $50. Simpson did some lively hustling during the day to get his lambs out of jail, and complained in the evening that his feet hurt him from doing so much walking. The raid has probably caused the yellow dive-keeper to do more hard work in the last two days than he had done in months before, as the revenues derived from running the toughest joint in town enabled Simpson to take life easy.

Among the persons caught in the dive when it was raided by the police were a number of respectable-looking white men. Several of these returned to the courtroom yesterday afternoon after their case was set for trial by jury, and tried to square themselves with the court. They explained that they had merely dropped into the club out of curiosity, and had been there only a few minutes when they were arrested. They declared that they had in no sense helped to disturb the peace, but were willing to plead guilty and submit to punishment at once, instead of waiting to be tried with the disreputable rabble. They were ashamed of their company, and wanted to get out of it. When informed they would have to return to the trial anyway, as witnesses, they concluded to wait and take their medicine with the rest.

In speaking about the chartered club ruse for violating the law, Chief Glass yesterday remarked that publication of the membership lists of these clubs might make interesting reading. The Chief holds that the police have a right to know who belongs to, and helps to support any institution chartered by the State, therefore he may demand that lists of membership be furnished him. This might prove embarrassing to some high dignitaries of the city, as it is a well-known fact that many of the candidates for office at the last city election visited Simpson's dive and inscribed their names on the membership roll. At least one of the present Councilmen and one of the present Police Commissioners were so enrolled, not to mention persons who have held even higher offices, and there are others.

Some of the colored people appear to be unable to understand why their dives are raided and the white dives allowed to run without molestation, and they insinuate that the law does not draw a color line in the prohibition of incorporated or chartered disorder. Sam Brown, colored, in a letter to The Times, calls attention to a poker joint in the Wilson Block, running under the guise of a "commercial club," where liquors are sold and games of chance are played, and he asks conundrums that only the Chief of Police can answer. Sam asserts that the club is not incorporated, but is run by two gamblers for profit, which probably is true. There are other poker joints in the town, and while there are but 200 liquor licenses the places where liquor is sold number nearly 500. Not all of them are so tough as Simpson's dive.

AN ANCIENT MARINER.

Visitors at Westlake Park Sunday afternoon witnessed an aquatic feat of which Deputy District Attorney McComas was the hero, and which easily makes him the Grace Darling of Los Angeles.

"Judge" McComas, accompanied by his wife and two daughters, was enjoying an afternoon on the lake. The Judge at the oars, with hands swathed in handkerchiefs to prevent blisters and sunburn, was propelling his cockle-shell craft through the waves with laborious effort, when the frantic cries of three men in a boat attracted his attention. "Man overboard" was the first thought that suggested itself to McComas, when he heard the shouts for help. Bending to the oars with renewed energy, the veteran lawyer, if not experienced oarsman, pulled toward the scene of commotion, in the hope of being able to save at least one life. It required a great deal of tactful maneuvering for McComas to steer his craft alongside the distressed vessel without collision. After considerable effort he managed to get within hailing distance and bawled out in true nautical style:

"Ship ahoy! What cheer, mates?"

"We've lost our oars and are drifting with the tide," came the reply.

"Shiver my timbers, hearties! Splice the main brace and scuttle the jibboom, while I throw you a line and tow you abaft yon dangerous reef," shouted Commodore McComas. "Lively now lads, keep a stiff upper lip and reef your trousers at the keel so that you will be able to wade ashore in case it becomes necessary to abandon your ship."

Having given these directions, Old Salt McComas began skirmishing for the lost oars. After much backing and filling, he managed to get near enough the floating paddles for Mrs. McComas and the girls to pick them up. Then the labor of rowing near enough the drifting boat to return the lost oars to its crew began, and this, too, was successfully accomplished after considerable hard work.

By this time McComas, perspiring at every pore, concluded that he had had enough aquatic exercise for one day, so he pulled for the shore and safely landed himself and family while the multitude applauded and the band played on.

In case a life-saving station is established at Westlake Park this summer, McComas's friends, in view of his brilliant work last Sunday, will insist that he be made the captain of the crew.

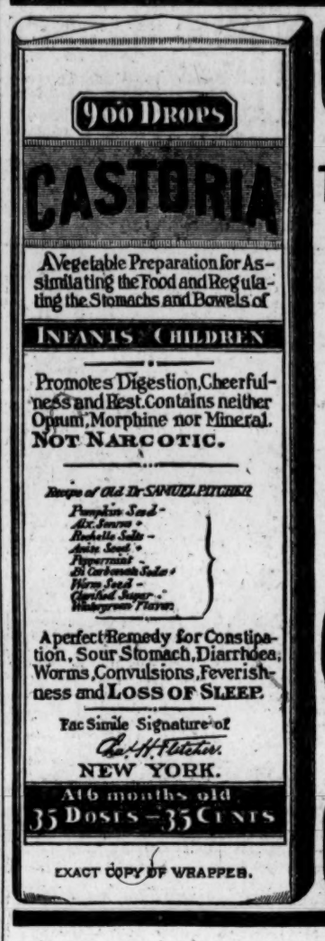

LOVELL'S HARD LUCK.

Imprisoned for Coming Home to See His Sick Mother.

As a reward for coming all the way from San Francisco to minister to a sick mother, Nelson Lovell has the prospect of serving 280 days in the city chain gang.

May 13, 1898, Lovell was given an aggregate sentence of 280 days by Justice Owens for battery and carrying a concealed weapon. The victim of the battery was C. A. Colan of No. 403 Alliso street, who was used up pretty badly by Lovell. The latter's sentence for the battery was 180 days in the City Jail, and for having a revolver in his possession at the time of his arrest for battery, 100 days was added to the sentence, but in both cases the penalty was suspended on condition that Lovell would leave the city. He went to San Francisco, where he obtained employment, and remained there until a few days ago, when he returned to Los Angeles at solicitation of his mother, who wrote that she was ill and needed his attention.

Unfortunately for the dutiful son, he was spotted soon after his arrival by Officer J. M. Baker, who has a long memory. Baker arrested Lovell yesterday morning and sent him to the City Jail to serve sentence. When the unfortunate young man's mother heard of his predicament she called upon Chief Glass, explained the circumstances under which her son returned, and begged for his liberty. The Chief refused to interfere in the matter before he made an investigation of the circumstances. In the mean time, Mrs. Lovell secured counsel and instituted habeas corpus proceedings. Judge Smith of the Superior Court set the case for hearing tomorrow. Officer Baker and other interested persons have been subpoenaed to be present to show why a writ should or should not be granted.

MUST FACE THE CAMERA.

According to an order posted on the bulletin board at police headquarters, all the men on the force are commanded to appear at Marceau's photograph gallery at their earliest convenience while off duty, in full uniform, in order to have their photographs taken.

Some of the men were at first inclined to view the order with disfavor, as it brought vividly to their minds the practice in vogue in the detective department of photographing prisoners who are accused of larceny, as well as disreputable characters in general, and the suggestiveness of the order caused a few convulsive chills to chase each other up and down their spines, but upon second thought they became reconciled to the situation. The order to be photographed, while bringing unpleasantly to mind the rogues' gallery and other disagreeable things in connection with the detective department, gives the men a chance to hand down to posterity mementoes of their present greatness as members of the Los Angeles "finest."

After each person connected with the force has complied with the order the entire lot of photographs will be grouped into one large picture, which will be framed and hung up in police headquarters, while reduced copies will be made for individual members who may desire them.

A SMALL SPOT MAY BE CANCER.

MOST VIOLENT CASES HAVE APPEARED AT FIRST AS MERE PIMPLES.

The greatest care should be given to any little sore, pimple or scratch which shows no disposition to heal under ordinary treatment. No one can tell how soon these will develop into Cancer of the worst type. So many people die from Cancer simply because they do not know just what the disease is; they naturally turn themselves over to the doctors, and are forced to submit to a cruel and dangerous operation—the only treatment which the doctors know for Cancer. The disease promptly returns, however, and is even more violent and destructive than before. Cancer is a deadly poison in the blood, and an operation, plaster, or other external treatment can have no effect whatever upon it. The cure must come from within—the last vestige of poison must be eradicated.

Mr. Wm. Walpole, of Walshtown, S. D., says: "A little blotch about the size of a pea came under my left eye, gradually growing larger, from which shooting pains at intervals ran in all directions. I became greatly alarmed and consulted a good doctor, who pronounced it Cancer, and advised that it be cut out, but this I could not consent to. I read in my local paper of a cure effected by S. S. S., and decided to try it. It acted like a charm, the Cancer becoming at first irritated, and then discharging very freely. This gradually grew less and then discontinued altogether, leaving a small scab which soon dropped off, and now only a healthy little scar remains where what threatened to destroy my life once held full sway."

S. S. S. FOR THE BLOOD

—because it is the only remedy which can go deep enough to reach the root of the disease and force it out of the system permanently. A surgical operation does not reach the blood—the real seat of the disease—because the blood can not be cut away. Insist upon S. S. S.; nothing can take its place.

S. S. S. cures also any case of Scrofula, Eczema, Rheumatism, Contagious Blood Poison, Ulcers, Sores, or any other form of blood disease. Valuable books on Cancer and Blood Diseases will be mailed free to any address by Swift Specific Company, Atlanta, Georgia.

Up-to-Date
News Letters
From Porto Rico.

BY FRANK G. CARPENTER.

Beginning Publication Sunday, July 9, 1899,

IN THE LOS ANGELES TIMES.

OUR NEW WEST INDIAN ISLAND.
A birds-eye view of Uncle Sam's new Switzerland. Its climate and what it will do for broken-down business men. The smallpox and how our government wiped it out. 800,000 sore arms and how they were made. A visit to the biggest vaccine farm of the world.

HOW OUR WEST INDIAN SUBJECTS DO BUSINESS.
A look at the stores of Porto Rican cities. How goods are bought and sold. Clerks who work 15 hours a day at $6 a month. Among the peddlers. Queer ways of selling bread and meat. A look at the markets.

UNCLE SAM'S PEONS.
How the poor work and starve in our West Indian Island. The human caves of San Juan. Professional beggars and the weekly beggar day. The poor of the plantations who are paid in tin disks and never see money. Starving children and banana-stomached babies. A striking picture of low life in Porto Rico.

PRETTY GIRLS BY THE ACRE.
How the belles of Porto Rico look, act and dress. High life in San Juan. The social season and the Governor-General's palace. How they keep house. Servant girls at $4 a month and house maids at 10 cents a day.

UNCLE SAM'S COFFEE FIELDS.
He has 100,000 acres of them in Porto Rico. Plantations which pay $100,000 a year. The prices of lands, and something about the mortgaged estates. How coffee is grown. The coffee factories and the pretty coffee sorters. Shipping coffee, etc.

GAMBLING IN PORTO RICO.
Our West Indian subjects are great sports. Men and boys who bet on kites and marbles. Porto Rico's Monte Carlo. Cock-fighting and cock-fighters. Roosters worth $200. How they are trained. A visit to a cock-pit. A description of a famous fight.

OUR UNKNOWN ISLANDS.
Valuable bits of the West Indies which are now our's through Spain. A trip to the Island of Vieques. Something about its French and English population. The Island of the Dead Man's Chest, which contained a fortune in phosphates. Other phosphate islands worth millions. Mona Island and its wonderful caves. Also our new Mammoth Cave in the West Indies.

A PORTO RICAN GRAVEYARD.
Queer features of death and burial in our new island. Rented graves and rented coffins. A visit to San Juan Cemetery and a look at human bones. A dead baby's wake. Among the churches, and the field for missions. A peep into the schools and a talk with General Eaton. He has a scheme to bring some pretty Porto Rican School teachers to the United States. [Hear! Hear!]

IN THE MOUNTAINS OF PORTO RICO.
One hundred miles in our West Indies hills with government mules. A land of palms and bananas, where oranges cost 4 cents a dozen and cotton grows on trees. Queer features of life and man in our Switzerland of the Tropics.

UNCLE SAM IN PORTO RICO.
How our new island is being governed. All about our officials and what they are doing. The question of the franchise. Will Porto Ricans make American citizens? What Uncle Sam owns in Porto Rico. He has $8,000,000. worth of buildings and 25,000 acres of land. Porto Rican crime and Porto Rican courts. Native police and our soldiers.

CHANCES FOR POOR MEN IN PORTO RICO.
A great future for small fruit farms. The oranges grow wild, and there is no frost. Cocoanut groves which net $1 a tree, and pineapples as big as a peck measure. The vegetable gardening for our big city markets. [This letter, showing what a man can do with a small amount of money in Porto Rico, will be interesting to thousands.]

OPPORTUNITIES FOR AMERICAN CAPITAL.
A street railroad at San Juan. It has been bought by New York parties and will pay big dividends. The French railroad about the island. Chances for hotels. Cold storage plants and waterworks. Prominent Americans who have already invested in Porto Rico, etc., etc.

THE BIG FARMS OF PORTO RICO.
Sugar plantations which pay 25 per cent a year and are worth millions. How they are managed. The big stock farms and Porto Rican cattle. The island horses and how they will be improved. A look at the tobacco fields. Porto Rican cigars and Havana tobacco which goes to the United States from Porto Rico via Cuba.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

LOS ANGELES, June 26, 1899.

PLENTY OF GOLD. In the last few weeks about $15,000,000 in gold has gone to Europe. It is not a case for nervousness. During the fiscal year to close June 30, the imports of the yellow metal will amount to $68,000,000. The mines of the country have produced in that time not less than $50,000,000. The total gain is $118,000,000 in gold. In the fiscal year ended June 30, 1898, the gain in gold from imports and the mines was $152,000,000. So the country on July 1, 1899, will be $270,000,000 richer in gold than two years ago. This does not account for what was used in the arts.

COMMERCIAL.

WHEAT CROP NOTES. In seven Russian provinces the famine condition is worse than in 1891-92. In thirteen provinces in Roumania the crop is reported a failure, and it is bad.

The annual report of the Modern Miller says the decline in condition during the past six weeks and the abandonment of a wide area supposed to promise a crop at the beginning of spring is due to a widespread plague of hessian flies and chinch bugs. In some sections drouth injured the plant, and a slight loss is due to local storms, but throughout the Mississippi, Missouri and Ohio River valleys the chinch bug and hessian fly have been causes of heavy damage. A condition of 66 upon 15.4 average acreage yield upon 23,300,000 acres indicates a winter wheat crop of only 236,821,000 bushels.

IMPORTS AND EXPORTS. The following is an official statement of the imports and exports of the United States for May, 1898 and 1899:

THE APPLE CROP. The Department of Agriculture, in its crop circular for June says: "In the thirteen States having 3,000,000 or more apple trees in bearing at the last census the condition on June 1 as compared with the average June condition for the last fifteen years was as follows: New York, 1 above; Pennsylvania, 6 below; Michigan, 14 below; Missouri, 2 above; Illinois, 8 above; Indiana, 5 above; Kansas, 4 above; Kentucky, no difference; Tennessee, 2 above; Virginia, 3 below; North Carolina, 4 below; Iowa, 11 below, and Maine, 31 below."

GOOD APRICOT PRICES. The Tremont correspondent of the Dixon (Solano county) Tribune says: "Apricots are being sold in the field here for $40 a ton. This is for large size and good quality fruit that is suitable for shipping and canning. Shippers are bidding quite lively for almost anything that is good in the apricot line, while the canners are a little more particular, and want the fruit to come up to a certain standard."

PRICE OF GRAPES. In the San Joaquin Valley $10 to $12 per ton is offered for second crop Muscats and for Sultanas for wine purposes.

LEMONS COMING. The quantities of lemons and oranges, by boxes, on the way to America on the date June 10, for the last three years are as follows:

Oranges	57,590	......	14,000

DEAR ORANGES. Advices to the California Fruit-Grower from New York report Valencia oranges selling at $4.50 to $5.25, and St. Michaels at about the same range. Lemons were bringing $2 to $3.75.

GENERAL BUSINESS TOPICS.

COST OF PEACE. While any step toward disarmament in Europe is improbable at this time, a powerful presentation might be made at The Hague of the financial side of the case, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. Most of the nations of Europe are adding largely to their public debts and disarmament for some of them may become a necessity. Annual deficits are quite the usual thing throughout the continent. France runs behind annually about $100,000,000, Austria $80,000,000, Russia $50,000,000 and Italy $30,000,000. Minor nations, like Spain, Turkey, Portugal and Greece, are not many removes from bankruptcy.

FUTURE OF IRON. The question as to how long the present demand for iron and steel will continue is answered by Hon. Abram S. Hewitt of New York, President E. H. Gray of the Federal Steel Company, Messrs. Rogers, Brown & Co., the Cramp Shipbuilding Company and other extensive users in letters to the Manufacturers' Record. Mr. Gary writes as follows: "I believe we have entered upon a period of such increased consumption of iron and steel as to indicate the probability of a continuance for several years of the present world-wide activity in this industry. The indications are favorable for an ever-widening foreign market for our iron, steel, machinery and kindred products, and the increased uses for iron and steel, the development of a navy and a merchant marine, and the extension of our railways, added to the consumptive requirements of eastern countries and Africa, justify the belief in a still greater expansion of the iron and steel trade of the entire world during the next five or ten years." Practically the same view is also taken by Mr. Hewitt and most of the other authorities quoted. Some of them believe that the metal trade may experience periods of temporary depression, but that the metal market will be active for at least several years to come.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKETS.

LOS ANGELES MARKETS.

LOS ANGELES, June 26, 1899.

Eggs fully maintain their firmness. Fresh ranch cost 17½ cents laid down here and job at 18½ cents, or in rare cases at a little more. Eastern are selling at 17 cents as they come in, 17½ cents for full standard and 18 for selected.

There is no change in butter, nor is the local board likely to put the price up today.

Berries are generally weaker, some strawberries by the crate selling at 3½ cents per basket. Fancy kinds still bring as high as 9 cents in a wholesale way, and 10 cents by the single crate. Cherries are coming slowly and are a trifle dearer, bringing $1 to $1.10 at the depot. Peaches sold at 75 to 85 cents, 'cots at 50 to 60 cents; currants, 75 to 80 cents. Apples still job at $1.25 cwt. Common plums went at 50 to 60 cents, there being very little demand for Cherokee Cherry plums or Botons. Good Simonas brought 85 to 90 cents, and Tragedy prunes $1 to $1.10.

Blackberries brought 4 to 5 cents wholesale, raspberries 11 to 12 cents, and Logan berries 75 cents per crate.

Bids were received by the city for hay yesterday, and there were plenty of bidders and plenty of hay. In all offerings ran up to 7000 tons, the prices asked being from $11.10 to $16.50. It is thought the corporation will get all it wants at about $12 per ton.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

Shares and Money.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, June 26.—The opening in the stock market this morning showed a jump in prices, and something like a rush to buy, which spread rapidly through the whole railroad list. In due course of time, a number of industrials also showed strength. When this development became obvious, the railroads paused in their advance, as though to shake off the following of industrial stocks. Acute weakness in the local traction stocks checked the advance. The railroads held firm for a time, but the day was over bullish. Enthusiasm had somewhat expended itself, and the closing dealings showed a rather easy tone with railroads below the best. The movement in the Vanderbilts was by far the most conspicuous of the day, and was, of course, based on the reported lease of the Boston and Albany by the New York Central for a term of ninety-nine years. The ramifications of the Vanderbilt properties are so vast and the possibilities of consolidation so important that a movement in these stocks is always certain to have a stimulating effect on the whole railroad list, and the Vanderbilt group is very likely to be picked out for manipulation by operators for a rise. As the floating supply of these stocks is not large, such manipulation is not so difficult as might seem. New York Central was at one time today up three points, but it lost one point on the failure of official confirmation or even admission of correctness of the Boston and Albany report. This, together with further engagements of gold for export, was the important influence in the reactionary tendency throughout the day. Chicago and Northwestern, Omaha, Union Pacific and the Oregon Short Line securities all responded sharply in sympathy with New York Central's strength. The weakness of the New York Traction stocks today was due to rumors of approaching labor troubles. Sugar and a few other specialties showed early strength, but the industrials, with few exceptions, yielded before the close. Good reports of current earnings, especially in the West and Southwest, were factors in the strength of railroads. Decreases in operating expenses of southwestern railroads was a feature of the May statements received, the main income of Atchison being increased largely by this means, to the extent of over $500,000. St. Paul's May statement, on the other hand, showed the gross increase more than swallowed up by the enlarged operating expenses. Railroad bonds were generally firmer. Total sales, par value were $1,893,000. United States threes coupon advanced ⅛ in the bid price.

New York Money.

NEW YORK, June 26. Treasury Statement.

WASHINGTON. June 26. — Today's statement of the condition of the treasury shows: Available cash balance, $276,923,082; gold reserve, $236,766,035.

[EUROPEAN SITUATION.]

ANXIOUS WEEK IN THE LONDON MARKET.

Money is Dear and Business Remains Bad Because the People Refuse to Speculate—Interest Rates Advance as Banks Must Soon Make Up Yearly Accounts.

[A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.]

NEW YORK, June 26.—The Times' London financial correspondent cables:

"We have had an anxious week, only partially brightened at the close by the formation of a new French Ministry. At last the Paris bourse has begun to take alarm, and all the early part of the week poured Tintos and African gold shares into the London market. Fortunately our stock exchange had previously sold short, pretty freely, and therefore took the shares without much flinching. Still Tintos at the lowest were well pounded.

"Until the market is settled business must remain bad, because the people refuse to speculate, and dealings are therefore confined to investments which the markets cannot live upon.

"To add to the difficulties, money is again dearer. The Reichsbank has had to raise its discount rate to 4½ per cent., which means further advances on securities. All available capital and credit are locked up in securities, which cannot be realized on, and the only hope is said to lie in the further unloading of American railroad securities in New York to pay for gold. The banks, not in London alone, but all the world over, make up their yearly accounts June 30, and must call at least £10,000,000 floating credits off the market in order to display the proper amount of cash in hand, and at the Bank of England, at that. The process is necessary in self-defense, but highly inconvenient, and five or six millions may have to be borrowed.

"Up to within the last two days money could be borrowed for the week at 1¼ per cent. Today the rates are 2½ per cent. Next week stock exchange money will probably cost on an average 3½ per cent, although the account then to be settled will be less heavy than is usual. This squeeze is quite temporary, and our market from one point of view is comfortable enough. It is danger from without that we have to dread.

"The bankers' association met Thursday and discussed plans for increasing its gold reserve, now almost nil, but merely appointed a committee to consider and report. Nothing will be done unless under stress of circumstances, because the banks all strain themselves to pay high dividends, and are too jealous of each other to take concerted action. Five per cent of the deposits is permanently held in gold and not seen much of, but we dodged the bailiffs and kept on looking on nothing so long that we shall continue the game until something breaks somewhere. Nothing particular is doing in your securities by the general public. Professionals dabble in Atchison and Northern Pacific preferred, and in Denvers occasionally, but John Bull is not playing. He prefers mines, especially wildcats."

GENERAL EASTERN MARKETS

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHICAGO, June 26.—For a few minutes around the opening in wheat it looked as if Saturday's sharp decline was to be repeated. The same influences, heavy receipts, weak cables and favorable crop conditions, were present, and influenced considerable new liquidation. The opening in September was at 74⅛@74¼, compared with Saturday's closing price of 74½@74⅝. The market broke still further at once under heavy selling pressure, longs liquidating freely, and shorts putting out new lines, September touching 73⅝ on the decline. Covering by the shorts, who were satisfied with their profits, and buying against puts, then caused a rally to 74¼, but before 11 o'clock the market started on a decline, which carried to a point almost under Saturday's final price. The decline was so fast that sellers became too enthusiastic, and when, about 11:30 o'clock, the liquidation of long wheat let up temporarily, the market recovered with a suddenness that indicated that shorts had considerably oversold. There was quite a scramble for cover for a time, the price of September advancing to 74⅝@74¾ before noon. The market evened up to some extent, and the tendency thereafter was downward. The news would admit of no other course when conditions were normal, and prices gradually slipped off to 74@74⅛ for September, which was the quotation at the close. July closed at 72⅛@72¼, and December at 75⅜@75½. Corn was fairly active and irregular. The market was weak during the morning, but became firm and more than recovered the early break. The close was ⅛c higher at 34¼. July closed at 34 and December at 33½. Oats, in common with corn, ruled weak and lower early, but when corn advanced oats followed. September closed ⅛c higher at 21½@21⅝; July closed at 24¾, and May at 23⅝@23⅞. Provisions were weak early, due to liberal hog receipts and consequent liquidation by longs. Excellent cash demand helped the market later, nearly all the decline being recovrd. At the close September pork was 2½c lower; lard a shade lower and ribs a shade lower.

Chicago Livestock Market.

CHICAGO, June 26.—Cattle—The demand was good; prices were steady for medium grades, and high-class cattle ruled higher. Good to choice, 5.10@5.65; common, grades, 4.60@5.05; feeding cattle, 3.60@5.00; bulls, cows and heifers, 2.00@5.10; the latter price for choice heifers; western fed steers, 4.70@5.40; Texans, 4.00@5.05; calves ranged from 4.50@7.25. The supply of hogs was larger than expected; good cash demand early at steady prices; closing weak; light hogs, 3.65@3.85; mixed lots, 3.60@3.80, and heavy at 3.45@3.80; pigs, 3.25@3.75; and culls, 1.50@3.45. There was a fairly active demand for sheep and lambs, and best flocks were easily disposed of, common grades, were somewhat weaker; sheep, 2.50@3.50 for culls up to 5.00@5.25 for choice flocks; yearlings, 5.25@6.25; clipped lambs, 5.00@6.50 and spring lambs, 4.50@5.70; Receipts—Cattle, 20,000; hogs, 47,000; sheep, 17,000.

MORTALITY AMONG MEN.

How Long Life May Be Attained By Men of Any Calling.

Timely Hints on Health.

We seldom enter into conversation with a man nowadays who does not speak bitterly of his lot. In fact, the closing years of the nineteenth century is an age of pessimism. Some are dissatisfied with their business affairs, many complain at the manner in which the war in the Philippine Islands is being conducted, while others are unhappily married. The great mass of men, however, young or old, married or single, have some bodily ailment.

The latter class, while it might seem as if they have good reason to complain, and are more deserving of pity than others, can overcome their troubles more easily than the man who is embarrassed financially or annoyed with family, social matters, or affairs of state.

Men who are suffering with a disease, or embarrassed by a weakness, can be relieved if they will place their health in the hands of California's famous specialists, Dr. Meyers & Co.

Thousands of men on the Pacific Coast are talking about the good work accomplished by these physicians. Thousands more are talking about their peculiar business methods, but more especially of their terms of payment. The fact that the price of a cure may be deposited in any bank, or with any responsible business house in Los Angeles, to be paid to Dr. Meyers & Co., only when the patient is permanently cured is a revelation to many. If, however, the sufferer is not prepared to deposit the price of a cure at one time, payments may be made in weekly or monthly installments.

The staff of Dr. Meyers & Co., is composed of physicians of the highest standing and widest and most successful experience as specialists. Among the ailments they cure are the following: Lost Vigor, Premature Decay; Unnatural Losses, Wasting Drains; Nervous Debility, Stricture, Rupture, Tumors, Varicocele, Diseases of the Kidneys, Bladder, Liver, Spleen, Spine, Heart, Blood, Skin, Stomach, Eye, Ear, Lungs, Head, Nose and Throat.

A man who will go through life weak and diseased is very unwise when strength and robust health can be had for the asking. Dr. Meyers & Co. have proved in thousands of cases that they can do all they claim. Their long experience, successful and increasing practice on the Pacific Coast is evidence of their superior skill, methods and remedies.

Home Cures. Dr. Meyers & Co. cure a great many patients every year without seeing them. Those who are interested should write for question list, free advice and full particulars. All correspondence confidential.

Private book free. Dr. Meyers & Co. have recently issued a new book, "Private Counselor and Marriage Guide," for men only. This little publication, which is sent sealed to all who write, or given to all who call at the office, contains a great deal of valuable information for men, young or old, sick or well, married or single.

Dr. Meyers & Co. have long been permanently located at 218 South Broadway, Los Angeles, where they have the largest and best equipped medical institution in America. Consultation and advice always free. Their office hours are from 8 to 5 daily, 7 to 8 evenings, and from 9 to 11 on Sundays, Elevator entrance.

POND'S EXTRACT COMPANY, 76 Fifth Ave., N.Y. City

I am an oil well operator, and, in consequence, am exposed to all kinds of weather and subject to irregular hours of work, which has told on my health in many ways. I have had all sorts of trouble, caused by dyspepsia, loss of appetite, kidney and liver trouble, and would take cold at the least exposure. In fact, my health was completely run down. I tried various remedies without avail, and having noticed the persistent advertising of Ripans Tabules in the papers and magazines I decided to give them a trial, and in less than a week noted good results, and now, at the end of six months' rather steady use, am fully restored to health, and never felt better in my life, all of which is due to R·I·P·A·N·S. I can not speak too highly of them, and am glad to recommend them to any one whose condition of health is similar to mine some months since. I might add that during my illness I was more or less troubled with rheumatism, and as that has left me entirely I certainly owe it to R·I·P·A·N·S, as my blood is now in a healthier condition. My age is thirty-eight years.

WANTED—A case of bad health that R-I-P-A-N-S will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word R-I-P-A-N-S on the package and accept no substitute. R-I-P-A-N-S, 10 for 5 cents, or twelve packets for 48 cents, may be had at any drug store. Ten samples and one thousand testimonials will be mailed to any address for 5 cents, forwarded to the Ripans Chemical Co, No. 10 Spruce st., New York.

PASADENA.

Life Made Miserable for Constable Manahan, in Summoning a Venire—Commencement Exhibition of Academy of Holy Names. Maccabees' Cake Walk.

PASADENA, June 26.—[Regular Correspondence.] There has been an insurrection in Pasadena today. It has been a rising of citizens against the powers of the county constabulary. They have "riz," and they have roared, and that was all they could do about it. Constable Manahan, who was charged with the duty of summoning a jury for the trial of the case of People against Jack Long of Covina, has had the unpleasant business of his life. The law provides that any citizen may be called on a venire in a criminal case, and must serve without pay. When a man is drawn for a trial in which his own town is concerned, he collects his wages out of the sense of duty done to law and order. He feels as if he were a stockholder in that particular law and order, and ought to give it some attention. Constable Manahan has found that this public spirit is not sufficiently elastic in Pasadena to gracefully stretch out and hug up the troubles of another community. The prospect of giving a day's time to adjudicate the worries of Covina struck the men of Pasadena like a proposition to mind the other fellow's affairs at their own expense, and as the poet has said, they "did not tackle kindly to it." The Constable found an amazing number of State, county and city officers in his hunt for jurymen, and everybody else claimed to be exempt by reason of previous condition of servitude, splay feet, or some other equally valid excuse. At noon the perplexed officer had not secured a juror. Then he began to put on a little pressure, and his woes increased. It was of no use to tell people that the law required him to summon them. Everybody wanted to know why in blazes he didn't summon some better man, or what grudge Manahan had against him, or what-t'ell generally. If he persisted they became hotter and denounced him as an impertinent minion of tyranny, and ordered him out of the shop.

At 5 o'clock this afternoon the Constable was desperate. He adopted a guerilla plan of campaign. Seeing a staid citizen coming down the street, the Constable would hurriedly fill out a blank summons with his name, run up behind him and thrust it into his hand, then dodge behind a door before the citizen could have time to see what it might be. The pedestrian would find himself duly served with the order of the court to report for jury duty, and there was no way out of it. He couldn't even swear out, for when he put his damn on Manahan he wasn't there.

In this way the weary servant of the law succeeded in filling out the venire, from which twelve good, true and red hot men will be impanelled to sit on the charge that Jack Long of Covina evaded the liquor law, in Justice Klamroth's court Tuesday, the case having been brought over here by an order for change of venue.

ACADEMY OF HOLY NAMES.

A beautiful scene was presented at the Academy of the Holy Names this evening, when the pupils marched in procession, singing, to take their places in the exhibition room, which was not large enough for the many friends of the institution who wished to attend the commencement exercises. The platform looked like a charming bit of forest, having been lavishly decked out with trees, ferns and greenery, to represent the old German woods, where the legend of the evening was located. Electric footlights had been set, the academy was in gala attire, the dignitaries of the church were present, the young people looked their sweetest, the black-and-white garbed nuns were rosy with excitement. The most of the evening was devoted to the presentation of the legendary drama, "The Miracle of Roses," by twenty-five pupils. It was a pretty little play, full of pretty scenes and picturesque, though simple, costumes. The young people were well trained and afforded a very pleasing spectacle.

After the play came the awarding of the medals. The gold medal for highest rank in Christian doctrine went to Miss May Collins. Honorary mention was given to Mary Dantonville, Sadie Quinn, Jennie Carnes, Sadie Allen, Anna Clinch, Henry Dantonville. For the medal offered by Rev. Father Farrelly for the highest general average, six young ladies won equal rank, and will have to draw lots, they being May Collins, Mary Dantonville, Sadie Quinn, Anna Clinch, Jennie Carnes and Bessie Carnes. The first prize for ladylike conduct, given by Rev. Mother Delphine, lady provincial, was awarded to Miss Aurelia Huff, and the second to Miss Mae McGowan. Honorable mention was made of Sadie Allen, Amiee Toomoth and Margaret Foderingham. A quaint prize was that awarded for the non-use of slang, and it gave the sisters great satisfaction to bestow it. The winner, by unanimous vote was Sadie Allen.

Bishop Montgomery, Father Farrelly and other ecclesiastics were present, and the bishop addressed the young people with words of encouragement.

MACCABEES' CAKE WALK.

Roars of laughter floated out over Pasadena from the Maccabees' Hall tonight. This jovial and booming organization had a cake walk, with all the gorgeous costumes, funny motions and ludicrous capers of which such a programme is capable. The characters were true to life, and plantation darkies couldn't have done the act better. Eight couples took part. The first prize was won by Lou Halvin and Miss Leah Terwilliger, whose pigeon wings evoked uproarious applause. They deserved the cake they took. The second prize, a box of candy, was won by two little pickannanies, Merle Herr and Connie Petrie, who were veritable little Topsies. The evening's programme included excellent recitations by Miss Klehm, Mrs. Plant and Mrs. Drawbaugh, and a piano solo by Miss Fannie Furman. The festivities ended with a dance.

THAT NEW BAPTIST CHURCH.

At a well attended business meeting of the First Baptist Church this evening plans were considered for the new edifice started with a lady's recent gift of $5000. A design for a yellow pressed-brick building was submitted. It was voted to erect a structure to cost approximately $20,000, and the following committee of ten to raise the balance of the money was appointed: O. T. Barker, J. T. Messer, L. F. Miller, A. A. Chubb, A. H. Collins, Reuben Simons, A. G. Thurston, Mrs. Coolidge, Mrs. A. A. Chubb, Mrs. Charles Edwards.

PASADENA BREVITIES.

Charles Garwood, the carpenter who fell from the roof of the Catholic Church a fortnight ago and was supposed to be fatally injured, is making an excellent recovery. Mr. Garwood is the luckiest of unlucky men, this being the fourth time that he has recovered from such an accident.

Fred W. Judd, the La Cañada ranch hand accused of stealing $30 from his room-mate, was arraigned before Justice Klamroth this morning and pleaded not guilty. His hearing was fixed for Friday. George Saunders of Los Angeles is his counsel.

Wires became crossed as a result of changes on the Echo Mountain telephone line this evening, and there was an exciting "burn-out" in the central office, destroying the usefulness of a number of 'phones.

Rev. Clarence True Wilson of North Pasadena has received the degree of D.D. from St. John's College, Annapolis, Md.

Ground was broken this morning for the new packing-house of the Pasadena Deciduous Fruit Growers' Association.

Pasadena Lodge of Free Masons worked the third degree this evening, and afterward served a banquet.

A. N. Wright of Congress street returned from Syracuse, N. Y., on today's overland.

The automobiles will be introduced in Pasadena next season.

LONG BEACH.

Probable Benefits from Competition in Domestic Water Service.

LONG BEACH, June 26.—[Regular Correspondence.] The twenty-year contract with the Bouton Water Company, whereby the city for that length of time is to take water for street-sprinkling at prices never to exceed 3 cents per thousand gallons, has been approved by the City Trustees. The company has commenced sinking another well on its land a few miles north of town. The Long Beach Improvement Company has begun work on a large water-supply plant to take the place of the one through which the company is now supplying water here. There is also another water company giving domestic service in town, so a continued competition in the water business and the resultant benefits to the residents seems to be assurred.

GLASS-HOYT WEDDING.

The marriage of Charles C. Glass, vice-president of the Long Beach and San Pedro Electrical Company, and Miss Carrie Pauline Hoyt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry T. Hoyt, took place at the Congregational Church Wednesday afternoon. Miss Theta Lynn of this city was bridesmaid and Lynn Freeman of Pasadena was best man. Miss Margaret Tutt and Miss Nellie Lobach acted as ushers, and the wedding march was played by Mrs. S. C. Kendall. Rev. Charles Pease, pastor of the Congregational Church, conducted the ceremony. A reception to Mr. and Mrs. Glass was given at their new home at Fourth and Cedar streets after the ceremony.

LONG BEACH BREVITIES.

Officers of the city are trying to deny the report that has been circulated to the effect that picnic parties are charged for the use of the public pavilion. They desire to have it understood that the privileges of the pavilion are free.

Work on the new bathhouse, boathouse and promenade under the pleasure wharf is going on rapidly, and will probably be completed within two weeks.

CLAREMONT.

Annual Address Before the College Christian Associations.

CLAREMONT, June 26.—[Regular Correspondence.] Dr. C. R. Brown of Oakland gave the annual address before the Christian societies of Pomona College Sunday evening. Speaking briefly on the symmetry and human basis of the Old Testament history, he passed to the first miracle of Christ, showing the practical purpose of it, and deducing therefrom the secret of all true life to be the filling of the water pots with water and trusting to God to change it into wine; that in all pursuits of human life the measure is success, and that success comes to him who uses the best he has and lets God transform it into something better. Men may be creatures of luck; true, but this so-called luck is better defined as opportunity. If one neglects his opportunity, he has bad luck; if he improves his opportunity, his luck is good. Opportunity comes to whom? To the one who is ready to embrace it, the one who is fitted for the work required, and this one is the person who has filled his water pots with the best he possesses, though it be but water. The lawyer who makes a reputation on a single case was fitted when the case came; the editor who gets the vacant position is the man who has used his best resources and is now ready for the task before him. Just as it is in industrial affairs, so it is with the spiritual affairs of men. The world will not be Christianized in six months, or six years, or in any prescribed time by spasmodic action. Such is not consistent with the divine system and order of arrangement. The conversion of the world will be slow and gradual, and will come about on a human basis, and not until the world has used its best resources to their full extent will these efforts be made perfect.

Tuesday will be senior day. A very interesting programme is expected. Tuesday evening will be given to the graduation recital of the school of music. On Wednesday will be held the graduation exercises, followed by the after-dinner programme, and the faculty reception in the evening.

VENTURA COUNTY.

Large Surveying Force at Work at San Susanna Grade.

VENTURA, June 26.—[Regular Correspondence.] There is a large force of men and teams camped at the foot of San Susanna grade near the Simi Hotel. They commenced surveying and setting grade stakes this morning from that point to Somis. Somis is the place to which the road from Oxnard is now being laid. The farmers of the Little Simi are somewhat stirred up at seeing the advance guard of a railroad at their doors.

The picking of apricots has been commenced along Ventura avenue. The buyers for canneries are out endeavoring to snap up any kind of fruit. J. H. Hollingsworth was offered $25 per ton for his apricots on Ventura avenue and it was accepted. These 'cots are exceedingly small. One orchardist, who has some thirty tons of choice fruit, was offered $30 per ton, but it was refused. Some of the growers are holding for $40 per ton.

Miss Camille Levy of Santa Barbara has been chosen by the High School Board of Trustees as assistant teacher in English and mathematics, vice Miss Jane Herrick, resigned. Miss Annie Dilworth of Pasadena has been elected as teacher in the grammar schools.

Twenty young ladies from the Los Angeles Normal School will pit apricots in the Simi Valley this season.

SANTA BARBARA COUNTY.

Polo Match to Be Played on the Fourth of July.

SANTA BARBARA, June 26.—[Regular Correspondence.] Besides other arrangements for the celebration of the Fourth of July here a polo match between picked local teams was announced this afternoon. The programme for the afternoon includes five races, but it is thought that with short periods the polo match can easily be worked in. Polo has recently become very popular in this city, but this match will be the first one played before the general public. Capt. Sidney Stillwell is engaged today in making definite arrangements. For the morning of July Fourth a team rifle shoot has been arranged between the Montecito Guards and the Santa Barbara Sharpshooters. The Sharpshooters have to their credit two victories over the Sixth Division, Naval Reserves.

Ex-Mayor F. M. Whitney leaves tomorrow morning with a party to spend some weeks camping on the Channel Islands.

Forty-eight acres of land in Montecito, known as the Kimberly tract, have been sold to a Philadelphia capitalist, Mr. Allman. The property was a part of the Anderson estate.

LOMPOC.

LOMPOC, June 26. — [Regular Correspondence.] The proudest day Lompoc has ever seen was last Thursday, when the new regular passenger train came rolling in at 8:10 p.m. The people turned out en masse to greet the visitor, which will go through every day, and is supposed to open a new era of hope and promise.

One of the industries about to be developed as a result of the advent of the railroad is the lime-rock quarry, and about six thousand tons are to be delivered between now and October 1 to the sugar factory at Betteravia. This lime is considered the best in the State for beet-sugar purposes, and double the quantity has been ordered for next season. The supply appears unlimited.

Preparations are being made for a big celebration of the Fourth of July. There will be a ball in the evening.

The Southern Pacific pay car that came in on Saturday left about $3000 among the laborers here, and they made things lively, spending considerable money at the stores and saloons. Several arrests were made for drunkenness.

The crops on the irrigated lands make a fine object lesson of what can be done with water, the yield being more than double that on ground not irrigated.

COVINA.

COVINA, June 26. — [Regular Correspondence.] The Board of Supervisors passed a resolution on Wednesday separating the Covina grammar-school district from the Citrus Union High School district. An election for the formation of a new high-school district will be held immediately.

The Rev. D. H. Gillan of Pomona, under the auspices of the Anti-saloon League, preached a temperance sermon in the Christian Church on Sunday evening, to the united congregations of the Methodist, Christian and Baptist churches. The building was crowded.

ORANGE COUNTY.

Santa Fe After Its Share of the Business Which Huntington Tried to Monopolize, With Prospects of Getting It—The Crops.

SANTA ANA, June 26. — [Regular Correspondence.] The Superior Court was occupied today with the damage case of D. Gildmacher vs. the City of Santa Ana. In the construction of the new sewer system it was deemed necessary by the city to lay a line of sewer pipe along the rear of several buildings between West and Birch streets on Fourth, owned by Plaintiff Gildmacher, and now he has concluded that he is entitled to damages to the extent of about $400. He did not think the sewer a necessity when it was being constructed, and therefore enjoined the city from crossing his property. But a bond was forthcoming from the city that it would stand good for whatever damage was sustained by the owner of this property, and thereupon the court ordered the work to proceed. The extent of Gildmacher's damage, if any, by reason of the presence of the line of sewer pipe across his property, is being considered by a jury.

EXPECTED RAILROAD NEWS.

A rumor to the effect that the Santa Fé would have a switch across the Southern Pacific and along the west side of the new cannery building has been cavorting around over town the past several days, and from present indications there is a likelihood that it will develop into a stern reality before many more carloads of fruit arrive from outside localities. It was believed by many here that when Huntington absorbed the Santa Ana and Newport line that the Southern Pacific had a monopoly of the cannery business, both as to exports and imports, but from later developments it would seem the Santa Fé proposes to have a share if such a thing be possible.

SANTA ANA BREVITIES.

Apricot drying has begun in the vicinity of Tustin. The yield this year will be an average crop, while the price is much better than for the past several years. A great many of the orchardists who are equipped for the purpose will dry their own fruit this year. Notwithstanding this fact, the cannery will handle hundreds of tons of apricots, peaches, pears and vegetables.

A deed was filed here today transferring the title to the new cannery site at the foot of First street from W. H. Spurgeon to the Cutting Fruit Packing Company, the consideration being $1100. This land was purchased through a committee from the Chamber of Commerce and donated to the cannery people.

The walnut crop in this section of the Santa Ana Valley will be much larger than was expected a few months ago. There will not be as large a crop as last year, of course, but the nuts, from present indications, will be much larger and finer than for the past several years.

The hay crop of the big San Joaquin ranch is about all harvested. The crop was much larger and of better quality than the ranchers anticipated early in the spring. Considerable of the acreage sown for grain was harvested as hay on account of the season's rain being a little shy.

Marriage licenses were issued today to the following residents of Los Angeles: A. W. Haas, aged 22 years, and Bessie M. Youngman, aged 19 years; Charles H. Cramer, aged 36 years, and Anna B. Lilley, aged 26 years.

Lemon buyers are invading the Santa Ana Valley in rather larger numbers than usual, and good fruit is bringing satisfactory prices. The crop of lemons in this valley is larger than for the past several years this season.

S. H. Finley, D. Serey, Robert McFadden, William Schinner, Joe Serey and Joe Serey, Jr., have filed a notice locating a quicksilver mine in Lucas Cañon, about ten miles in the hills back of San Juan Capistrano.

The Bolsa Gun Club has let the contract for the erection of a clubhouse on the recently-acquired game preserve at Bolsa Chico Bay. The house is to cost about $10,000. Work is to begin at once.

Don Marco Forster of Capistrano has shipped three carloads of cattle to San Diego and Richard O'Neil of Santa Margarita nineteen carloads to San Francisco.

The Stearns Rancho Company has sold twenty acres of land four miles south of Westminster to August Toussau for $2000.

ANAHEIM.

Improvements to Be Made—Splendid Prospects Ahead.

ANAHEIM, June 26.—[Regular Correspondence.] Ten carloads of vitrified pipe have been delivered here by the Southern Pacific for improvements to be made in the irrigation ditch along the line of the new city extension of the railroad. The pipe is supplied by the railroad company, and the improvement will be valuable.

Prospects for the material advancement of the city's interests during the coming months are brighter than in a long time. Two new business firms are almost assured, and a third is probable. In case of the coming of the latter a new business block will be erected. These enterprises are independent of the promised development of the tobacco industry, which, if brought to a head, will be more to the section than anything it has ever had, not excepting the grape industry, which made the fortunes of the original colonists.

This has been the first heavy day of apricot receipts at the cannery. A number of teams started out this morning and have been busy hauling. The fruit is turning out splendidly, and deliveries in large quantities are expected from throughout the orchard territory by the last of the week.

RANDSBURG.

Another Shooting Scrape—Prosperity Among the Desert Miners.

RANDSBURG, June 25.—[Regular Correspondence.] In an altercation and scuffle in the Mineral saloon on Saturday night Jo Endl, the proprietor, was shot through the mouth, the ball coming out through the right cheek. Gus Zower, a young man who has been night watchman and who is now deputy constable, fired the shot. Endl was about to close up, as it was past midnight, and had put out the lights when the scuffle began. Endl had no gun, and it is not known whether the shot was accidental or not. The bullet passed through a window and entered the front of the French restaurant, across the street.

Arnold, the young man who was shot through the lungs by a man called "Windy," is on the street and rapidly recovering. The ball is in his back, but gives him little trouble. "Windy" was held in $2000 bonds for trial before the Superior Court.

There are several mining deals on the way, and considerable inquiry for mining property. Angus Mathison has recently sold his one-third interest in the Buckboard mine to Pete Glennie for $4000. The Buckboard is a good property, with a heavy vein of ore, and lies southwest of town about four miles.

The Kinyon owners are running some 300 sacks of ore which will go up to $300 per ton. After that is through they propose to shut down the mine and mill, and will take a vacation during the hot months.

The little Butte Company shut down last night for a time. Some new deal is on, and when they start again it will most likely be on a larger scale.

The Red Dog and Black Hawk mills are kept steadily running and are crushing some rich ore.

The Yellow Aster mill is pounding out from 100 to 140 tons every day, and the company are figuring on increasing the capacity of the mill. Their water development has been most satisfactory, and they now propose to stop for a while, as they have much more than sufficient for present needs.

The Slate Range and Panamint country is assuming large proportions, and a number of new mills are going up in that direction.

Charles Ducommun of Los Angeles and A. G. Bowman have just started to Little Butte Valley, or Anvil Springs, with two four-horse loads of supplies, sufficient for three months. They have some good mines there, on the east side of Panamint Mountain, about fifteen miles from Ballarat, and propose to prospect them thoroughly before putting up a mill. They are working four men besides themselves. Hammond & Petter of this place have some good mines near them.

The Gordon brothers are putting up a mill on their property in the Slate Range. It costs them about $30 per ton to ship their ore to San Francisco for treatment. Their mines are but a few miles distant from Dean & Jones, who are said to have the best property in the Slate Range. Ernst Davot, about four miles beyond them, milled five and a half tons at the Red Dog a few days ago, which went $175 per ton, and he has more of the same awaiting the building of a mill near him.

How Stotsenberg Died.

[Frederick Palmer in Collier's Weekly:] The Fourth was fairly in the mess when Col. Stotsenberg of the Nebraskans waved a good-by to his wife from the window of the morning train which left Manila at 8:30 o'clock for Malolos. He arrived at Malolos at 11 o'clock, jumped on a horse, and hurried out to the regiment, which he found lying out in the open under a heavy fire. The Filipinos were showing the pluck which characterizes them when their spirits are high. They took good aim at our men, despite the heavy answering fire. Either the Nebraskans must retreat or go forward. They could not lie still with every minute bringing the call for a doctor. Standing erect, Stotsenberg surveyed the field for a minute, and then gave the order to charge. Every man who had not fallen from a wound or from heat prostration, sprang forward, guiding on him.

The privates will tell you now that they saw him fall, or that they heard some one say that the colonel was hit, and then that they swore and gritted their teeth, and thought of nothing but the rebels in the trench. The bullet had been kind to Stotsenberg. It passed through his body near his heart, and he fell without a word. The afternoon train took his body back to his wife. He was a regular army officer with the regular's ideas of discipline; a superior regular army officer doing, without fuss, his duty as he understood it, whose death was the choicest that befalls the soldier. While doing barrack duty in Manila, at behest of the regiment the State Legislature had passed a resolution asking that this "heller of a colonel," as they call a martinet in the army, be superseded. He was the most unpopular commanding officer among the volunteers before he ever led his men in a charge. After that they swore by him. He led them against Quingua, and lost his life because he thought too much of them to see them punished while waiting for brigade orders. The orderly who came from Gen. Hale to tell him to fall back was too late. He stopped by the colonel's body and looked at the colonel's soldiers as they climbed over the earthworks, while the general adapted himself to the circumstances and ordered the Iowas to charge as well. It had been his intention to bring the Nebraskans back under cover while the guns shelled the enemy out of his trenches. This would probably have caused quite as great a loss—a loss of fifty men in retaking a town which we had evacuated.

Although they had won a great victory, there was a lump in every Nebraska man's throat. They said: "Nebraska's done for," and the next day, for the colonel's sake, they fought harder than ever. As long as the war continues the spirit of Stotsenberg will lead them. They have forgiven him for being a "heller."

Kansas "Jays."

[Collier's Weekly:] It is our manner of taking intrenchments across streams which has put the finishing touch on the reputation of Col. Frederick Funston of the Twentieth Kansas, and so thoroughly demoralized the rebels that they sent over Col. Arguelles, Luna's chief of staff, and Lieut. Bernal, an aide, to sue for peace.

There are reasons why a Kansas man should not be blamed for trying to rub his success into the members of certain volunteer regiments which called the Kansans "jays" at Camp Merritt. The Kansans now regard their appearance upon their arrival in 'Frisco as an important and glorious feature in the history of their regiment. These victims of local politics were without discipline, and wore their cast-off civilian clothes. The 'Frisco papers called them "Coxey's army," and made them the laughing-stock of town and camp. It goes without saying that they kept a stiff upper lip in this hour of deep inner humiliation.

"We ain't no dudes," they said; "but you needn't think that we're no good just because we've got a 'Pop' Governor, who locked our uniforms up and wanted us to go to war naked. You wait till you see Bleeding Kan in a scrap and you'll say she's all right."

The doctors soon observed one striking peculiarity of the Kansans. They were healthy enough to afford the slur of being ragged. It takes a bullet to kill a Kansas man. While regiments from the cities grew faint and pale, Bleeding Kan became hearty and sunburned. Her sons thrived on the transport as if it were a first-class hotel. They slept in muddy trenches without getting the malaria. After they had taken Caloocan their effectives were nearly eleven hundred.

"Before we get sick," says Kansas, "we want to see something to get sick for. It ain't much hotter anywhere than 'tis in Kansas, and it ain't much colder anywhere than 'tis in Kansas. Taking the cyclones into account, it ain't to be expected that a Kansan will wilt like a hothouse flower."

Diplomatic Disagreement.

NEW YORK, June 26.—A dispatch to the Herald from Peking says that G. A. Flitche, interpreter of the French legation there, has been struck by a Chinese, and is suffering from bruises. The French ministers demand a public apology from the Touna Li-Yamean.

Can't Float the Paris.

LONDON, June 26.—The attempts made Saturday and Sunday to float the American Line steamer Paris were unsuccessful. The vessel is more buoyant, but is still fast. Five divers are now examining her more closely.

DRINKING HOT WATER

Furnishes Slight Nourishment.

I used to drink considerable coffee, and found it was injuring my health. It would make the blood rush to my head and cause dizziness. I read an article in the paper somewhere about the injurious effects of coffee, and decided to stop drinking it altogether, and drink hot water in its place.

In about two months the dizzy spells left, and I was satisfied it was coffee which had caused them before, but I found that there was not enough sustenance in the hot water, and a few hours after breakfast I would feel very weak, especially when I had some heavy lifting to do, which a grocery-man has more or less of.

I have now used Postum Food Coffee for over two months, and think it is just the article for me. I do not have the weak feelings any more, and of course, no dizziness. My wife and baby drink Postum with me, and they like it equally as well as I do. Wife disliked the taste of Postum at first, but after she found that it must be boiled fifteen or twenty minutes, she has grown to like it better than she ever liked coffee or tea. We of course recommend it to our customers, and many know of the good work Postum does. Frank Ott, 3 State St., Helena, Mont.

BIDS REJECTED.

OLD DRAWING AND MUSIC SYSTEMS FOR ANOTHER YEAR.

Board of Education Will Deliberate Again Tonight on the Adoption of a New Writing System—A Teacher Finds Out Why He Was Dropped.

The music and drawing systems now in use in the city schools will be employed for another year. Tonight the Board of Education will decide whether to continue the present writing system or adopt one of the new systems.

The board last night met to open bids for writing, drawing and music systems. As a matter of formality it was necessary to go to the old rooms in the Gardner & Zellner building to open the bids. Immediately afterward the board returned to the present quarters, and after transacting some routine business went into executive session to discuss the various systems proposed.

Representatives of a number of publishing firms were present to argue the claims of their respective systems. Each representative was allowed a limited time to plead his cause before the board. After a short deliberation the board returned to the light of day and formally resolved upon the rejection of the drawing and music-system bids, as had been decided in the star-chamber session.

The adoption of a system results in the signing of a four-year contract. Its rejection means simply the continuance of the use of the old system for another year. A year ago there was a long discussion as to the adoption of a new writing system. At that time all the bids were rejected. It is scarcely expected that this will occur a second time.

A painful incident of the meeting was the appearance of W. S. Hall, a teacher, to ask why the board had dropped him from its list of employés. He demanded that his ratings should be told him. The request was granted, and it transpired that, although Mr. Hall had been reported "excellent" in scholarship, and "good" in some other respects, yet in most of the points considered he had been marked as only "fair," which is below the average. It was explained to Mr. Hall that the superintendent, his assistant, the school principal and the superintendents of music, drawing, physical culture, etc., had all been required to report on the scholarship, personal appearance, discipline, tractability, personal influence, health, energy and other qualifications of each teacher. The four marks given were excellent, good, fair and poor. Although Mr. Hall was marked "poor" only in music, yet the preponderance of "fairs" condemned him. The board listened attentively to Mr. Hall's vague declarations that his ratings were "unjust," there was some desultory talk, then President Davis bowed to Mr. Hall and asked, "Is that all?" Thus ended the incident.

Superintendent of Manual Training J. C. A. Kunou's request that $20 be appropriated to cover the expenses of planing and varnishing the sloyd benches in the Spring-street school and putting the tools into good condition was granted. This roomful of sloyd equipment will be a part of the N.E.A. school exibit.

An invitation was presented from Principal W. H. Housh of the High School to the commencement week exercises. A play will be presented at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon in the High School auditorium by the Senior B class. It will be the annual meeting of the Star and Crescent Society. Gold star and crescent pins will be presented to all the members of the graduating class as badges of membership in the High School Alumni Association. Tomorrow afternoon the class day of the commercial department will take place in the High School auditorium. At 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon the Senior A class play will be presented at the Burbank Theater. At 8 o'clock that evening at Elks' Hall will occur the commencement of the commercial department. The annual High School commencement will be held Friday evening, June 30, at 8 o'clock in Hazard's Pavilion.

The Times-Mirror Printing and Binding House asked the board to insert a description of the city school department, say eight pages at $25 a page, in the official N.E.A. souvenir. The communication called attention to the fact that no profit results from the work.

Mrs. H. C. Wadleigh, the City Librarian, asked that the Board of Education should defray the expenses of printing lists of books and pictures which will form a part of the educational exhibit in the Spring-street school. It is proposed to display cases containing the books which have been found most useful for the school childrens' reading, and collections of mounted photographs and pictures, and to distribute printed matter explaining the system of coöperation between the schools and the public library.

Auditor Carson called the attention of the board to the fact that an estimate of expenses of the schools for the coming year must be filed before July 15.

The Building Committee was empowered to kalsomine the walls of the Spring-street school and to have picture moldings and shelves placed there for the N.E.A. exhibit. The use of all the teachers' desks in two school buildings was granted to the N.E.A. Superintendent Rhode of physical culture was granted permission to remove forty-eight pupils' desks from the Spring-street school to Turner Hall for an exhibit to be given there during the N.E.A. Convention of the calisthenics employed here. Superintendent Foshay reported that the exhibit work is progressing satisfactorily.

The report of the Finance Committee was approved and bills ordered paid to the amount of $739.81. Miss Mary L. Savage's proposal that stereopticon lectures be employed in the school work was referred to the Course of Study Committee. The High School boiler was ordered overhauled.

The board will meet again at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

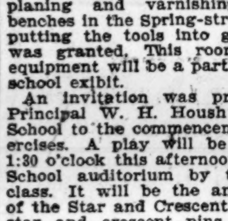

An Excellent Combination.

The pleasant method and beneficial effects of the well known remedy, SYRUP OF FIGS, manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP Co., illustrate the value of obtaining the liquid laxative principles of plants known to be medicinally laxative and presenting them in the form most refreshing to the taste and acceptable to the system. It is the one perfect strengthening laxative, cleansing the system effectually, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers gently yet promptly and enabling one to overcome habitual constipation permanently. Its perfect freedom from every objectionable quality and substance, and its acting on the kidneys, liver and bowels, without weakening or irritating them, make it the ideal laxative.

In the process of manufacturing figs are used, as they are pleasant to the taste, but the medicinal qualities of the remedy are obtained from senna and other aromatic plants, by a method known to the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP Co. only. In order to get its beneficial effects and to avoid imitations, please remember the full name of the Company printed on the front of every package.

AN OPEN HATCHWAY.

Blind Policeman Hurt by Falling Through the Sidewalk.

Arthur B. Bates, the policeman who has been retired on half pay, on account of his defective eyesight, narrowly escaped further disability yesterday, by falling through an open hatchway in the sidewalk on the First-street side of Mullen, Bluett & Co.'s store. Bates can see just well enough to travel safely back and forth between his home and the Police Station without a guide, provided no unusual obstacles or pitfalls are in the way, as was the case yesterday morning.

Bates alighted from an electric car at First and Spring streets about 11:30 o'clock, and started to walk up First street to the Police Station, where he reports every day, as he still considers himself a member of the department, although exempt from duty on account of his infirmity. He had not proceeded far on his way before he encountered an open hatch leading to the basement of Mullen, Bluett & Co.'s store, and tumbled into it, headforemost. Fortunately, a by-stander grabbed him by the heels as he was disappearing through the sidewalk, and by this means he was hauled back to the surface. He was badly bruised about the legs and arms, and one of his thumbs was almost disjointed, but, as good luck would have it, no bones were broken.

European Crop Prospects.

LONDON, June 26.—The Mark Lane Express today says the crop prospects in England and France have improved. In France a yield of 40,000,000 quarters is expected. Advices from Central Europe show that after allowing for local troubles, a full average wheat crop is promised from the Baltic to the Adriatic, and from the Rhine to the Vistula. An almost unbroken story of crop deterioration comes from Roumania, Russia, East Poland and the East Baltic provinces. The Express urges English wheat-holders to hold their grain, and "thus defeat an evident attempt of the Americans to bear the market."

Boy Drowned at Azusa.

Coroner Holland received a message from Dr. Ellis of Azusa last night, stating that a boy had been drowned yesterday afternoon while swimming in a reservoir near that place. The boy's name was not learned. The Coroner, accompanied by Deputy Strubel, will leave on the 10:20 o'clock train this morning to hold an inquest.
